HIGHWAY WORK STARTS AFTER YEARS OF DISPUTE

A felled tree lies atop Reservoir Hill in Novato (left) while a tall Eucalyptus awaits crews to haul it from the path of the Novato bypass of Highway 101. Freeman-Sondgrath Co. of Palo Alto has begaun clearing the route for the 5.2-mile, $14 million project which has been delayed for more than a decade by disputes over the route and last ditch efforts by conservationists to stop the highway pending an impact study. The highway will cut through the hill and cross Olive and Atherton avenues (left photo) to rejoin the existing highway in the distance. From the south (right) the highway bypass will cross the marsh in the distance and Railroad Avenue (behind the buildings at right) before running through the hill.

Dollar Devalued: Gold Is Worth $38 An Ounce

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon signed legislation Monday to provide the first formal devaluation of the dollar since 1934.

In signing a bill increasing the official price of gold from $35 to $38 an ounce, Nixon said the move was "a significant step forward in our overall effort for a stronger and more competitive U.S. economy."

The U.S. action was required under a currency realignment agreement reached by non-Communist nations last Dec. 18 in Washington. It is commonly known as the Smithsonian agreement, having been negotiated at a meeting at the Smithsonian Institution.

Paul A. Volcker, Treasury undersecretary for monetary affairs, told newsmen at the White House the formal gold price increase would produce few new results because international money markets have been operating on the devalued dollar since the Smithsonian accord.

Volcker said he did not anticipate any resumption in the near future of convertibility of the dollar into gold. Nixon suspended convertibility last Aug. 15 as part of his new economic policy.

Nixon's signature on the bill immediately added $828 million to the value of the gold held by the Treasury.

Volcker said the administration would ask Congress to appropriate $1.6 billion to pay for increases in U.S. obligations to the world bank, international monetary fund, and other international lending institutions. But he said the payments were largely bookkeeping transactions and would be spread out over 10 years.

Nixon said in a written statement that dollar devaluation would be coupled with intensified efforts to achieve trade concessions from other nations intended to make U.S. products more competitive in world markets.

"The eventual results of all these efforts will be to restore a healthy trade surplus and a strong financial position for the United States," Nixon said. "This will be not only in our own interest -but in the interest of a prosperous world economy, a stable monetary system and an equitable trading order."

Nixon said dollar devaluation was intended to solve pressing problems but that overall international currency reform was still needed to put the world's money system on a solid basis for the rest of this century.

March Is A Match By IRA

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI — Women supporters of the outlawed Irish Republican Army IRA today turned a propeace meeting in Belfast's Roman Catholic Andersonstown district into a free-for-all shoving match.

It was the first incident of trouble reported during a day of mass, simultaneous demonstrations by both Protestants and Catholics around the northern province, marking the end of the long Easter weekend. Earlier, however, 10 persons were injured when a bomb exploded in a truck outside a provincial postoffice Sunday night.

Waving placards, about 500 women marched from the funeral of Mrs. Martha Crawford, a 39-year-old mother of 10 who was slain in a crossfire Thursday, to a meeting in the volatile district.

Mrs. Brigid Miller, one of the organizations, told the crowd when they had assembled in a Catholic school hall, "We want peace," but the angry women retorted, "You won't get peace at any price. We support the Provos the militant Provisional Wing of the IRA."

When Mrs. Miller tried to protest, she was drowned out by boos and catcalls. Chairs were knocked over and the women jostled and pushed each other. No injuries were reported.

The Protestant apprentice boys organization gathered for a rally today at Carrickfergus, a seaside resort northeast of Belfast, to commemorate the landing in 1690 of King William of Orange.

The king crossed the Irish Sea, landing at Carrickfergus, to conquer Ireland and assert British Protestant domination that in the north still prevails.

In the main Catholic demonstration at Armagh, the spiritual capital of all Ireland, Republican leaders called for a mass march through the cathedral city's Catholic areas.

An army spokesman said 10 persons including six children suffered injuries in the bomb blast at Magherafelt, 30 miles northwest of the northern capital after a 15-minute warning to police by an anonymous caller.

All of the injured were in a building next door, the spgkesman said, and were cut by flying glass.

Kitty Hawk Off Vietnam's Coast

50 Carrier Planes Strike Red Armor

SAIGON (UPI)—The aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk, recalled from shore leave in the Philippines, arrived otf Vietnam today and its 50 planes were ordered into action immediately against North Vietnamese armored columns which have speared 15 miles into South Vietnam.

A second carrier, the Constellation, was ordered from leave in Japan with the guided missile cruiser Oklahoma City to join two other carriers on Yankee Station. It would be the greatest concentration of U.S. naval might since end of the bombing halt in 1968.

The Kitty Hawk sped to Yankee Station from Subic Bay after the U.S. command warned Hanoi it would take "precautionary actions" to protect American lives in South Vietnam. Such warnings in the past have preceded heavy bombing offensives against North Vietnam.

The four carriers plus air force fighter-bombers based elsewhere in Vietnam and Thailand would enable the United States to send as many as 500 planes against the Communist forces.

In Paris, the Viet Cong today denied any North Vietnamese troops were fighting in the current Communist offensive in the northern region of South Vietnam and demanded the United States return to the negotiating table to continue the Vietnam peace talks.

Ly Van Sau, spokesman of the Viet Cong delegation at the Paris talks, said instead of negotiating, the United States was threatening to step up the air war in both North and South Vietnam.

"This pretended presence of North Vietnamese troops is the well-known U.S. argument to explain the rout of the puppet South Vietnamese army and to justify their threats to restart the bombing against North Vietnam," Sau said.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu stripped Saigon, Hue and Da Nang of all but their garrison forces today and flew 10,000 government troops to Quang Tri to try to roll back the Communist invasion.

Hanoi Radio reported that North Vietnamese antiaircraft gunners had shot down a B52 bombing "populated areas" just north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). The U.S. command in Saigon denied the report.

The Communists now hold the northern half of Quang Tri province just below the DMZ and front dispatches said

State Atom-Plant Controls Haltered By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court barred states today from setting tougher radiation controls on nuclear power plants than regulations used by the federal government.

Without comment, the Court affirmed lower court rulings to that effect handed down in a Minnesota test case. Several other states had joined Minnesota's bid to establish the rights of states to supersede the federal government in the field.

The Court also:

—Struck down by a 5-2 vote an Illinois law which denied unwed fathers the same automatic custody rights to their children allowed mothers and married fathers. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blackmun strongly dissented.

—Let stand a decision in a Minnesota case that a state could deny employment to a homosexual who pursues "an activist role in implementing his unconventional ideas." The issue had been appealed by a Minneapolis man who had taken out a wedding license to marry another van.

—Ordered a three-judge special federal panel to conduct hearings on a challenge of an Indiana law which delays payments of assistance to dependent children until their parents have been separated six months.

—Agreed to review an Illinois Supreme Court decision which struck down a voter-approved constitutional amendment eliminating personal property taxes for individuals.

Agreed to decide whether payments into a retirement trust fund set up for a medical partnership are taxable at the time they are made or not until the doctor starts to collect his share.

The Justice Department appealed after two lower courts in California set the later time as the right one.

The Justice Department said 568 tax cases in California and Oregon were being held open pending final disposition of the test case. They involve about

Sausalito Council Vows Own Police 'Quota System' Probe

By PAT ANGLE

The Sausalito City Council will conduct its own investigation of the city's police department while the Marin County Grand Jury probes further into department operations and procedures.

The council, after meeting in closed session for approximately two hours Saturday, appointed Councilmen Earl F. Dunphy and Stephen A. Fraser as a committee to probe not only charges contained in the recent grand jury report on Sausalito police but others reported "in press publications."

Meanwhile the head of the grand jury subcommittee whose report the jury adopted announced that the subcommittee was broadening its investigation "because significant numbers of Sausalito citizens" had complained about failure of the city council and administration to act in connection with police problems.

Last Monday, the jury released a report accusing the department of having the equivalent of a quota system of arrests, criticizing lack of leadership in the department and recommending that Chief James D. Wright and his two top subordinates be fired.

The report — prepared by a jury subcommittee which investigated Sausalito police for eight months — did not comment on other allegations on which the jury foreman said no testimony was heard: allegations of brutality by some officers, illegal activities, dishonesty of operations and special favors to individuals.

City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr said the council asked the grand jury subcommittee which studied the police situation to give it transcripts of the oral testimony heard during the investigation, as well as "any other legal evidence" against the department.

The council also requested a meeting with the jury subcommittee to be held approximately two weeks after the transcripts and evidence have been received.

IRS Seeks More Tax Cheaters Now

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's top tax collector has revealed a crackdown on unscrupulous tax preparation services and predicted a record number of tax cheaters will be caught this year.

Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters said investigations had begun or would soon start of professional preparers of income tax returns who are cheating both their clients and the government.

Walters evaluated the job of the professional income tax preparer, a service now being used by millions of taxpayers:

"Some of them do a good job. Many of them do a lousy job. Some of them are unscrupulous and we presently are engaged in a nationwide effort to do something about this and we are presently prosecuting a good number of unscrupulous tax return preparers.

"No, we're not against all preparers. Those who do a good job serve well both the taxpayer and the service and we're for them. However, the unscrupulous ones who gouge taxpayers and falsely advertise and falsely prepare returns we are against."

Tax returns are prepared by organizations that train employes and advertise for clients and by certified public accountants, who are forbidden by professional codes to advertise.

Walters, in a UPI Washington Window interview Sunday, also predicted that IRS would catch more individual cheaters than any previous year.

Walters said computers were sifting out more returns for special scrutiny than ever before.

The increasing use of computers and "better management of our manpower" was cited by Walters as reasons for better auditing of returns despite added burdens on IRS personnel.

IRS agents are responsible for supervising the wage-price controls of the inflation-control program that began in November and for helping federal authorities catch drug pushers on income tax evasion charges.

Contracts Suspended By HUD

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Housing and Urban Development Department (HUD) has suspended contracts with Dun and Bradstreet Inc. for credit ratings on single family home mortgages.

Dunn and Bradstreet, the nation's largest credit rating organization was indicted last Wednesday in New York City in connection with an alleged credit scheme that would cost the federal treasury $23 million.

HUD said in a statement revealing the suspension Sunday that earlier reports of losses in the hundreds of millions were inaccurate. Notice of the suspension was made in telegrams last Thursday to Dun and Bradstreet and the Federal Housing Administration's (FHA) 87 regional offices.

FHA, the arm of HUD that underwrites home mortgages, had contracts with Dun and Bradstreet for reports on individual credit standings based on commercial and court records.

FHA Commissioner Eugene A. Gulledge notified FHA officials that "maximum reliance" would be placed on complete checks by FHA of bank references, retail credit and other credit references on applications for FHA home mortgage insurance.

"Effective immediately you are prohibited from relying upon individual credit reports (factual data reports on individuals) supplied by Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., for any single family mortgage insurance transaction," Gulledge said.

The suspension of Dun and Bradstreet reports means that real estate agents writing sales contracts and FHA local officials will have to do the credit checking. It could not be immediately determined whether the change would have the effect of lengthening the time needed to complete a real estate transaction.

Dun and Bradstreet was one of nine corporations, five FHA employes and 35 other individuals indicted on 500 counts of providing alleged false information on credit ratings and property values. The indictments by a New York grand jury followed an 11-month investigation.

The investigation involved the FHA office in Hempstead, Long Island, N.Y. The Hempstead office was responsible for insuring 1,800 properties in 1968 and 1969 that went into default in 11 counties of metropolitan New York City including 1,100 in a Brooklyn slum described by HUD as in "advanced neighborhood deterioration."

The amount of the average per property loss in the two-year span from the Hempstead office was nearly twice the national average of $3,681.41, according to HUD.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Freezing Skin

BOSTON (UPI) — The Shriners Burns Institute announced Sunday development of a process to freeze and preserve human skin for six months, then use it to aid burn victims.

Dr. John F. Burke, chief of staff at the institute located at Massachusetts General Hospital, said the process will replace a method that was capable of keeping skin refrigerated for only two weeks.

In an article in the April issue of MGH News, the hospital's monthly publication, the doctors explained the blood-freezing techniques were applied to the freezing of skin and proved successful.

The skin is frozen in plastic envelopes until it reaches 256 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. More critical than the rate of freezing, however, is the rate of thawing.

Smoking Increases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a reversal of earlier forecasts, government economists now see a chance that the average American smoker will be lighting up more cigarettes per day by 1980 than he is now.

One year ago, following three straight years of declining per capita cigarette use, experts predicted consumption would drop from the current rate of near 200 packs a year to about 150 packs by 1980 — a 25 per cent decline.

But in 1971, use recovered to 203 packs per capita and that figure now is expected to hold steady in 1972. As a result, an Agriculture Department report said today, new projections hold out the possibility that 1980 per capita consumption "may fall only slightly from the current level, or even increase slightly, depending on the health issue, prices and the makeup of the population."

Appeal Rejection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential population commission which recently recommended legalized abortions and eventual zero population growth for the United States has been turned down by the three major television networks in its attempts to buy an hour of prime time to present findings and recommendations.

The Commission on Population Growth and the American Future has appealed the rejection to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) under the fairness doctrine that requires broadcasters to treat public issues fairly by allowing reasonable opportunity for the presentation of conflicting views.

Ben C. Fisher, attorney for the population panel, argued before the FCC Friday: "It is the position of our commission that publicly responsible groups, such as our commission, should have a limited right, on a paid basis, to access to the national networks for the carriage of programs dealing with major public issues."

Makarios Quitting

NICOSIA (UPI) — Archbishop Makarios will resign from the presidency of Cyprus and he and his archenemy, former guerrilla leader Gen. George Grivas, wll support a common candidate during elections to be held immediately after his resignation, a diplomatic source said today.

The source said Makarios and Grivas will meet in Nicosia Tuesday. The source said that the two men have agreed, through a third party, on a common policy for Cyprus to settle the dispute there.

Their meeting will finalize and confirm the policy, the source said.

Dealer Discounts Up

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. has allowed dealers to change the dealer discount structure from 21 per cent to 25 per cent to give them more dollars to play with in haggling with customers over the allowance for trade-ins.

The increase in the dealer discount structure applied to the sticker price on Plymouth Furies and Dodge Polaras, raising it by an average of $185 per car.

A Chrysler spokesman said the net result would permit dealers to raise the sticker prices on Furies and Polaras by 4 per cent but said "it doesn't mean the customer will pay more."

The spokesman said Chrysler advised the federal Price Commission of the proposed change in allowable profit margin.

Recognize Country

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has decided to extend diplomatic recognition to Bangladesh and will do so in the next few days, administration officials said today.

Nixon reached the decision after reviewing the entire South Asian scene, the officials added, and already has put in motion the diplomatic steps that will lead to formal recognition.

More than 50 nations have recognized Bangladesh, a newly independent country formed from East Pakistan after December's Indo-Pakistan war. During the conflict, the administration said it was remaining neutral although there were claims Nixon tilted policy in favor of Pakistan.

New Constitution

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian President Lon Nol has "provisionally" approved a new constitution and the document has been circulated among his cabinet ministers for final discussion, government sources said today.

They said Lon Nol hoped to submit the constitution to a referendum before the end of the month.

End Albany Strike

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — State workers ended their Easter weekend strike yesterday, when union bargainers accepted a settlement that included a $60 million pay increase.

The 40-hour strike disrupted work at mental hospitals, state schools and prisons. It ended when representatives of the Civil Service Employes Association accepted the contract offer after a 25-hour bargaining session.

The 140,000 members will vote on the one-year contract by mail.

Climber Dies In Yosemite Plunge

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (UPI)—A young mountain climber died of head injuries suffered when he fell 200 feet from the east side of Yosemite Falls and landed in a tree.

Clifford Thompson, 19, of Fresno, was climbing with his brother, Howard, and an unidentified person on the difficult east side of the falls when he fell late Friday afternoon, park officials said Sunday.

Chief Ranger Jack Morehead said the youths had climbed about 300 feet without ropes when the accident occurred. A park rescue team scaled a near-vertical wall to rescue the other climbers after Thompson fell to his death.

The Reagans Are In Agreement

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The wife of Gov. Ronald Reagan says she and her husband have only "minor differences" politically but are in "complete agreement as to the goals we'd like to reach."

"Even those minor differences are so few that they certainly wouldn't come under the category of 'violent'," Nancy Reagan said Sunday.

Writing in her latest question-and-answer column in the Sacramento Union, the state's first lady said, "We may have minor differences on an approach to a problem, but we're in complete agreement as to the goals we'd like to reach."

Pot Grower Freed; Used As Bird Seed

ROSARIO, Argentina (UPI)—Police released Ernesto Nardoni, 55, without charges Friday although he admitted to cultivating nearly 100 acres of marijuana on his farm.

Nardoni produced documents showing that for 25 years he has sold the weed to the Neal Seed and Cereal Co. of Buenos Aires. A Neal company spokesman said they use it in bird seed.

SDS Staging Comeback Try

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), the radical organization which has lost much of its appeal on college campuses in the past two years, will attempt to rejuvenate itself this spring with a campaign against "racist teaching and racist textbooks."

The planning and strategy of this campaign was the focal point of the SDS national convention which attracted some 1,000 young persons to the Harvard University campus from Thursday through Sunday.

At two lengthy meetings Saturday and Sunday, SDS passed dozens of resolutions to "fight racism" in all spheres of American society, but most of the attention and controversy at the convention surrounded SDS's plans to halt the teaching of so-called "racist theories" on college campuses across the country.

Primary SDS targets are the works of Profs. William Shockley of Stanford, Richard Herrnstein of Harvard and Arthur Jensen of the University of California at Berkeley—all of whom have argued that blacks are genetically inferior to whites.

One of the resolutions approved by the convention calls for organized demonstrations to prevent these and several other professors from speaking on college campuses.

This SDS strategy was attacked by a minority faction, the Revolutionary Communist Youth (RCY), about 100 of whose supporters walked out of the convention in protest Saturday night.

"The SDS leadership is not interested in genuinely combatting racial oppression or reaching the black masses," the RCY said. "The leadership has sold out SDS and a genuine fight against racial oppression to further the careers of liberal professors."

The walkout was the latest of many recent splits in SDS, which broke into several factions at the June 1969 convention. The Progressive Labor (PL) party has controlled the 10-year-old organization since then.

Mayersohn minimized the importance of the walkout, saying the RCY faction was "not interested in building a mass movement of students."

But the split left SDS with fewer than 1,500 members, several times less than its strength in the late 1960s.

150 Persons Dead In Dacca Tornado

DACCA (UPI)—At least 150 people were killed and 360 injured when a 150-mile per hour tornado lashed the Phulbaria area in Mymensingh district about 60 miles north of here Saturday, according to reports reaching Dacca today.

The newspaper Bangladesh Observer said the tornado whipped the area for less than 20 minutes and left behind a trail of destruction.

Tokyo Wary On Kissinger Visit

By ELIZABETH POND
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

TOKYO — Just how bad are the American-Japanese relations which U.S. Presidential Adviser Henry Kissinger is coming to Tokyo to mend?

"Very bad," say some.

"Normal adjustment in transition to a new stage," say others.

And will Kissinger succeed in his mending?

On this point, Tokyo is highly skeptical. Among cognoscenti, Kissinger is viewed as being deaf to Japanese sympathizers in the U.S. (such as former Ambassador Edwin Reischauer) and even less inclined to listen to Japanese, whom he is believed to have little respect for.

Furthermore, he is widely regarded as taking Japan for granted and as being little interested in Japan in his global scheme of things. Japanese are just not sure how receptive Kissinger will be to their ideas.

The view of Japanese-American relations varies of course, with the kind of Japanese one talks to.

The strongly American-oriented mainstream of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party (LDP) and the Foreign Ministry tend to be the most sharply hurt by harsh American treatment. On the other hand, these people also tend to "understand" American actions and see extenuating circumstances more than some of their compatriots.

By contrast, suspicion of American actions seems to be quieter but to run deeper among the less-Americanized leaders.

Thus, in casual conversation one junior diplomat talked about the U.S. with considerable bitterness, and even with tears in his eyes. The gist of his insistent question was, "Why has the U.S. betrayed its most loyal friends?

He was especially aggrieved that America had forced Japan to follow Washington's anti-Peking line for so many years and than had switched suddenly with no prior warning, leaving Tokyo holding the bag.

LDP politicians who are not in Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's camp tend to be less vocal about the U.S., but to harbor a stronger mistrust of the U.S. than the mainstream politicians and diplomats. Not uncommonly, remarks by these men assume that the U.S. rebuff of Japan is deliberate and that from now on Tokyo must increasingly defend its own interests against Washington.

Opinions about Japanese-American relations are also mixed among foreign diplomats and governments.

The White House view, as nearly as one can judge in Tokyo, seems to be that the Japanese always react emotionally anyway and therefore should not be taken too seriously in their protestations about "Nixon shocks." These will be forgotten with time and rational analysis.

Jppan has gotten a free ride for many years, this view continues, and now needs to be pushed into assuming responsibility in Asia commensurate with its economic prominence. There will be some jostling and some bruised feelings, but these will be temporary.

Further, Japan, which sends 30 per cent of its exports to the U.S., has no real choice other than alliance with the U.S., this view assumes.

Some diplomats in Tokyo strongly challenge this view. One western diplomat found the term "communications gap" much too mild to describe current American-Japanese differences.

It's really a "confidence gap," he asserted. "It doesn't matter who you talk to today, whether people in government, business, or old friends; they all say the same things 'what's wrong?' You get negative soundings no matter where you look."

The diplomat faulted the U.S. not so much for the substance of its policies as for gross lack of sensitivity in dealing with Japan.

Asked if he thought Washington was intentionally pushing Japan away, the diplomat answered in the negative. His view was more of that of a "continuing accident."

He did feel the situation held dangers, however, in what might be the eventual reaction of an increasingly self-confident Japan which was being "hammered over the head" by the U.S. "There is a difference," the diplomat suggested dryly, "between hammering and nudging."

He and other sources pointed out a deterioration in the working relationship between Japanese and American diplomats over the past eight months. (But they attributed some of this to the weaknesses of Sato's lame duck administration.)

U.N. — In The Waldheim Fashion

By DAVID WINDER
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Behind the Austrian charm and tailored good looks of Kurt Wald-heim is a determination to be innovative and to be his own boss.

This is the kind of profile emerging of the tall new secretary-general of the U.N., initially taken to be a rather colorless diplomatic figure.

The profile comes into sharper focus following the secretary-general's announcement of upper echelon positions in the international service.

The most interesting appointment is that of a mainland Chinese — yet to be named — to the post of undersecretary-general for political affairs and decolonization. This is in keeping with an unstated policy that the Chinese now should occupy a prestigious post.

The top American position in the U.N. hierarchy goes to Mass-achusetts Republican Congressman F. Bradford Morse, who becomes undersecretary-general for political and General Assembly affairs, in essence replacing the late Ralph J. Bunche.

Early impressions of the appointments indicate a combination of continuity and new blood. But as one has worked closely with the secretary-general, and whose initial negative feelings toward his appointment have undergone a positive change, asked pointedly:

"The appointments are not important. It is what he is going to do to them. Is he going to dominate them? U Thant didn't."

Already, however thare are indications that Waldheim is keeping a tighter rein on his subordinates than U Thant did. And he is reportedly using his own personal style of diplomacy and management to get results.

While U Thant worked quietly and assidously in the administrative channels, Waldheim is much more visible, initiating discussions with ambassadors and diplomats.

Waldheim already knows a lot of people in the secretariat and is personally getting to know the second level. The impression is that he himself will select the right man for a particular job rather than let senior administrators delegate duties.

The big question, however, is how he can remain activist, opinionated (as many see him) and still maintain a balance of goodwill among the big powers.

Because big power consensus or approval is essential to his success, a good deal of attention is being centered on the new political appointments as distinct from economic and social appointments.

Previously, for instance, U Thant learned a great deal on U.S. peace-keeping expert Ralph Bunche, or Guatemalan Jose Rolz-Bennett, to implement sensitive political duties.

The feeling now is that Waldheim may spread this job more. This may explain, said a U.N. official, why so many jobs are now being given a political title.

Indeed, there is a confusing forest of political titles.

Under Waldheim's new arrangements, the most significant political posts will be: undersecretary general for Security Council affairs, held by Leonid Kutakov of the Soviet Union; undersecretary general for political affairs and decolonization, to be assumed by a Chinese; undersecretary-general for political and General Assembly affairs, filled by Morse; undersecretary-general for special political affairs, to be held by Roberto E. Guyer of Argentina.

Bunche's old job is in fact being divided between Morse and Guyer. But there is speculation that neither of them will inherit Bunche's peace-keeping role which is thought likely to go to longtime secretariat hand Brian Urquhart of Britain, who is tipped for early appointment to an assistant secretaryship-general with special responsibility in the peace-keeping area.

The spread of political appointments may be not only politically expedient — a fair share for the major powers — but also reflection perhaps of the secretary-general's concern that no single political department become too powerful and threaten his leadership.

The most important political readjustment is the elevation of the Chinese to a post that now embraces all aspects of decolonization, thus absorbing the previous department of trusteeship and non-self-governing territories.

The American and Soviet posts are somewhat diluted in the reshuffle.

The African department, which up to now has come under Kutakov, now seems likely to be delegated to the Chinese. This shift, when finalized, is expected to clinch Chinese acceptance of the assistant secretary-general post.

The top American post will not have the clout that it did under Bunche. It may explain why such candidates as U.S. Ambassador William Buffum, considered by many the best qualified, turned it down.

Morse will, however, give the Americans a presence on the 38th floor, and his position deprives the Greek legal counsel, Constantin A. Stavropoulos, of General Assembly affairs. The American representation remains strong, moreover, with the retention of the traditional post of undersecretary-general for conference services (Robert Ryan) and their holding down the two top posts in the United Nations Development Program. The administrator is Rudolph Peterson.

Other appointments attracting attention are Helvi Sipila of Finland, the first woman assistant secretary-general, who will direct a new social affairs and humanitarian department; and Genichi Akatani who reflects Japan's more powerful global position by taking the important post of head of the department of information.

Harrisburg 7 Jury Still Undecided

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)— The Harrisburg Seven jury, deadlocked in their fifth day of deliberation on the key issue of conspiracy against the government, asked the judge today for a rereading of his entire charge to them on the law.

Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman called in the nine women and three men and told them he was not inclined to read the entire charge but if they would pick out portions that bothered them he would read those sections and then try to clarify them with oral explanation.

Harold C. Sheets, the jury foreman, agreed that this was feasible and also agreed to the judge's section that the jury might pick out parts of the 14-day testimony of Boyd F. Douglas Jr., the star government witness, to be reread.

One of the obstacles the jury has encountered from the start of deliberations is the murky language of the conspiracy law. Judge Herman instructed the jury it must find one overall conspiracy against the government by two or more conspirators, but also said only one of six crimes charged need be involved in finding a conspiracy existed.

The conspiracy against the government were charges that the seven plotted to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger and bomb Washington heating tunnels.

The jury was called into open court at 10:42 a.m. after having deliberated since 9 a.m. It took the judge only five minutes to agree with them about their request and they retired to deliberations again.

After the jury had left, defense attorneys objected "strenuously" to a marshal being an emissary of the judge to the jury with any kind of notificatiion.

"I want every instruction to the jury to be given by your honor personally," said Defense Attorney Leonard Boudin.

Judge Herman overruled the objection.

Logging Legislation Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Finance Committee today approved industry-backed legislation to clamp short-term restrictions on logging companies operating on private Northern California forest lands.

The measure by Sen. Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, which would take effect immediately upon signature of Gov. Ronald Reagan, cleared the committee on a voice vote and went to the full Senate.

The Sierra Club, which previously had opposed the interim measure on grounds it would perpetuate "industry self-regulation," did not testify before the Finance Committee.

The bill was spawned by a court decision which last year held unconstitutional industry-dominated state forest practices committees in Northern California. The court ruled the committees, which regulated logging, constituted an illegal extension of legislative power.

As a result, Marler said, there currently is no regulation of logging by the state on private lands. This measure would have the effect of transfering the powers of the committees to the state Board of Forestry.

The board, in turn, would reenact logging regulations previously adopted by the now defunct committees for the current logging season and next year's.

Marler, whose legislation was supported by the logging industry, stressed that his proposal would provide only temporary relief and that a permanent solution must be found later.

"I'd hate to go through a year or two without any legislation at all waiting for horror stories to build up," he told the committee.

The only audible opposition vote was cast by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, who said he has legislation pending aimed at imposing stricter permanent controls.

The committee approved on a unanimous voice vote a companion bill increasing the size of the state Board of Forestry by adding two new public members.

VIETNAM

Quang Tri city, the nearby Quang Tri base and Dong Ha were under heavy attack tonight. Quang Tri is 15 miles south of the DMZ, Dong Ha about 10 miles.

A new threat appeared to be developing to Hue, the ancient, imperial capital of Vietnam, but officials said the situation was under control. Communist attacks were reported at Fire Base Anne, 18 miles west of Hue, and Bastogne, 15 miles to the southwest. Both bases protect against Communist infiltration rotes through the A Shau Valley to Hue, devastated in the 1968 Tet Offensive.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the reinforcements flown in today would mount a counter-offensive "in a few days." They included Marines and Rangers from Saigon, infantry from Hue and two tank brigades from Da Nang.

They were flown north in a collection of U.S. cargo C130s, Vietnamese air force transports and airliners commandeered from the government airline. The action followed President Thieu's flight to Hue and Da Nang in a commandeered Air Vietnam jet to look over the situation.

Rain clouds have masked the invading North Vietnamese tank columns driving across the DMZ but the weather improved today and U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers struck back at the Red offensive. B52s dropped bombs through the clouds earlier and three U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers off the coast pounded the enemy troops and tanks.

The Communists threw up intense anti-aircraft fire, and seven American planes and helicopters were reported shot down Sunday and today but American planes flew 128 strikes Sunday and more today. U.S. 7th Fleet warships offshore poured naval gunfire into the North Vietnamese armor.

The Communist offensive overran a 10-mile stretch of South Vietnam's northernmost province of Quang Tri in five days of intensive warfare and military sources said a threat was developing to Thua Thien Province just to the south and its capital of Hue.

There was heavy fighting in the Central Highlands and in Tay Ninh Province 80 miles northwest of Saigon. Allied intelligence sources said the Communists may be staging a dress rehearsal for a fullscale general offensive throughout South Vietnam.

A spokesman for the U.S. High Command in Saigon read a sternly worded message to newsmen in Saigon warning Hanoi that the United States was taking "precautionary actions" to protect American lives, including the 200 military men in Quang Tri Province.

He did not spell out what this action would be but in the past they have been followed by air strikes into North Vietnam. It was considered certain all available American planes from Thailand would be used in battle along the DMZ.

PROBE

R. Imlay was unavailable to comment on the council's actions, but Fraser said the council decided to conduct its own probe "because we felt there was a good deal of public interest and concern on the charges which have been lodged against the police department. We thought it was our responsibility to examine these charges and city policies in general regarding the department."

Fraser said he expects the committee's investigative hearings will be conducted in closed session "because we don't want anyone to be scared to testify. We want to assure all witnesses that what they have to tell will be kept in absolute confidence."

Fraser promised the two-man committee would "make a full, fair and objective investigation. If our findings indicate that action needs to be taken, we will take the appropriate action."

Fraser also said the committee was issuing a public call for witnesses. "We want to hear from anyone and everyone who feels they have evidence," he said.

The grand jury subcommittee which investigated the police announced it will immediately begin investigation of charges against the department not dealt with in its original report, according to chairman Joan G. Boessenecker, who declined to state what allegations would be studied.

Mrs. Boessenecker said the group felt additional investigation was necessary because of the council's refusal to accept the jury's recommendations for dismissal of chief Wright, Capt. R. David Malkin and Lt. William Fraass. Last Tuesday, Mayor Imlay called the suggestions unwarranted by the evidence and accused the jury of interfering in city affairs.

"We believe the council has not reacted to the concerns of the citizens of Sausalito," Mrs. Boessenecker said. "We have excellent additional supporting evidence, above and beyond that contained in our report, showing a lack of proper leadership in the Sausalito department and believe our recommendations were justified.

"We are convinced that any police department that does not have topflight leadership and a chief who can command and inspire his men's respect cannot function," she added.

Mrs. Boessenecker went on to say that "significant numbers of Sausalito citizens have told us they have been unable to receive adequate responses to their complaints against the police department from either the department or the city council."

She suggested that anyone with complaints about their treatment by the department or with department policies write a brief summary of their grievances to the grand jury's Administration of Justice Committee at the Marin County Civic Center so they can be available as witnesses if the subcommittee wants to call them.

Today, over the objections of two city councilmen, the council released a brief rebuttal of the allegations contained in the original jury report. Councilmen Fraser and Wyman Hicks disagreed with the release, saying it should not precede the city's own investigation.

Noting the jury report expresses concern about minimum production standards in the police department, the statement said the jury did not make any findings that a system of "arrest quotas" exists.

The council said the department's use of "statistical activity records" used by the department "generally conforms to practices of other police departments."

The council pointed to a letter from Walnut Creek Police Chief Raymond C. Davis, president of the California Police Chiefs Association in which Davis stated that "if a police department did not have performance standards then the police chief would be derelict in his duty."

OUT FOR AN EASTER VISIT

McGovern Error Increases Wisconsin Primary Confusion

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)— A perhaps costly mistake by Sen. George S. McGovern added to the confusion and uncertainty today about the outcome of Wisconsin's presidential primary in which McGovern, Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie battled for first place.

In a nationwide telecast Sunday, with the primary two days away, McGovern charged that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) records showed that International Telephone and Telegraph, Inc. (ITT) deducted a $400,000 contribution to the Republican national convention from its taxable income.

As soon as the program (Face the Nation-CBS) ended, a distraught aide rushed to McGovern to tell him he was wrong and that the 1971 report with the SEC —the year in which the contribution was made —had not been filed.

McGovern then said that his accusation was made on the basis of statements by ITT officials that they considered it a proper business expense. He told reporters that he had made "an honest error."

McGovern, Humphrey and Muskie are considered the three leading candidates in the Wisconsin primary with its rich harvest of 67 delegates to the Democratic National Convention. About 1.5 million voters are expected to turn out Tuesday for the fourth primary of the 1972 election year.

The three major contenders are believed to be bunched so closely that McGovern's invalid accusations could become a factor, even though none of the other candidates jumped in to exploit them.

Campaign strategists for the candidates have shied away from tabbing the finish, citing the uncertainty of the vote for Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace and the possibility of a mass crossover by Republicans. GOP voters have President Nixon on the ballot along with only Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California, who has pulled out for lack of funds, and Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, who has not campaigned in Wisconsin.

Also on the Democrat ballot and campaigning hard are New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington. On the ballot but not campaigning are Reps. Shirley Chisholm of New York, Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Patsy Mink of Hawaii; Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles and Sen. Vance Hartke.

On the campaign trail Sunday:

—His voice cracking from long days on the stump, Humphrey told Milwaukee's Jewish community that President Nixon will be "in excellent position to intercede on behalf of the Soviet Jewry" when he visits Russia next month and charged that a new meat slaughter bill in Congress could skyrocket the price of kosher food. He charged the legislation was "religious discrimination through the back door."

—After taking his wife and three of his children to Easter Sunday mass, Muskie issued a statement calling the North Vietnamese invasion of South Vietnam "alarming but not unexpected," and warned there was a risk of "greater —not lesser —American military involvement." Muskie said it was a "tragedy" that the Nixon Administration has refused to set a date for withdrawal of American forces and has broken off the Paris negotiations.

KING HUSSEIN

Border Dispute May End

WASHINGTON (UPI)—King Hussein of Jordan has indicated that to end the Middle East dispute he may be willing to agree to a realignment of the Israeli-Jordan border provided Jerusalem becomes an open city.

"We are talking of total peace, of a solution that will be accepted not only by us but, more important, by the generations that are to come," Hussein said Sunday.

Hussein discussed his plan for reuniting the Israeli-occupied west bank with Jordan in a television interview on NBC's Meet the Press.

"I do not believe that Arab strength is a match to the Israelis at this time, and beyond that I do not believe that war is a solution to the problem," Hussein said.

One of the keys to the king's plan was to remove Jerusalem from Israeli control to make it serve both Israel and the Arabs under joint control.

Jerusalem is religiously significant to the Jewish and Moslem faiths.

Hussein's remarks on peace followed Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's call for a war to regain territory lost to Israel in the 1967 conflict. "War is inevitable," Sadat said Friday in Cairo.

Diplomatic sources in Washington revealed Saturday that Hussein had won agreement from the United States to purchase as many as two dozen supersonic F5 jet fighters in the next two years.

The exact schedule of delivery, the number of planes, spare parts and ground equipment were subject to further negotiation.

Sailor Dies From 'Seizures'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A crewman suffering "some kind of seizures" died aboard a cargo vessel at sea Sunday while Air Force pararescue men were on the way to give him medical aid.

The victim was identified as Lee Silver, 51.

A Coast Guard spokesman said medical advice was radioed to the SS Hawaiian, a Matson Lines container ship, from the Public Health Hospital in San Francisco.

An Air Force AC130 with two paramedics aboard flew to the ship, which was 550 miles southwest of San Francisco in the Pacific. The men were about to jump into the water with equipment for the stricken crewman when they received word that he had died.

She Won A Car, Then A Ticket

CLINTON, Iowa (UPI)—Mrs. John Ringsdahl claimed a brand new car and a speeding ticket from Clinton police this weekend.

She flipped on her car radio Saturday just in time to hear the Clinton police chief draw the winner of a brand new automobile—herself.

Mrs. Ringsdahl stepped on the gas in her excitement and was arrested by a policeman traveling right behind her. She posted a $15 bond on the speeding charge and then drove to the station, slowly, to collect the grand prize.

3 Dead, 11 Wounded In Nightclub Shooting

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Two women and a man were shot to death and 11 other persons were wounded early today in a crowded nightclub in what authorities said was a drug war between rival Philadelphia gangs.

Mario F. Floriani, public safety director, said the shooting began about 2 a.m. in the Club Harlem where he estimated 600 persons were watching the floor show.

"These shootings were the result of a drug war that has been taking place in Philadelphia," Floriani said. "It started in the latter part of February where one gang member was shot and there was a $240,000 drug robbery.

"Thus the contract was put out by this group to more or less eradicate the ones responsible. They just used Atlantic City to settle their grievances."

He said the shooting began when an unidentified man tapped Tyrone Palmer, 22, of Philadelphia, on the shoulder and told him he wanted to discuss something with him. The unidentified man then shot Palmer two or three times, Floriani said.

"When the first shot rang out all bedlam broke loose," Floriani said. "Tables were flying, chairs were flying, bottles were flying. It was a shambles."

Witnesses told police that four or five men had done the shooting and that between 15 and 20 shots were fired, Floriani said. He said two of the weapons were recovered inside the club.

In addition to Palmer, also killed were Renee Cuff, 24, and Pamela Pollard, 23, both of Philadelphia.

Listed in critical condition with bullet wounds were Ruth Jenkins, 20, of Willingboro, N.J., and Gilbert Satterwhite, 25, of Philadelphia.

Beer-Drinkers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Californians downed three million barrels of beer during the first three months of the year, an increase of 8 per cent over the same period in 1971.

Boston Doctor Says Beer Brings Cheer

BOSTON (UPI)—A sip of beer may just be what the doctor ordered when it comes to treating elderly patients, according to a state health official.

Dr. Milton Greenblatt, Massachusetts commissioner of mental health, said Sunday that beer in moderate quantities, has a "remarkable effect on many elderly men and women in our hospitals.

"It cheers them up, it's nourishing and it opens up their blood vessels so the blood travels through their systems a bit faster," Greenblatt said. "That's especially important for elderly people who often have circulation problems."

The commissioner commented in response to reports that patients at four state hospitals are drinking some 2,000 cans of beer every month on doctors' orders.

"It's a social lubricant," the commissioner said. "It helps shy or withdrawn people start a conversation more easily."

No one gets intoxicated, the commissioner said.

The use of beer therapy has prompted the establishment of "pubs" in several state facilities. Boston State Hospital has its Pink Elephant while the Westboro State Hospital runs the Lantern Room and some patients at Grafton State Hospital can sip a few suds at the Pub.

Egypt and the Nile Valley have gone through 5,000 years of wars, conquests, and migrations.

Demonstration Of Acupuncture

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—The president of the American Medical Association suggests Chinese physicians be brought to the AMA's June conference in San Francisco to demonstrate acupuncture.

Dr. Wesley Hall of Reno says he plans to visit Washington this week to discuss his idea with government officials.

Hall said he doesn't know how needles inserted into patients can cure disease and relieve pain, but "If it works, I want to know about it."

2-Car Crash Kills Ten In Texas

DIMMITT, Tex. (UPI)—Highway Patrolman Bill Scott and his partner were in the process of setting up a roadblock near this Texas Panhandle town on a lonely two-lane stretch of highway when they heard sirens in the distance.

Suddenly a car packed with youngsters whizzed past them so fast it could not stay on its side of the road on a slight curve.

Another car, also filled with young persons, came around the curve going the opposite direction at the exact same moment Saturday night. They collided.

"Things went everywhere," Scott said. "My partner and I witnessed it. They came by us before we could get the roadblock set up."

Each car carried five persons. All 10 were killed. One was 1 year old, but most of them were teen-agers. The wreck was as bad as any in Texas history. Only three times in the past two-car accidents have killed 10 persons.

"All of them were pinned in the cars, and we literally had to pry the cars apart to get them out," Scott said. "The impact pushed both motors back to the front seat."

He said the speeding car, headed eastward, was going faster, because "they traveled 86 feet east of the point of impact."

Two of the victims died en route to a hospital. The others were dead at the scene.

"It was the biggest accident I've ever seen," Scott said.

Castro County officers said the speeding vehicle was the object of a chase because deputies suspected the youngsters had been involved in a knife fight in a nearby community.

The youths in the car coming into town were mostly Dimmitt high school students. They were Johnny Raper, Jeffrey Glenn and Raymond McLain, all 17, Robert Cadell, 18, and Michael Geough 21, of Burnsville, N.C. Geough's body was flown to his hometown Sunday.

The persons in the speeding vehicle were Brigidio Sanchez, Nicholas Arrizola Jr., Tony Guia, Zola Luna Alvarez, 15, and Johnny Alvarez, 1, all of Castro County.

U.S. Food Prices May Be Frozen

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Administration officials say a freeze on food prices may be needed if they continue to increase, but that lower prices seem to be on the way.

Labor Secretary James Hodgson said the administration's pressure on food chains has begun to take effect with retailers "committed now to bringing prices down."

But Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said a freeze is "something we have to consider."

Hodgson appeared Sunday on ABC's Issues and Answers with Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz. Grayson was interviewed on a local television program.

Mrs. Chisholm Has California Aide

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An officer of a militant women's liberation group has been appointed California coordinator of the presidential campaign of Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Chisholm announced Sunday that Arlie Scott of the National Organization for Women will be in overall command of her California campaign for the Democratic nomination, and will be the liaison between the state and national campaign efforts.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Gift Tax Returns Are Now Required Quarterly, Not Yearly

Gift Tax Returns are now required quarterly instead of annually.

That's right. If you made gifts within any calendar quarter beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1971, to any one donee of more than $3,000 for the calendar year or a gift of a future interest in property regardless of the value then you must file a tax return on Form 709.

These are individual returns and joint returns are not permitted.

Only individuals are required to file as donors. However, if gifts are made by trusts, estates, partnerships or corporations, the individual beneficiaries, partners or stockholders become donors and may incur a liability under the federal gift tax law.

The return must be filed on or before the 15th day of the second month following the close of the calendar quarter in which the gifts were made. You cannot file a return before the end of the calendar quarter unless it is the return of a deceased donor.

Gifts of present interest of less than $3,000 paid in previous quarters must be disclosed in the first quarterly return filed.

The tax must be paid by the donor on or before the 15th day of the second month. There are penalties for delinquent returns and for delinquent payment of tax unless due to reasonable cause. There are penalties for willful failure to file a return on time and for willful attempt to evade or defeat payment of the tax.

There is a specific exemption of $30,000 for each individual during his lifetime as well as the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee during a calendar year.

However, if a gift is made in excess of the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee, but less than the $30,000 specific exemption, you must file a return anyway even though no tax may be due.

Gift taxes are complicated and you should see your tax advisor if you have made any gifts.

Gift taxes are filed on Form 709 and this form comes complete with the instructions.

If the gift is made anytime between Jan. 1 and March 31, the return is due May 15; between April 1 and June 30, the return is due Aug. 15; between July 1 and Sept. 30, the return is due Nov. 15; between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, the return is due Feb. 15.

If you made such a gift anytime and have not filed a gift tax return, you should do so immediately to avoid further interest and penalties.

Livingston's Thrives At Northgate

Unlike many family-owned stores that are gradually fading from the Bay Area scene, Livingston Bros. clothing store with a branch in Northgate is apparently thriving.

Livingston's, which first opened in San Francisco in 1876, moved into Marin one year ago.

Carl Livingston Jr., president, reported last week that first year sales at the Northgate branch were about 20 per cent over plan. "We should have been over (in Marin) sooner," said Livingston. "I don't know why we waited so long — it's our 96th year. I think the Northgate Shopping Center is one of the most beautiful around, and we are pleased to be in Marin County."

Livingston's has branches in Stonestown (San Francisco), Hillsdale, San Jose, Palo Alto and Marin. It is headquartered in San Francisco.

Recovery At Anaconda Seems Off In Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Now that Anaconda (NYSE) has written off the loss on its foreign holdings do you think it is a good buy? Do you believe it will resume the dividend in the near future? — M.P. & R.A.

A. If nationalization of Anaconda's Chilean properties was the company's sole problem, the stock might be an interesting turnaround candidate. Unfortunately this is not the case. The world copper glut, which built up in response to mounting copper prices in the late Sixties, is not expected to be absorbed before 1974. Until that time, copper prices will continue under pressure. Reduced copper prices and increased labor costs combined with soaring pollution control requirements may result in marginal operations at some mines.

Anaconda's other divisions are not all robust. The aluminum industry, which has been faced with problems of reduced demand and consequent weakened price structure, is currently operating well below capacity. A new mill scheduled to go on stream next year will up Anaconda's capacity by 65 per cent and lift the company from 6th to 4th largest domestic producer. Deficits in brass operations have dictated the closing of four plants; profits at the fabricating division tumbled in 1971.

Recently elected Chairman Place instituted a cost reduction program which initially reduced costs by $25 million annually, almost equal to the 1970 earnings from Chile. While new management should gradually bolster profits, dividend resumption and share recovery appear to be some distance in the future.

Q. Is there a time limit for a broker to sell a stock when it has climbed to a stated price? Or, does he automatically cancel the request if the stock has not climbed to the specified price within a few days? What is the procedure? — J.G.

A. You may place a sell order at a specified price either above or below the current trading level. The order may be a GTC order, good till canceled, a day order or at market order. You apparently are interested in the first, which remains on the book until executed.

PRISONER OF WAR ROLL CALL

Fifty men carrying placards near the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza represented more than 1,600 prisoners of the Vietnam War at a commemorative service Saturday. Each sign indicates the number of prisoners or men missing in action from each state. The sparsely attended ceremony ended a week, declared by President Nixon, as National Week of Concern for prisoners of war and men missing in action.

USIA Movie Director Quits After Film Flap

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The U. S. Information Agency announced today the resignation of Bruce Herschensohn, its motion picture director, who called Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., "very naive and stupid" for questioning USIA operations abroad.

Informed sources contended that the agency's director, Frank Shakespeare, and other high USIA officials attempted unsuccessfully to dissuade Herschensohn from quitting.

A flap that grew out of disclosure last week of Herschensohn's criticism of Fulbright, as part of a controversy over use of a USIA film on a domestic program, caused Herschensohn to conclude that his usefulness had been greatly diminished, the sources said.

He wrote Shakespeare that he felt he would be an embarrassment to the agency if he continued in his post. Shakespeare wrote him in reply that he valued his services and expressed regret over his decision to leave.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had sought to prevent the showing of a USIA film about Czechoslovakia on a television program of Sen. James L. Buckley, RC-N.Y.

Fulbright had said he did so on grounds that USIA material is intended for use only for foreign consumption.

July 4 Fireworks Issue Before Council

Fireworks and the Fourth of July celebration again will come before the Larkspur City Council at its meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Last month, the council voted to ban the traditional fireworks display from Piper Park because of traffic congestion and told the Larkspur and Corte Madera chambers of commerce to find a better site for the display.

Officers discovered the theft Tuesday at the Charles H. Turner home on Oakwood Avenue.

Meat Price Too High? Too Much Tax In It

The loudest current outcry is about the high price of meat. But the most constant, continuing complaints are about high taxes.

The two are not unrelated. There's quite a bit of tax in that roast you just bought — or even that pound of hamburger.

How much is indicated in some figures published last week by the Wall Street Journal, showing the percentage of the gross national product represented b government spending and how it has grown over the years.

GOVERNMENT SPENDING, of course, is spending of tax money — current and future. So every dollar spent by government is one less dollar that can be spent by individuals or companies for consumer goods, real property, industrial expansion or whatever.

In 1929, according to the Journal's tabulation, government spending represented 8.2 per cent of the gross national product. In 1950, it was up to 13.3 per cent; in 1960, to 19.7 per cent, and last year, to 22.2 per cent.

This means that nearly one-fourth of the nation's total production went last year to support governments — federal, state and local. Back in 1929, they required only about one-twelfth.

PARALLELING THIS increase in government's share of the wealth has been an increase in public employment far outstripping that in the private sector. In 1929, reported the Journal, there were 28,274,000 people privately employed in this country, and 3,065,000 employed by governments — a ratio of about seven to one. Last year, there were 57,836,000 in private employment, and 12,853,000 in government employment — a ratio of less than five to one. The increase in private employment since 1929 was 104 per cent; in public employment, 319 per cent.

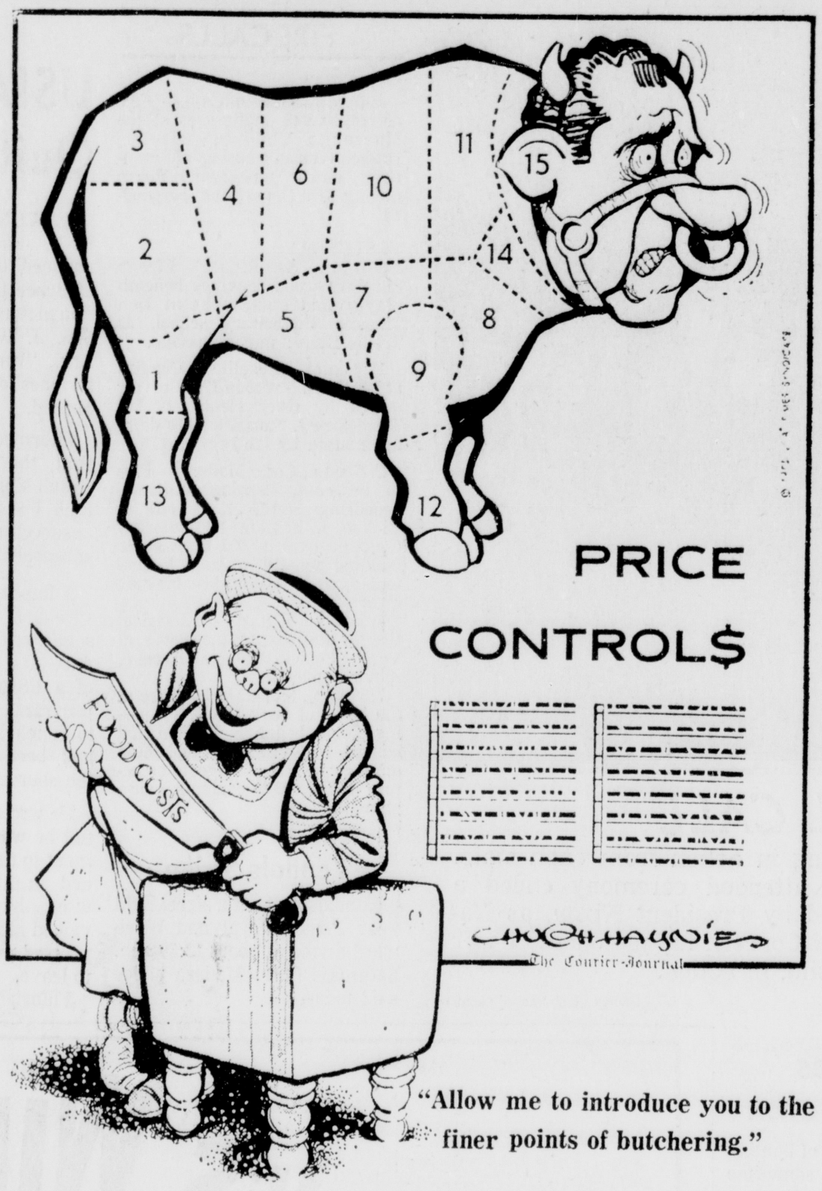
Obviously, the larger the percentage supported by taxes, the heavier the taxes everybody (including these government employees) must pay.

NOT MENTIONED in the Journal's analysis was another principal reason for high taxes — and for the high price of that roast: deficit spending.

Nobody could run his private finances or his business finances the way the government and some states run theirs and get away with it. He would be forced into bankruptcy. But federal, state and some local governments keep borrowing more and more, on the pretext that we really "just owe the money to ourselves." And the interest on this debt adds increasingly to taxes.

As the percentage of the tax dollar going for debt retirement gets bigger and bigger, the amount of government services each tax dollar provides gets smaller and smaller. And so, each job the government undertakes becomes more expensive and less productive. And the answer continues to be to pile on more taxes.

It isn't just the butcher or the meat packer who has hiked the price of that roast. It's Uncle Sam. It's Sacramento. And it's all the other units of government, up and down the line.



"Allow me to introduce you to the finer points of butchering."

Why, That's A Grosbeak!

We heard it singing in the pittosporum tree, half hidden in the leaves. We thought at first it was a robin. Its up and down trilling was very like a robin, and we could catch glimpses of a rusty breast.

We sat entranced for an hour. No robin ever sang so fluently or as rich of voice. The only word that describes that song is "heavenly."

Then the bird moved from its leafy lair. From its stout, sturdy, conical, pale bill and its black head, we knew it was a grosbeak — not too common in our Marin garden.

SMOG BOARD INFIGHTING

Blood Letting More Fun Than Battling Pollution

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The smell of blood excited some smog officials more than the smell of pollution.

The blood they smell is that of their most effective critic, Stanford University biologist Edward Groth III. Groth first blitzed the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District two years ago with a 380-page critique of its many shortcomings.

District officials were mad as hornets, but attempted a classic solution by appointing Groth to the district's advisory council. This gallant move, however, made no difference — much to the acute regret of some of the same officials who now are considering how to get rid of him.

GROTH NEVER HAS become part of the district's Establishment. Instead, he has continued to fire away with carefully researched documents that always hit their target. His most serious transgression in the eyes of his critics was authorship last month of a 72-page attack documenting allegations that the top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, was an eager tool of industrial polluters.

Groth's ouster, of course, still would leave him his voice, but without the mantle of speaking as a district official. But his ouster would make life much more comfortable for virtually everyone else on the board and council.

Groth, because of his professional training, flexible time schedule and devotion to air pollution control, has a nasty habit of knowing vastly more about the subject than all but perhaps two of the board and council members. He also has the gall to be in his late 20's, which adds to his problems with the many senior citizens on the council.

THE FIRST BREEZE in the wind blowing Groth's way came when several board members recently challenged his right to voice his own opinions instead of parroting those of the council.

A stronger blast, seen as the forerunner of a council censure of Groth, came from a fellow council member. San Francisco architect William B. McCormick. A 17-year veteran of the council, he took hot exception to Groth's attack on Callaghan.

McCormick, in a letter distributed to council and board members, charged Groth with McCarthyism (the Joe type). He suggested that Groth's appointment to the council was rigged by Callaghan's critics "for the purpose of searching out and preparing such an indictment."

McCormick also objectd that Groth's attack "smears the many contributors to the accomplishments of the district in the field of air pollution control, which is insensitive and careless of the harm it does." McCormick called on the council to advise the board of directors "of the considered opinions of the council in this matter as soon as practicable."

CALLAGHAN's SUPPORTERS on the board, now only a narrow majority, could not help but read between the lines to find skids to dump Groth.

Callaghan's loyal crew on the board still has not caught on that continued internal bloodletting, such as the aborted move to fire the district counsel for failing to salute Callaghan, can only speed the day when they are replaced with a directly elected board.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Has Little Regard For Police Forces

Congratulations to the Marin Grand Jury, and especially to the fearless San Rafael police officer, Richard C. Michaelsen, who did a beautiful job of exposing the "crap and corruption" that exists in the Sausalito Police Department. Any native knows it. . .

The Sausalito Police Department in their lust to make a "quick buck" for the "fat city treasury" resorts to any and all "Gestapo methods." I've been "hasseled" down there for no cause at all.

The "goon squad" forgets sometimes they are not always "hassling tourists" and they hit the wrong man like Mr. William Bennett of Kentfield.

Not all that has to come forth is an expose of the filthy machine politics in the Fairfax Police Department and its "hanky panky" police chief and we might be on the road to a halfway honest law enforcement system in this county.

For the last 10 years we have hit an all-time low in this department in this county.

Oh yes, in the Feb. 7 copy of the I-J under the caption, "Police Probe Set By Grand Jury," Mayor Imlay said he "was very pleased at the grand jury's decision to proceed with an investigation of the Sausalito Police Department." What's the matter now, are things getting too warm too close to home?

'Public Be Damned'— With Politicians' Help

George Meany has walked off the Pay Board. And so once again we witness "the public be damned". We saw it quite clearly in the longshoremen's strike and many others encouraged by labor leaders who are giving the rank and file poor advice.

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public are getting fed up. They are getting tired of the constant zooming wage settlements, the basic cause of inflation.

If management tried to pull off this economic mayhem it would be crucified.

When, oh when, will we find the politician with enough guts to speak out and not pussyfoot because of a possible loss of votes? Or am I just dreaming!

Supervisors Shirk Responsibility For EOC

Now that the federal government has stepped into tell Marin EOC how to operate, the Marin County Board of Supervisors has yielded a responsibility by default.

The 10 conditions under which EOC is to be reprieved should be studied by Mr. Arrigoni, chairman of the board of supervisors, who is running for re-election from the Second District. It makes one wonder how many other agencies in Marin have 17 bank accounts for $63,000.

Mr. Arrigoni, we wonder what is being done to assure that this type of negligence is not repeated.

Thanks To Chief Orr For Saving Situation

In September 1969, I wrote a letter to Police Chief James R. Orr, commending him upon the way he was able to talk à bunch of toughs into hopping onto their motorcycles and riding off into the dusk. Poooffff! Just like that.

This was a situation — at the end of the day of the Fairfax Festival — where the police were outweighed and outnumbered, the chief had been summoned from his home, in plain clothes, and conceivably Fairfax could have had a riot — or perhaps at the least just have all its windows broken in the downtown area; it was a tinderbox situation.

I kept coming back downtown, three or four times, just to see if the cyclists had left yet, as they had made the area in front of my place of business their unofficial headquarters all day and I was naturally concerned as to the situation of potential mayhem.

Chief Orr was standing there, looking up into the face of this behemoth, talking softly and easily and even smilingly — almost like a friendly conversation between pals. Suddenly, these fellows did hop onto their cycles and ride off into the dusk. Lately there has been testimony at the hearings (the police chief's appeal of his firing) that this "allegedly" happened, or "so he says." But I was there; the chief was talking to them, and suddenly they were gone. "Jim," I asked, "how in the world did you do that?" "Why, I just talked to them, Dell," he said.

It seems to me that Fairfax was fortunate to have a man who could talk Fairfax out of a bad situation; not shoot, or threaten, but "just talk."

It occurs to me that now is the time to thank Chief Orr publicly for this service rendered to me and the other downtown merchants.

Today is Monday, April 3, the 94th day of 1972.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter and Mercury.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn.

In 1865 the Union Army occupied Richmond, Va., one-time capital of the Confederacy.

Tainted Blood From Paid Donors Causes Many Deaths

Tainted blood is creating a national peril. Doctors and scientists are increasingly worried but very little has come out into the open.

Those who know the facts are beginning to question both the efficiency and safety of blood bank practices.

One revealing piece of evidence: Thousands of people die of hepatitis yearly after being injected with viral-tainted blood.

WHERE DOES SUCH tainted blood come from? It comes primarily from paid donors who are alcoholics, drug addicts and prisoners. Among these categories hepatitis is found to be 10 to 70 times more common than in the population generally.

Surveys show that hepatitis in the blood of paid donors occurs in about 30 cases per thousand as contrasted with three cases per thousand in blood from volunteers.

By the most conservative estimate there are 3,500 hepatitis deaths per year from blood transfusitns, but many doctors are convinced that the real total is closer to 35,000 a year.

WHAT CAN BE DONE about it? In one of the few articles appearing on this subject, Constance Holden writing in Science, official magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, cites three main causes:

Commercialism, lack of co-ordination among agencies, and flimsy state and federal regulations. One possible answer: a total volunteer system of blood donation.

SOCIAL VIOLENCE DECLINING. A new level of calm is evident in every section of the country. In all the preconvention campaigning there is nothing near to the 1968 disorder and disruption.

It is also reflected on campuses. A case in point:

California law now classified 18-to-20-year-olds as adults. Five young men under 21 were recently drawn to serve as potential jurors in the highly charged Angela Davis conspiracy ease. They asked to be excused on the ground it would interfere with their studies.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES becoming more personal. The front-runners are beginning to attack each other and the rear-runners are attacking the front-runners.

Recent example: Muskie is now taking out after Hubert as "promise-a-day Humphrey." McCarthy, who has been criticizing all the Democrats except McGovern, has now got around to dismissing McGovern as "fourth choice" among the liberals.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS — After 49 years of delay. The first state to do so, Hawaii, ratified the amendment guaranteeing equal rights for women in two hours, and the other necessary 37 ratifications will be forthcoming.

A majority of voters today are women, and male politicians do not dare vote against them.

Things won't be the same. Obviously, discrimination in divorce laws, property rights and pensions will be struck down. But there will be much more.

Apart from the Women's Lib extremists, most women want equal pay for equal work, equal job opportunities in industry, politics and government and equal chance for promotion. To the 32 million working women in the United States, this is simple justice — and a necessity.

One example: College-educated men are paid nearly double the rate of college-educated women.

A NOVEL PROPOSAL on busing. If some busing is temporarily necessary to help improve the quality of low-income neighborhood schools, here is a new solution.

Instead of busing the pupils, why not bus the teachers? This would reduce the need for busing by at least 90 per cent.

When Meany Talks Of Prices, He Doesn't Mean At Pierre's

WASHINGTON — George Meany had had a good day. Or maybe it was a bad day. Neither he nor we can be sure until next November.

It was the day he followed up his walkout from the Pay Board by leveling with the members of the companion Price Commission. But leveling, in Meany's case, is an insufficient word. When he is in a leveling mood, he does not precisely level with somebody. It becomes more of a transitive verb. He levels them.

What he said to the Price Commission was that its very composition "is an affront to fairness. There is not a single consumer representative on the commission. Instead, there are so-called public members — all of whom have had a history of corporate connections."

Of course his allegations drew cries of pain from the commission. And Meany's response was to tell the outcriers, there in front of God and the TV cameras and everybody, that he didn't give a damn what they thought about his comments.

LATER, HIS DAY of leveling done, he went to a corner Italian restaurant not far from his home in suburban Bethesda and presided over an inconspicuous dinner for four. He recommended the veal Milanaise and approved the waitress' presentation of a bottle of modest Chianti. And then he told Mrs. Meany and their friends all over again what he had told the Price Commission downtown.

He is as dominant a figure at the dinner table as he is at a Price Commission hearing. He was proud of the fact that his appearance at the National Press Club next week already is a sellout, and when one of his companions said, oh, that's too bad, I'd like to hear you, he assured her he could arrange for her to come. And then when she was unsure where the National Press Building is, they located it by agreeing it is diagonally across from Garfinckel's.

Garfinckel's is one of the less cheap shops in Washington, and their using it as a reference point brought to mind the several contradictions involved in George Meany's eating out without fanfare at a restaurant where the most expensive entree sells for about $4.

He is, whether the President likes it or not — and the President does not — the most powerful spokesman for the working man in America. Mr. Nixon and his staff never miss a chance to note that the AFL-CIO represents only about 17 million of the 85 million wage earners in the country, and to publicly brush aside anything Meany says as merely the complaint of one "special interest group." They also try, every time they respond to something he has said, to paint Meany as a bigwig out of touch with what the real working stiffs of the country are thinking (the implication being that a Wall Sreet lawyer like the President himself is much closer to the People than any ex-plumber from the South Bronx).

And there Meany was, eating at a family-priced spaghetti house, eventually switching the conversation to the fact that George Shultz (director of Mr. Nixon's Office of Management and Budget) was not really such a bad guy at all, as proved by the fact that he is an ex-Marine.

MEANY MAY NOT speak for all the working men of America, but there is some reason to argue that he speaks for more of them than Mr. Nixon does. As an example, we note that the President last week documented his concern over the rise in food prices by quoting John Connally's consternation about the price of eggs. Mr. Nixon said his secretary of the treasury had been told by a Texas chicken rancher that the farm price for eggs was only 30 cents a dozen, and then had gone to breakfast at the Pierre Hotel in New York and paid $5 for two. "That is just too much," the President commented accurately.

By contrast, Meany brought to the Price Commission hearing some containers of cake flour, canned milk and matzo ball soup to show how retailers are inching up the prices on food by shrinking the product inside the package. "Mrs. Adler's Matzo Ball Soup was famous for years and years with four matzo balls in a can," he said. "Now, same can, same price, but only three mtazo balls. This is the sort of thing I mean."

You might assume that the President, with a staff full of ex-advertising men, would have had something about matzo balls on the tip of his tongue, too. But he was speaking sponstaneously, and what came to mind instead was John Connally and that $5 breakfast at the Pierre.

All of which is hardly conclusive, but may help the confused citizens trying to decide who speaks for whom in this election year.

'Joint Use Of Hamilton' Now Needs Another Junket

Remember about a year ago when four county officials jetted back to Washington, D.C., purportedly to make clear the county's position on joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base?

Remember how a reporter was refused admittance to those meetings with federal officials?

Remember the announcement from county supervisors after those private meetings?

You know, the Air Force had agreed to "continue negotiations" on joint military-civilian use of Hamilton.

THAT LITTLE VENTURE cost Marin County taxpayers $2,343. What did it really buy?

We know that negotiations did continue, with the Air Force finally agreeing to joint use of its airstrip but not of its buildings.

And we know that county aviation commission committee, working within those Air Force guidelines, drafted a joint use plan and submitted it to the board of supervisors.

But the supervisors, viewing the $1 million-plus price tag for county facilities at the air base, promptly chucked the plan in a nearby waste-basket.

"Anyone who thinks the county is going to spend $3 million is nuts," stormed Supervisor John F. McInnis, adding tha county wants joint use of the buildings also.

He was joined by none other than Supervisors Louis H. Baar and Arnold M. Baptiste — who along with two members of the aviation commission had made the county's position clear in Washington.

Unfortunately, it would appear, the county's position wasn't too clear between the aviation commission — whose joint use committee drafted the plan — and the supervisors, who scrapped it.

HOW FAR HAS joint use progressed since our four county officials sojourned to Washington to push it?

The answer is that joint use hasn't progressed one measly step.

The "solution" was offered a couple of weeks ago by chairman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who casually mentioned that it would be a good idea to travel to Washington to make the iounty's position clear.

About $2,343 clear?

46 Killed By Liquor Poisoning

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The toll from weekend bottled liquor poisoning in the capital rose to 46 persons today with 11 more deaths reported by hospitals.

Police sources said 70 others were being treated in hospitals and that some were in serious condition.

Police Sunday took five persons into custody in connection with the sale of spurious liquor.

Tests revealed the killer drink was mixed with methyl alcohol. More than 100 people died last January in New Delhi after drinking an almost identical illicit brew.

A majority of the victims, both in the January and present tragedies, are slum dwellers. Delhi is partially dry and the cost of bottled liquor is prohibitive to poor persons.

Lockheed Seeks New Contracts

MARIETTA, Ga. (UPI)—Lockheed-Georgia has stepped up its drive to get an Air Force contract to build an advance medium short takeoff and landing transport aircraft, promising the government it would assign some of its top personnel to the project.

Lockheed President L. O. Kitchen said today that Lockheed and its partner in the bidding, North American Rockwell of Los Angeles, would place on the project "the very best military airlft aircraft people in the country."

The Air Force will give contracts to two firms and each will produce two prototype aircraft.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Hungary Learns To Have Fun Under Communism

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Hungarian standard of living isn't yet up to the East Germans but they have more fun at it and so have become both the model and the go-between for other Warsaw Pact nations seeking to improve their way of life and still get along with the Russians.

Nikita S. Khrushchev once pinned the label "goulash Communism" on the Hungarians.

He meant it as a compliment, but Hungarians prefer the way Hungarian party leader Janos Kadar defined his regime's philosophy.

"Those who are not against us are for us," he said.

HOWEVER IT IS to be described, Hungary has come a long way back from the bloody and fruitless uprising of 1956, which was crushed by Russian tanks and Mongol troops.

Today in Hungary:

—Political cabarets in Budapest regularly poke gentle fun at the regime and no one goes to jail. The only taboo is anything that might offend the Russians.

—The secret police have almost disappeared from view. They continue to be efficient, but the fear among the people is gone.

—Nearly a million of the 10 million Hungarians travel abroad each year. Most of them go to Communist-bloc nations but a substantial number also visit the west. A half million westerners annually visit Hungary.

—Cautious debate is permitted in books, television and newspapers.

—Hungarian voters have a certain amount of choice among candidates for public office. All candidates are pledged to support the Communist program, but alternatives are offered instead of a single slate.

—Hungarian industry is still under centralized control but managers are given greater freedom to make their own decisions and workers are given greater incentives to boost production. In the five years ending in 1974, the Hungarians hope nearly to double their output of consumer goods to a total of $800 million.

PLAYING IMPORTANT roles in the Hungarian success are two elements—the Russians' faith in Kadar and the built-in radar which prevents the Hungarians from going too far, as did Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Kadar has given the new leaders of both countries a pattern to follow.

Kadar also is receiving credit for persuading Romania to tone down its challenge to Russian control.

Realism is a word frequently heard in today's Hungary. So is caution, which means the Hungarians do not like to call too much attention to their successes.

The Hungarians realize they are not entirely the masters of their own fate. Geography makes it impossible for them to ignore the Russians. And they know that a sudden change in world affairs quickly could turn their emphasis from butter to guns.

Road Alternate Asked In Bolinas

Directors of Bolinas Community Inc. have asked the county road department to construct an alternate route in the community to replace Terrace Avenue, which is in bad repair, according to John R. Page, a member of the organization.

He said the issue had been under consideration for a long time, because of the heavy traffic which Terrace Avenue gets from residents of the Bolinas mesa area.

The request will go to the county board of supervisors via the road department, he said.

Issues Ignored As Candidates Meet

An informal gathering of Corte Madera Town Council candidates Saturday brought equally informal chats about crabgrass control and campaign techniques rather than issues.

Candidates Robert P. Simmons, Byhon D. White, Herber C. Leney, Robert J. Flahive and I. Thomas Zaragaza all agreed that the casual gathering at the Corte Madera Branch of the Marin County Library was a pleasant way to campaign, although few uncommitted voters dropped in.

The candidates chatted amiably about the weather and other non-controversial issues and agreed they had gotten to know each other pretty well during the campaign and were getting to be good friends rather than political enemies.

A few library patrons — curious about the gathering of men in business suits — dropped in to chat and were laden down with campaign literature, bumper strips and balloons. The predominant question put to the candidates concerned housing.

The candidates agreed that the poor turnout of residents indicated a general lack of excitement about the April 11 election for two council seats. Since fire protection has been dropped as a major issue, the candidates agreed that none other had come forth to put spark into the campaign.

Many said they preferred the casual gatherings to the more formal candidates nights because speeches need not be prepared and they can have better give-and-take sessions with residents.

Mailliard To See Marin Students

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, will speak at two Marin County schools this week.

He is scheduled to meet with government classes at Terra Linda High School tomorrow morning and at Tamalpais High School on Wednesday.

Driver Nabbed On Two Counts

Donald Anthony Madden, 37, of 31 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, was arrested Saturday by the California Highway Patrol on suspicion of possession of marijuana and drunken driving.

Madden was stopped at 12:05 a.m. while Northbound on Highway 101, north of the Richardson Bay Bridge.

Reports said he was stopped on suspicion of drunken driving and that three hand-rolled cigarettes were found in his possession. Madden was booked into the Marin County jail on $860 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

AAUW Women Will Tour Six Novato Family Homes

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Six Novato homes will be on tour Friday, and they largely reflect modern living styles, although some feature antique funishings.

Homes to be featured are those of Messrs. and Mmes. J. Dietrich Stroeh and George Barnwell, and four homes in the Marin Country Club Estates — those of the Donald Stutsmans, Edward Mitchells, George Mercys and Edward Schulmans. Hostesses will be Mmes. James Davis, Richard Watts, Dennis Crinnion, Hollis Moore, David Price Jones and Gerhard Wutske, all of the sponsoring Novato Branch, American Association of University Women.

Mr. and Mrs. Stutzman designed their home for their hillside lot, and the house is only six months old. The redwood home has an expanse of windows overlooking the Marin Country Club golf course. The formal living room has floor to ceiling windows on two sides. A huge rattan swing hanging from the ceiling faces a sunken fireplace in the family room. The area in front of the fireplace is covered with four-inch rubber padding and is sometimes used for houseguests to sleep in front of the fireplace. The master bedroom is on the same level as the family room and the swimming pool.

THE EDWARD Mitchell home is a two-story Roman style house with formal gardens and a gazebo at the entrance. The living room is furnished in French Provincial furniture with a combination of velvet and satin. The dining room, next to the kitchen, is paneled and curtained so it can be completely closed off from the kitchen. A long curving stairway leads to the bedrooms.

The George Barnwell home has been renovated since a fire nearly destroyed it in 1970. Its master bedroom is in a loft overlooking the family room. The rebuilt section has beamed ceilings and redwood walls. The entryway and the floor in the master bath are in rough aggregate. Many antiques and conversation pieces decorate the home. The living room has an old spinning wheel and a shoe shine box made into an end table. Also in the living room is the trunk in which Mrs. Barnwell slept as a baby in Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich Stroeh designed their home on land that had been an apple orchard. Mr. Stroeh did some of the building and all of the interior work and Mrs. Stroeh did all of the decorating.

BRIGHT COLORS tie the rooms of the house together. The modern kitchen has an old-fashioned print wallpaper. The dining and living rooms are carpeted in red. One wall of the dining room is stone, which is the back side of the living room fireplace.

The Stroehs have three daughters, and the two youngest share a bedroom papered in bold orange, yellow, pink and green print. Rattan headboards on the beds are green and the spreads and other accessories orange. Accents are pink and white gingham in the oldest girl's room.

The Edward Schulman home is a three story Spanish-style house built around a tree. The heavy wooden front doors are from a convent in Guadalajara. The wing for their three sons is on the first floor, along with the family room, kitchen, dining room, powder room and servant quarters. The second level features the living room with its bar, gaming table large stone fireplace. The master bedroom is also on the second level. The third floor is a guest room with bath with a spectacular view.

The George Mercy home gives one a great feeling of space with the den, kitchen, dining room and living room all open. There are four bedrooms off the main entrance but the master bedroom is in a separate building beyond the pool, offering privacy. Mrs. James Studley will provide a table setting at the Mercy home for the tour.

Tour hours are 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Luncheon will be served at the Novato Community House from noon to 2 p.m.

THE FAMILY room in the Donald Stutzman home in Novato is the place for casual conversation, with its rattan swing and padded flooring in front of the fireplace. Mrs. Stutzman sits in the swing in the new home which the Stutzmans designed, explaining to Mrs. David Price Jones (right) features of the house. Mrs. Jones will be a hostess at the home for the upcoming tour. Plants in the room help to carry the outdoor feeling inside the home.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Warning For Those Expecting Computer Matchup Mates

DEAR HELEN:

A warning to people who expect to get mates via computer dating: check thoroughly first.

For $500 I was thoroughly "tested," and told I would receive as many as 10 referrals every month for five full years. These "dates" would be from my area and were guaranteed compatible to me.

In two years, I have been able to contact only three referrals, all of whom turned out to be duds. The others lived up to 300 miles away from me. I never received over two names a month and most weren't from my home state. No one has ever contacted me.

I called the dating service and found the phone had been disconnected. I tried the New York office — same results. They continue to send me names I can't contact, from an office I can't locate. I can't prove fraud, because they are providing names, but most definitely, I was "took."

There's probably no way I can get my $500 back, but maybe I can keep other suckers from losing their money. — COMPUTER LOSER.

DEAR C.L.:

It's my opinion that if you risk more than $25 on mechanical matchmaking, you're being "took." Those who spend $500 on a five-year service can't expect very much of the computer — or themselves — else why would it take five years to do the job?

True, "mating by machine" works about one-third of the time (if you find an honest company), but you could do almost as well on blind dates.

Your advice to other hopefuls, "C.L.," is so right: check first and don't expect miracles. I'll add: don't sign any long-range expensive contracts, for you might find the perfect mate in the first batch of names (but don't count on it). — H.

DEAL HELEN:

When people come to visit me, I expect to turn off TV and visit, or else let them share a really good program with me, if they wish.

But this boring dame drops in about three times a week, criticizes what I'm watching, tells me about a "great" program on another channel — and then when I turn to it, I find she's dropped off to sleep on the sofa before it's half over. But if I switch stations, she's awake like a flash, complaining.

She doesn't have a color set. I do — and I'd like to watch my favorites for a change. Without hurting her feelings, how can I? — PEEVED OVER T.V.

DEAR PEEVED OVER T.V.:

It's your house, your TV set and your sofa. If the dame doesn't like your programs, tell her she can sleep on someone else's couch. Which may hurt her feelings, but will relieve yours. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This guy divorced his first wife to marry me. They have a baby. Now he has left me and is going steady with his first wife. I am pregnant. Do you suppose he doesn't like pregnant women, since his "ex" was six months along when he left her? Should I give him a divorce or hope he'll change when the baby comes? — T.W.

DEAR T.:

If you really thought of him as your husband would you call him "this guy"? Sometimes choice of words gives a good indication of the feelings behind them. You might be better off without a fickle fellow you never considered permanent, yes? — H.

Two-Toned Shoes

Two-toned shoes are the big news for men of all tastes. Brown/white; black/white, and navy/white are fashion duos for the classic minded, while combinations as bright navy-bright green; red/blue; wine/black, are for those males with more derring-do. Other new spring colors come in packages of threes as red/white and mid-blue, in exciting multipatch-work combinations.

SMART SHOPPER

Some Alternate Protein Sources

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Skyrocketing prices for beef, America's favorite meat, are stirring unprecedented interest in alternative sources of essential protein.

Two large supermarket chains made history here last week by advertising that shoppers buy something other than beef while prices are rising so rapidly. Both firms, Giant Food and Safeway Stores, suggested that consumers consider buying poultry, eggs, fish and other protein products.

Smart shoppers have always known about these and other substitutes for beef. But it is rare when a retail organization lends its weight to the advice that home economists have been giving for many years.

It wasn't long before representatives of the beef industry were accusing the stores of urging a boycott. The last public furor that could be associated with a boycott was in 1966 when housewives in many places marched on supermarkets in protest over food prices in general.

TO BEEF lovers, Giant Food ads advised, "Buy something else."

Several "good protein alternatives to red meat are in plentiful supply now," said the ads, "and they are reasonably priced."

Among the items suggested were chickens, turkeys, "many kinds of fish," eggs and cheeses. In addition, said the ads, "dried beans, lentils, cereal grain products, macaroni and spaghetti and peanut butter, too, when combined with animal proteins and other foods, such as dairy products, make a meal of high quality protein.'

Safeway ads listed a number of "inflation fighters" so shoppers can "help fight inflation and eat well, too."

On the list were eggs, cottage cheese, fryers, bologna and several vegetables. They included sliced pickled beets, asparagus, lettuce, tomatoes, potatoes and oranges.

Almost any protein substitute is cheaper than beef as a source of protein. Sirloin and rib roasts are ordinarily the most expensive ways of getting protein.

A STUDY done a year ago by the New York State Extension Service showed that the cheapest sources of protein are dried beans and peanut butter, though the type of protein is not as complete as that in beef.

According to a survey of supermarkets at that time, the cost of 20 grams, approximately one-third of the daily recommended amount, of protein was only 4 cents for beans, 10 cents for peanut butter and 12 cents for canned pork and beans.

On the other end of the scale, the cost of 20 grams of protein was 62 cents for sirloin, 45 cents for rib roast and 42 for bacon. Other costs for 20 grams of protein were listed as follows:

Beef liver, 14 cents; whole-chicken ready to cook, 14 cents; large grade A eggs, 15 cents; cottage cheese, 15 cents; American processed cheese, 17 cents; tuna fish, 17 cents; hamburger, 19 cents; milk, 20 cents; frozen ocean perch fillets, 20 cents; Maine sardines, 22 cents; frozen fish sticks, 22 cents.

Also, canned chili with beans, 24 cents; cooked whole ham, 27 cents; all meat frankfurters, 31 cents; round steak, 37 cents; frozen pizza, 38 cents, and all meat bologna, 39 cents.

Many nutrition experts add that the average American's diet contains too much protein anyway, especially when the accompanying fat is considered.

If you belong in this average, protein substitutes may aid your health as well as your pocketbook.

Fabrics And Suedes

An important media spotlight falls on fabrics. Fabrics as denim and linen are exciting styled in dress shoes as well as in casual shoes and boots. Further newness is added with combinations of fabrics with suedes and patents to update important traditional shoe styling. And, too, don't overlook the importance of suede as a spring-summer media in men's footwear as well as in women's, in both casual and dress shoes.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition

HERE'S HEALTH!

by JUNE EMBURY

Let us talk a little more about wheat and milling. It has been estimated that modern milling methods do away with more than 90% of the B vitamins present in the old storeground flour.

This is a serious loss, but perhaps even more important is the loss of vitamin E, which is present in the oils of the wheatgerm. Vitamin E has many important functions in the human body. If you want to enrich your diet with extra vitamin B and E use wheatgerm often! Sprinkle it on cereals, add it to all of your baking. But don't forget to store it in the refrigerator so it won't spoil and lose its vitamin E content.

An other excellent source of vitamin E is raw, inrefined wheatgerm oil. Viobin wheatgerm oil has been tested extensively on athletes and middle aged people. It has been found to improve endurance and stamina and reduce heartstress.

We have a booklet that tells more about these interesting studies, come and ask for your copy.

CAROL BOGARD
To sing Sunday

Soprano To Return To Marin

Soprano Carol Bogard will return to Marin to perform in a special Candlelight Concert with the Bach-to-Mozart group at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

The singer, former soloist in Mill Valley's Bach-to-Mozart Candlelight Concerts, left five years ago.

She has gone on to national acclaim in appearances with the American National Opera, the Boston Opera and Symphony, New York's summer Mozart Festivals, Pittsburh Symphony, Cincinnati Summer Opera, and most recently in the National Educational Television production of "The Trial of Mary Lincoln."

She has also traveled to Europe for concerts, radio engagements and recordings, including leading roles in two Handel operas. Her first major recording in the Bay Area led to her engagement in the 1971 Amsterdam Opera production of Monteverdi's "Coronation of Poppae."

Upcoming performances include a concert at the Smithsonian Institution, another "Poppae" in the Caramoor Festival in New York and concert appearances in Berlin, Copenhagen and Rome.

In the Mill Valley concert, sponsored by the Homestead Valley Community Association, Miss Bogard will sing arias from Handel's "Amadige" and "Samson" and the J. S. Bach "Wedding Cantata." Also included in the program will be the Quartet for Clarinet and Strings by Karl Stamitz and the Mozart Quartet for Strings, No. 14 in E Flat, K. 428.

Bach-to-Mozart musicians performing will be Raymond Duste, oboe; Edward Haug, trumpet; Frealon Bibbins, clarinet; George Nagata and Donna Salarpi, violins; Asbjorn Finess, viola; Teresa Adams, cello, and Erika Matthes, harpsichord.

Ticket information may be obtained from Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt of Mill Valley.

Church Talk By Armed Separatists

BILBAO, Spain (UPI)—Six left-wing Basque separatists, all armed with submachine-guns, invaded a small church near Bilbao and delivered a speech from the altar about their movement, the official Spanish news agency CIFRA reported today.

The incident happened Sunday morning and climaxed a weekend of violence in the Basque provinces of northwestern Spain.

The separatists, assumed to be members of the outlawed "Basque Homeland and Liberty" (ETA) movement which seeks independence for the area, entered the church in the small town of Galdacano during mass.

While five men covered the congregation with their weapons, the sixth went to the altar and gave a short talk about ETA. Then the six fled.

Also Sunday, two policemen were wounded while trying to stop an attack on the transmitter of the "Voice of Spain" radio and television transmitter on Mount Ulia near San Sebastian.

Lindbergh Rescued In Caveman Forest

MANILA (UPI)—Charles A. Lindbergh was rescued from a remote rain forest in the southern Philippines Sunday where he joined an expedition to observe the world's only living cavemen. He returned to Manila today.

Lindbergh, the aviator, was with a party of 46, including two American newsmen, rescued by a U.S. Air Force helicopter in Cotabato Province, 580 miles southeast of Manila, it is home for the cave-dwelling Tasaday "lost tribe."

The expedition had been in the area since March 23, observing the life-style of the cave dwellers, when its helicopter broke down Friday and its supplies started to run low.

The leader of the expedition, Filipino millionaire-philantrophist Manuel Elizalde Jr., radioed for assistance and the U.S. Embassy in Manila alerted the Air Force.

Lindbergh flew into the U.S. Clark air base, 50 miles north of Manila, Sunday night and then left for Manila. A spokesman for the Panamin Foundation, a government-supported group which looks after Philippine cultural minorities and which sponsored the expedition, said Lindbergh was expected to fly back this week to the United States to attend to "important commitments."

The publicity-shy Lindbergh, the first man to solo the Atlantic Ocean, was not immediately available for a statement. He has been a frequent visitor to the Philippines the past three years in the course of his work as a conservationist and has accepted the position of director in the Panamin Foundation.

Tasaday expedition

The Panamin expedition first encountered the 24 surviving members of the tribe on the edge of a forest clearing in June. Anthropologists said before they were discovered that the Tasadays had been isolated from civilization for 1,500 to 2,000 years.

It was only March 23, however, that the expedition actually discovered the cave dwellings of the Tasadays 4,000 feet high on a mountainside deep in the Cotabato rain forest. The Rev. Frank Lynch, a Jesuit priest from New York City who joined the expedition as an anthropologist for three days, said it was the first discovery of living cave dwellers in modern times.

ITT Investigation Delayed By Illness

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dita D. Beard, the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. lobbyist whose heart condition reportedly will prevent her from testifying before a Senate committee for six months, slipped out of her hospital room for a 90-minute television interview, it was disclosed Sunday.

Mrs. Beard, against the advice of her doctors, signed herself out of the Mountain Valley Osteopathic Hospital Saturday for the interview with CBS correspondent Mike Wallace for the "Sixty Minutes" show aired Sunday.

When she left the hospital, Mrs. Beard wore a sweater and skirt. She donned a floor-length, gray hospital gown with a high neck and long sleeves for the interview.

"I feel fine," she told Wallace. "That was a pretty strong pill the doctor gave me before we left ...As soon as I get back to bed I'll be all right." Mrs. Beard is due to be released from the hospital Tuesday.

When members of the Senate Judiciary Committee came to the hospital March 26 to question Mrs. Beard about the memo she allegedly wrote which linked the settlment of an antitrust suit against ITT with the company's pledge to give $400,000 to help underwrite the Republican convention, she had a relapse of heart problems. The interview was cut short.

Her doctors said she would not be able to testify before the committee for another six months.

CBS said the interview was filmed at the place where Mrs. Beard will convalesce after her release from the hospital. The location was not revealed.

During the interview, which ran as an 11-minute segment on the show, Mrs. Beard again denied writing the memo and repeated her earlier statements that former Attorney General John Mitchell had rebuffed her attempts to discuss the antitrust case.

The center said the performance was made possible by a grant given to Novato schools in honor of the city's 12th birthday.

Thieves ransacked the offices of the Neil Cummins School at 58 Mohawk Drive, Corte Madera, last week, stealing $26 in coins, police reported today. They said the robbery was discovered last Wednesday morning, and took place Tuesday night or early Wednesday.

Aspin Asks For My Lai Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., today asked a federal court to order the Pentagon to turn over to him its confidential investigative report on the My Lai massacre.

Aspin, a former analyst in the Defense Department, invoked the Freedom of Information Act in his suit. The law requires access by the public to government documents except those exempted for security reasons.

Aspin demanded release of the "Peers Commission Report" on the layings of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. troops at My Lai, and asked the court to order Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Army Secretary Robert F. Froehlke to comply. He claimed the report was not protected by exemptions in the Freedom of Information law.

In a letter to Laird Feb. 18, Aspin said the Army's claim that the report might affect pending prosecution of individuals named in the report no longer was valid since all trials were completed and only an appeal —that of Lt. William L. Caley —was pending.

A spokesman for Aspin said that "obviously on an appeal, new evidence cannot be introduced but only questions of law and procedure can be raised" so that the Pentagon excuse no longer was valid.

An Army counsel, in response to Aspin's letter, claimed exemption under the information act on grounds that release would violate personal privacy, that the report is an intraagency memorandum and that it is still "a crucial part of the pending administrative actions."

"The paramount interest at this time is to maintain an atmosphere in which military justice can be dispensed without prejudice to the rights of those individuals involved," Robert W. Berry, general counsel for the Army, wrote to Aspin.

"The Pentagon's adamant refusal to release the report only raises new doubts about the extent of the brutal massacre and the subsequent covertup by senior American officers," said Aspin.

Photographer Tells Of Shoot-Out

By MARY LEYDECKER

SAN JOSE — Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean today took the stand in the Angela Davis Case to give a personal account of the events of Aug. 7, 1970, to accompany the pictures he had taken of the Civic Center shoot-out.

Kean, like an earlier witness, said he had heard the kidnappers demand that the Soledad Brothers to freed.

The prosecution contends that Miss Davis is guilty of murder, kidnap and conspiracy stemming from an aborted plot that was aimed at the rescue of Soledad Brother George Jackson, a plot that ended in the death of Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons.

Kean related today how he almost became one of four hostages taken at gunpoint from the Hall of Justice to a rental van which ultimately was involved in a bloody shoot-out.

"Come on — you're going, too," Kean said he was told by San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee as the convicts herded the hostages toward an elevator in the hall of justice.

Kean said he "fell into line" between the judge and the other hostages, three women jurors, and Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas.

At that point, Kean said, young Jonathan Jackson came up from behind and told Magee "we don't want this xxxxxxxxxxx, we've got enough."

Then just before the group entered the elevator, Kean said, San Quentin convict James D. McClain told him "Tell them we want the Soledad Brothers freed by 12 o'clock."

The photographer said he asked McClain to repeat what he had said and after McClain did so, Kean asked him, "Do you mean 12 o'clock today or midnight?"

After McClain said he meant 12 o'clock today, Kean said he took out a little notebook he had in his shirt pocket and wrote "Soledad Brothers" in it. He went on to say that he later could not find the notebook, but it was his custom to throw such tablets away when they were filled.

As the convicts and their frightened hostages got into the elevator, Kean said young Jackson told him with a smile "You can come along if you want, but you may get killed."

Earlier Kean testified how when he arrived at the Hall of Justice after hearing the report of the emergency on the police radio, he saw men come around a corner of the hall with something strapped to the neck of Judge Haley. Then he saw the hostages, and one of the convicts, William Christmas, told him to "take all the photographs you want — we are the revolutionaries."

He even was instructed by convict McClain "be sure and get a good picture of the judge," Kean said. Also, Kean said, he was a "close personal acquaintance of Judge Haley." Kean said he did not follow the judge and McClain when they walked down a hall at one point. He said he was "too busy" taking pictures of other events at that moment.

After the desperate men and their hostages left the building, Kean went out onto a balcony where he took a series of pictures showing the group moving toward and finally entering the rented van.

By the time he ran down a flight of stairs, hearing several shots, Kean saw the van stopped on the other side of the building in the street.

Several men rushed up and opened the doors of the van, Kean said, and he saw two of the jurors being helped to the ground.

Kean was the fourth witness during the trial which began last week and is expected to last several months.

Novato Police Suspect Driver

Kevin John Gingher, 19, of 1005 Greenwood Drive, was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of hit-run driving and injuring another driver.

Novato police said a car driven by Gingher collided with the rear of a car driven by Ilse F. Duffy, 40, of 17 Grande Vista, at Virginia Avenue and Simmons Lane at 3 p.m., and Mrs. Duffy complained of pain.

Mrs. Duffy told police Gingher refused to identify himself and police said he failed to fill out a report of the accident. He posted $1,200 bail.

Two Novato Youths Hurt After Chase

Two Novato youths were treated for injuries Saturday at Novato General Hospital following a high speed auto chase and accident.

Wade James Blakesley, 16, of 1180 Rosalia Drive and his brother, Paul Warren Blakesley, 15, were injured when their car ran off the north side of School Road near Atherton Avenue, went through 20 feet of wooden fence, left the ground, and rolled over on impact, according to Novato police and the California Highway Patrol. The car came to rest in a field.

Novato police said the accident at 12:05 a.m. capped a five-and-a-half-mile pursuit that reached 100 miles per hour. They said the chase started near a drive-in restaurant on Ignacio Boulevard, which Blakesley left at a high speed. Police said when a patrol car attempted to stop the pair they sped away.

Police said Blakesley would be cited for reckless driving.

San Quentin Trial Costs $300,000

San Quentin Trial costs — excluding the Ruchell Magee murder trial — are expected to run about $300,000 next fiscal year, county auditor-controller Michael Mitchell said today.

Mitchell said about $200,000 is being budgeted for the trial of six San Quentin inmates suspected of murdering guards and other inmates during an escape attempt last August.

About $150,000 of that amount will go toward attorneys' fees since each prisoner will be represented by a separate attorney, he said.

Normally, about $100,000 is budgeted each year to handle routine court matters stemming from San Quentin.

Mitchell said the total amount next year is expected to be covered by the state.

Magee trial costs are covered by special legislation and are still subject to some negotiation with state officials.

Policy Against Development To Be Discussed

The Novato City Council is scheduled to discuss a proposed ordinance regulating development in the Novato Creek Flood Plain at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community house.

Charles E. Murphy, Marin County Flood Control engineer, has been invited to explain the proposed ordinance.

The council also is scheduled to have a hearing on construction of traffic islands as part of the Vallejo Street improvement project.

The council approved the project Tuesday, but left the issue of traffic islands open after adjacent property owners objected.

All-Year Schools Report Tonight

The Fairfax School District board will hear a report on year-round schools at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in White Hill School.

The board will also hear a report on staff needs for the 1972-73 school year.

Carmichael Man Dies In Crash

A 75-year-old man from Carmichael, Sacramento County, became Marin's 10th traffic fatality this year when his car collided with another, then struck a pole at the north end of the Golden Gate Bridge Saturday, according to the California Highway Patrol.

William B. Shaw was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital about 5:10 p.m., according to hospital authorities. A passenger in his car, Dolores M. Hale of Sacramento was reported in satisfactory condition today at the hospital with back injuries.

Driver of the other car, Mary Etta McCoy, 1151 Ransome Drive, Novato was uninjured, according to officers.

Council Election Turns Into Race

The election of members of the Marin City Council tomorrow has turned into a race with the registration of six candidates for the five seats available, it was reported today by Hazel Curry, secretary of the council election committee.

According to Mrs. Curry, these persons signed up before the deadline Friday: Jackie Harris of 341 Drake Avenue, Ernest Small of 74 Cole Drive, James Bullock of 723 Drake, Royce McLemore of 975 Drake, Roosevelt Van Dyke of Cole Drive and Levella Bland of Cole Drive.

The polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. tomorrow at the former fire house near Manzanita Center.

Enrollment For Kindergarten Set

Registration for children who will attend kindergarten in San Anselmo schools next year will be held April 12 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Brookside, Isabel Cook, Wade Thomas, Sleepy Hollow and Yolansdale schools.

Children should register at the school nearest their home, and must be at least 4 years, 9 months of age on Sept. 2, 1972. They must have a birth certificate or other legal verification of age and an immunization record against measles, polio and diphtheria, pertussin and tetanus.

Coins Taken

Thieves ransacked the offices of the Neil Cummins School at 58 Mohawk Drive, Corte Madera, last week, stealing $26 in coins, police reported today. They said the robbery was discovered last Wednesday morning, and took place Tuesday night or early Wednesday.

Special College Tax Rate May Drop 7

The special tax rate for 1972-73 construction in the Marin Community College District will probably fall about seven cents below the ceiling of 32 cents per $100 assessed valuation set in November.

Dale A. Fleming, director of planning for the district, today predicted a tax rate of about 25 cents based on the assumption the district will have to raise about $1.60 million to match $1.15 million in state funds for 1972-73.

Fleming said the district "erred on the high side intentionally" in setting the 32-cent rate in case construction costs rose faster than anticipated by the state.

He said his predictions are only rough estimates. More precise information will be prepared within two weeks for use by the district's board during budget hearings.

Most of the 1972-73 building money will be used to equip the library, remodel the art building and construct outdoor athletic facilities at the College of Marin and to finance working drawings and site preparation of the planned Novato campus, Indian Valley Colleges.

Failure of a a16.8 million local bond issue in November led the district to finance the work with an annual tax and spread what had been 10 years of construction over 20 years.

Boxer Vote Drive Fund Is Reported At $1,830

Contributions totaling $1,830 toward her supervisorial campaign were reported today by Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae.

Mrs. Boxer has challenged the other two candidates in the Second Supervisorial District also to release lists of contributors, but they have not done so. The other two are incumbent Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Dr. William J. Filante.

The State Election Code requires identification of contributors and the amounts each gave only when the amount is $500 or more.

Mrs. Boxer, in a press release, reported 75 contributions, including 49 up to $50. This list included a contribution from Michae R. Peevey of San Rafael, a candidate for supervisor in the Fourth District.

Eleven contributions from $50 to $100 were listed by name, as were five between $100 and $125 from Michael Tobriner, Howard Jewell, Peter Elkind, Suzanne Irwin and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Beeson.

Her voluntary disclosure covered contributions through Friday. She has vowed to release monthly lists.

Accident Victim Slightly Improved

A 9-year-old Fairfax girl was reported slightly improved though in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered in a traffic accident on March 19. She had been in critical condition for the past two weeks.

Regina A. Brown of 35 Berry Trail suffered a severe head injury in the accident when, according to police, she and her sister ran onto a San Anselmo street into the path of a car.

Her 2-year-old sister, Ziva, was treated for minor injuries.

Injury To Larkspur Man In Collision

Roy B. Berg, 25, of 9 Branch Avenue, Larkspur, has been treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries received when his motorcycle collided with a car.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Berg was entering Highway 101 northbound from Blithedale Avenue, near Strawberry Town and Country Village, when he collided with a car driven by Mary C. Limont, 16, of 445 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, on Friday night.

Volunteer Firemen Ask New Station

Mill Valley volunteer firemen have sent out 6,000 appeals to residents asking for $275,000 in bonds to build a second fire station east of Camino Alto near Enchanted Knolls on city-owned land.

The request, for a yes vote on Measuer A in the April 11 election, is a necessary one, according to the association.

"The eastward growth of Mill Valley has placed many areas too far away, and separated by too much city traffic, to be adequately protected," according to the association.

It would not be necessary to buy more fire equipment because present equipment could be divided between two stations, the statement said.

A taxpayer with a $40,000 home would be assessed $4.80 per year decreasing annually in proportion to an increase in assessed valuation, according to association members.

Belvedere Trash Fees Going Up

Belvedere City Councilmen will consider the application of the Mill Valley refuse service for an immediate 15 per cent increase in fees for trash collection at a regular council meeting tonight at 8 p.m.

The rate increase was first proposed last summer, but withdrawn during phase one of the price freeze. It is now being resubmitted, and city staff has recommended that the increase be approved.

The increase would be 15 per cent effective immediately, an additional five per cent on April 1 of next year and five per cent more the following year.

The council will also hear a proposal from Viacom International Inc., for installation of a cable television system within the city, and will consider signing lighting and road improvements on Tiburon Boulevard at San Rafael Avenue.

Town Council Will Meet Tonight

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider setting up an assessment district for widening San Clemente Drive, and a resolution governing use of town tennis courts at its regular meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. today.

Also to be discussed are a request from the chamber of commerce for $1,000 toward the July 4 celebration and two traffic intersection problems.

Shoulder Bruised In One-Car Crash

Elizabeth N. Haislip, 21, of San Carlos, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for right shoulder bruises suffered in a one-car accident Saturday at 5 a.m. on Perry Road, Petaluma.

Police said her car struck a chain link fence as she misjudged a turn onto Highway 101.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Add A 12-Inch Ruler To Your Supplies For A Bridge Game

What equipment do you need for a game of bridge? A couple of decks of cards, a score pad, a pencil and four live bodies. You might also need a 12-inch ruler, preferably of some heavy wood.

That's what the ruler is for. One sharp rap over the knuckles will remind your partner not to reach for a trick the next time. (Incidentally, don't have more than one ruler in the house or your partner may have one on the other side of the table.)

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♡	Pass
4 ♡	All Pass

Opening lead — ◇ K

EAST'S SITUATION

You are East. Your partner opens the king of diamonds, and dummy wins with the ace.

Declarer cashes the ace of hearts, leads a club to the king and then draws three more rounds of trumps, discarding low diamonds from the dummy.

South next leads a low spade and finesses with dummy's queen. Since you are a very fine player, you nonchalantly drop the nine of spades on this trick.

The idea is to persuade South that his finesse has succeeded. Perhaps he will be foolish enough to get back on his hand with the ace of clubs and finesse with the jack of spades. Then you will pounce on the trick with your king of spades, and South will be down! He will lose a spade, two diamonds and a club.

WATCH OUT FOR PARTNER

In a hand like this you must watch out for your partner. When declarer finesses with dummy's queen of spades, your partner may reach for the trick-showing that he expects you to win with the king.

This is a dead giveaway. Declarer will not take a second spade finesse, and your plot will fail. (An expert declarer would not take a second finesse anyway, but that's another story.)

HOW TO PREVENT

How do you prevent your partner from reaching across the table?

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - 6 3

What do you say?
ANSWER: Bid one heart.
This is a very sound, even though minimum, opening bid.

Four Stars At The Age Of 53

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Gen. Earl E. Anderson, 53, has become assistant commandant of the Marine Corps and the youngest active duty Marine ever promoted to four-star rank.

Anderson, a native of Morgantown, W. Va., and a graduate of West Virginia University, received his promotions Friday at ceremonies at Marine headquarters. He succeeded Gen. Raymond G. Davis, who retired Thursday.

Snakes Appear Due To Warmer Weather

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Unusually warm spring weather has brought Southern California rattlesnakes and other reptiles out of their winter hibernation a month early.

Residents of foothills and canyons have reported seeing several large snakes in activity in populated areas.

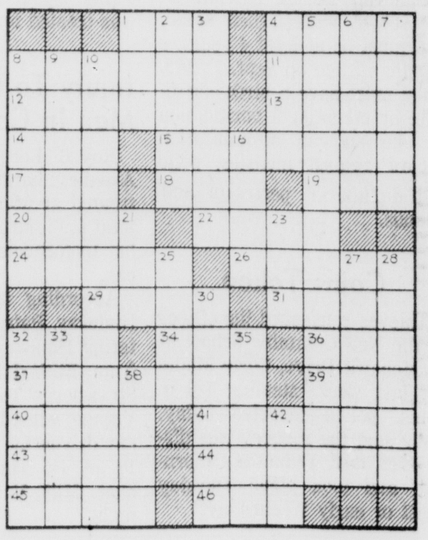
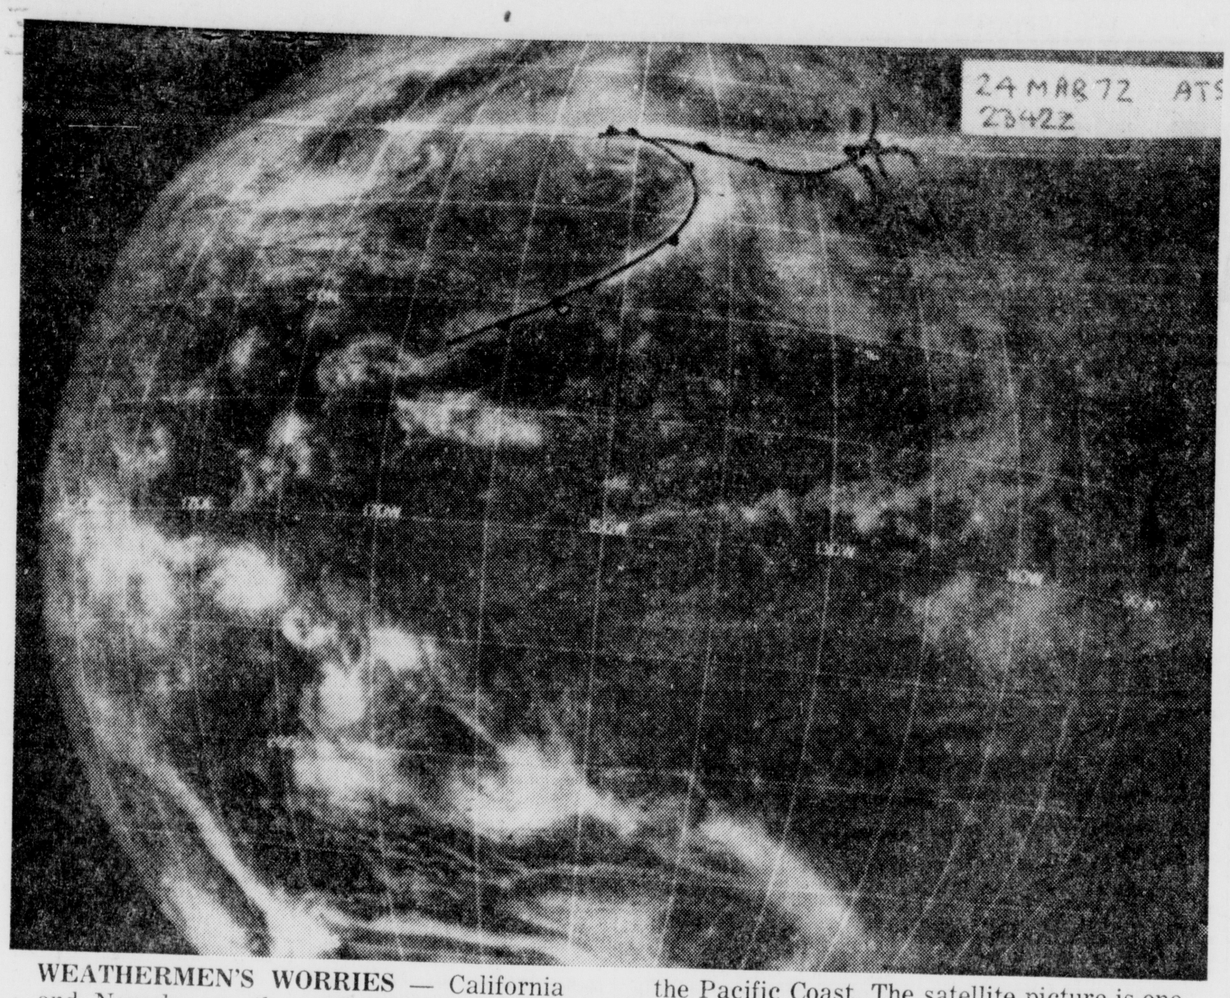
Saturday's Answer





WEATHERMEN'S WORRIES — California and Nevada are the outlined areas in the upper right corner to the weather detachment at Hamilton Air Force Base which spends its hours tracking the swirls of clouds and warm and cold fronts bearing down on the Pacific Coast. The satellite picture is one of several tools the 25 persons assigned to Detachment 5 of the 4th Weather Wing employ daily to warn flyers what weather to expect.

PLOTTING WEATHER — M/Sgt Harold Storey, duty forecaster, relays information from a surface weather map while SM/Sgt. William Osburn, first sergeant of the squadron, refers to a wall chart on which the wind at 4,000 feet has been plotted. In addition to forecasting, the detachment gives mandatory air crew briefings and makes climate studies.

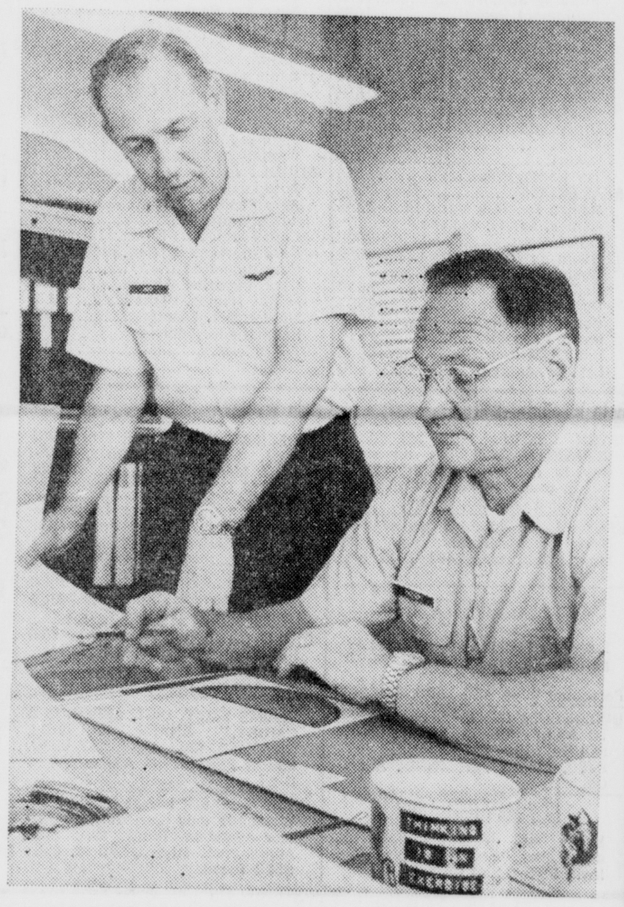
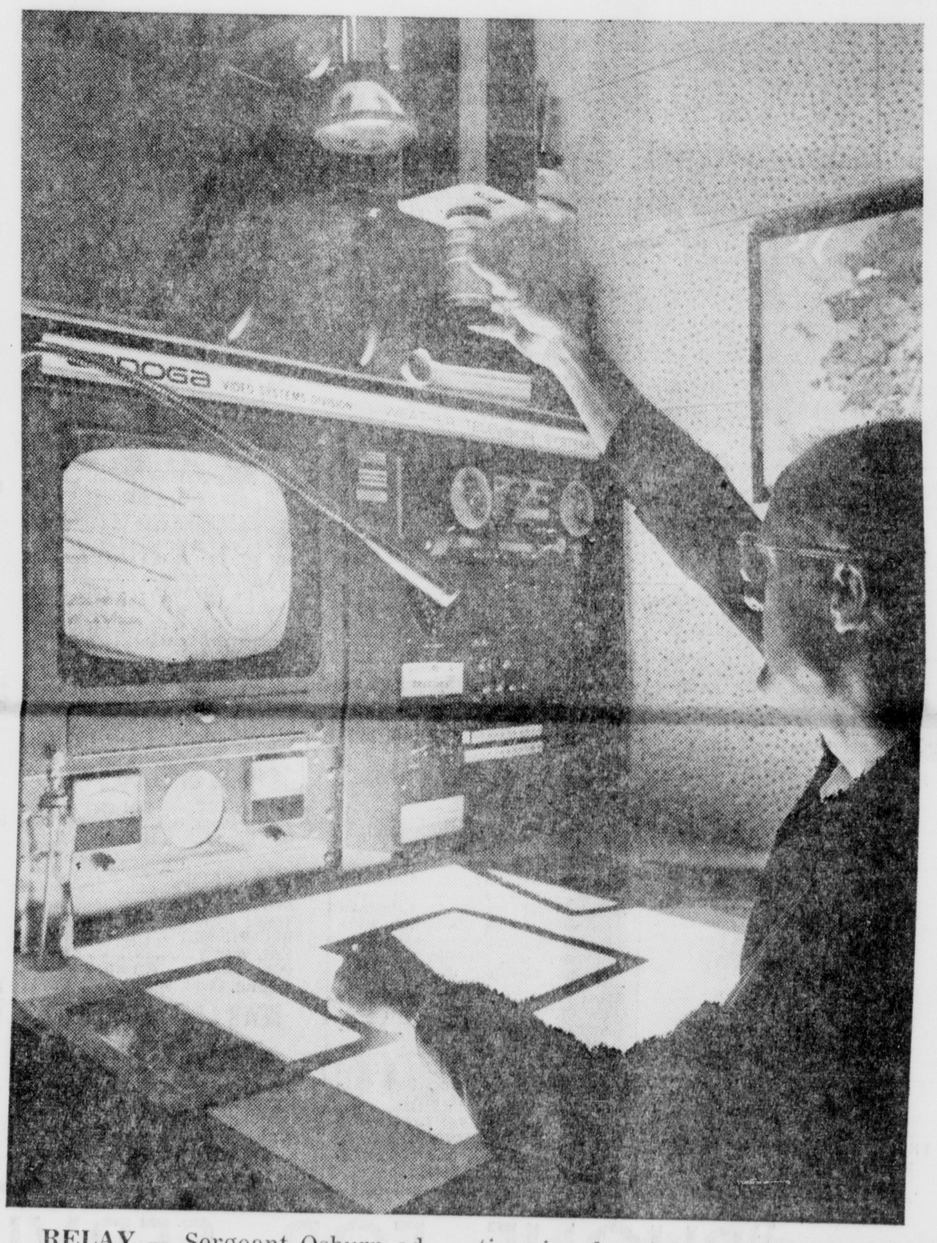
Hamilton Crew Has Eye On Sky

MANDATORY BRIEFING — First lieutenants Terry L. Bock and Stephen E. Jaros consult a weather map during a mandatory preflight briefing by Sergeant Storey.



EVALUATION — CWO Thomas Yasger, chief forecaster, reviews reports which compare and grade each forecast for technical effectiveness and accuracy while Maj. Clarence Duff stands by.



RELAY — Sergeant Osburn adjusts the television camera which relays weather information from the station at the base operations center to flight squadrons at the base. The information is also fed to Offutt Air Force Base, Neb., where it is compiled for broadcast on request to any Air Force installation in the world.

FLIGHT PLAN — Two pilots file flight plans with Sgt. Jacque Montgomery at base operations after their weather briefing. The flight plan requires a weather breifing for a flight of any distance.

FINAL STEP — An Air Traffic controller clears a pilot for takeoff while other planes line the runway. The control tower gives final approval after clearance through the weather and base operations sections.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Surgery On Larynx New Way To Substitute The Voice Box

When a cancerous voice box is removed (laryngectomy), the individual must use other means to talk. At present, esophageal speech is the most useful method. However, it is difficult to master. Mechanical and electronic devices also are available. Surgical reconstruction of the larynx is a newer method. A group of Canadian surgeons recently perfected a one-stage procedure for constructing a substitute voice-producing organ. Speech is restored within three to four weeks after the operation.

Hoarseness means there is a disturbance of the vocal cords. The cause of the symptom is obvious when it is associated with a cold or follows too much cheering at a sports event. The situation is different when hoarseness develops gradually and persists for more than three weeks.

GROWTHS ON the vocal cords may be responsible. If the condition does not improve within three weeks, consult a physician with the tools and ability to make a first-hand inspection of the voice box.

Public speakers, actors, singers, hucksters, and others who abuse the voice may develop innnocent nodes on the vocal cords. These nodules cause hoarseness and many disappear after resting the voice. They can also be removed with an electric current. But the main reason for taking a peek into the larynx is to rule out cancer. And the sooner a diagnosis is made, the better the results, if surgery is necessary. It may be possible to save enough of the cord to preserve the voice. Waiting too long may prove fatal.

THERE ARE three main ways of treating a carcinoma of the larynx: Radiation, surgery or both. The choice depends upon the size and extent of the cancer and its location. In extensive growths, the area is radiated initially and then the entire vocal cord is removed (laryngectomy). This leaves the individual with an opening just below the Adam's apple through which he breathes.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

VAGOTOMY

E. R. T. writes: Why is vagotomy done?

REPLY

To divorce the stomach from the brain. The vagus nerve controls the churning movements and secretions of the stomach. When the fibers of this nerve are cut, the gastric pouch quiets down and the acid content is reduced. This is a good therapy for the highpowered, tense, nervous ulcer patient, but the operation may not be needed because we have drugs that depress the action of the vagus nerve.

NITROGLYCERIN TABLETS

E. W. S. writes: What would happen if a person without heart trouble took a few nitroglycerin tablets?

REPLY

Very little, unless several tablets were held under the tongue. In these circumstances, the individual would feel flush and might develop a headache or feel lightheaded.

Sentences For 3 Drunk Drivers

Three persons were sentenced Thursday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Peter Allen Smith for drunken driving.

Sentenced were:

Stanley Allen Jacobs, 23, of 881 Fourth Street, San Rafael, arrested March 22 on Highway 101, placed on probation for two years and fined $150 or must work 40 hours for Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

Charles Burns Antonelli, 33, of Gate 5, Sausalito, arrested March 25 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $275.

Henry Anselm Sutton, 50, of San Francisco, arrested March 14 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Youth Hurt In 3-Car Collision

Tony Luchessi, 19, of 265 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, has been treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries received in a three-car accident on Highway 101.

The California Highway Patrol said Luchessi changed lanes in front of another vehicle and hit the hgihway's center divider twice Friday, coming to rest at 10:40 p.m. south of The Lucky Drive onramp.

A third car, driven by Sandra C. Marrujo of San Francisco, stopped behind Luchessi's auto. According to highway patrol reports, a fourth car struck the Marrujo vehicle, driving it into Luchessi's car.

The patrol said the fourth car was driven by Eugene C. Reed, 27, of Glen Ellen.

School District Seeks Principal

Trustees of the San Anselmo School District will consider the appointment of an interim principal for Red Hill School at a special meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the library of Red Hill School.

The school has been without a full-time principal since the death of Principal Donald Shaw. Acting principal has been Ivan Cappell.

The trustees will also consider a preliminary budget for the district, and will hear a report on a request for a legal hearing by a number of district teachers notified they may not be rehired next year.

The board will also review the district's 1972-73 calendar.

Supervisors Will Study Financing An Honor Farm

The Marin county board of supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at the Civic Center, again will consider financing an honor farm for some jail inmates.

The proposal, submitted by the county administrator's office, requests permission for the county to sign a lease for the abandoned Nike missile site in Santa Venetia and begin renovating its structures.

Last month, the board was told that its application for $200,000 in federal funds to start the project had been rejected.

However, the county administrator's office maintains that the honor farm — even at total county expense — is the best means to alleviate overcrowding at the county jail.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors agenda also includes:

TRANSIT — A meeting of the county transit district board beginning at 8:30 a.m. at the Civic Center.

NIGHT MEETINGS — An evaluation of monthly night meetings held by supervisors. Last week, the board staged its sixth and final "trial" night meeting, pending the review.

REZONING — A proposal to rezone about 1,000 acres west of Fairfax to allow less development than permitted under present zoning. The rezoning has been approved by the county planning commission.

INDIAN VALLEY — A proposal to rezone 620 acres in the Indian Valley area near Novato to a minimum of one acre per homesite in the flat areas and larger on the hillsides. The rezoning is supported by residents who want to protect the "rural atmosphere" of the valley.

Priorities On Gas Taxes To Be Discussed

The Marin County Transit District board, meeting tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. at the Civic Center, will consider setting priorities for use of gas tax revenues allocated to public transit.

While it is still in doubt whether the transit district will receive the funds, the district's staff has proposed five possible uses.

These include acquisition of Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way property, acquisition of buses for intracounty use, to help pay the operating deficit of existing bus operations, demonstration projects and support facilities for intracounty buses.

Still in question is whether the thousands of dollars expected from the new tax will be given to the county or to the Golden Gate Bridge District.

May Fill School Vacancy

The San Rafael City Council is expected to appoint a new member to the city's board of education tonight, replacing Paul L. Jones.

The council must choose a replacement within 60 days of Jones' resignation, which was submitted Feb. 18.

Ten residents have expressed a desire to fill the seat: Paul McMullen, Dr. Charles B. Peek, Donald J. Urquhart, Alice Mary Vipiana, Donald R. Wellington, two-term board member Carl J. Brown, James Looney, Dr. Melvin B. Fox, Irwin Taranto and Marie J. Sessi.

Jones, of 735 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda, has said he and his wife are moving back to San Diego, where they lived from 1928 to 1952.

The city council is also expected to invite bids on bonds for work in the East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 1.

It will also hear a request from senior citizens for more parking and future housing for the senior citizens recreational program and hear reports on community redevelopment, sphere of influence for annexations and removal of billboards along Highway 101.

SPORT NOTES

Warriors Can Not Match Buck Might

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The hand-made sign at the end of the court spelled out in bright letters for the color television cameras, "The Warriors Are Worth a Million Bucks." But 11 Bucks were enough.

It was in the Oakland Coliseum Arena Saturday night and the Milwaukee Bucks were manhandling the resident Warriors from the Golden State in the third game of their National Basketball Association playoff series.

With six minutes and 12 seconds remaining in the game, Warriors coach Al Attles called time out, his team trailing, 100-78. As if on cue, a mass exodus began to the parking lot. They had seen enough. When it was all over, the Bucks had whipped the Warriors, 122-94, taking a 2-1 lead in the best of seven series. The teams will meet again tomorrow night in Oakland before moving on to Milwaukee.

It was a very vocal crowd Saturday night — at least during the first part of the game. Things got quieter when it was evident the better team was going to win. I like rooting for the home team as well as the next fan, but when two teams are obviously the best of the bunch, it's only fitting they meet for the western conference championship. I am, of course, talking about the Bucks and Los Angeles Lakers. As the Lakers have won their first three9from the Chicago Bulls, it looks as if this will come to be.

IN THE MAIL this morning was my press ticket to the Giants' games in Candlestick Park and information about the opening day game against the San Diego Padres Thursday. I plan to get there bright and early, even if I'm the only person at the ball park.

If the strike continues through opening day, will the ballplayers carry picket signs? In other strikes, management has been known to take over the chores of the laborers. Will the front office people — men like Horace Stoneham, Jerry Donovan and John Taddeucci — wear the flannels and perform on the field? It's a thought.

WITH THE trade of southpaw pitcher Sparky Lyle by Boston to the New York Yankees for the first baseman-outfielder Danny Cater, a big responsibility has fallen upon the shoulders of Terra Linda product Bill Lee. With Lyle gone, Lee is the No. 1 southpaw reliever for the Red Sox. He is coming off a fine season in which he won nine games and lost two.

FOUR NOVATO HIGH SCHOOL athletes are thinking about next football season and college ball. Russ Weklych has signed a letter of intent to enroll at University of Washington and Leo Magers has done likewise at University of Arizona in Tucson. Marty Moroski is considering a partial scholarship to Stanford and Greg Straw has his eyes on University of California, Davis.

Bucks, Warriors Tomorrow

OAKLAND (UPI) — Milwaukee's scoring bursts and its heavy defense patterns weigh the minds of Golden State Warriors strategists today as they plan game four of the National Basketball Association semifinal playoffs.

Golden State enters Tuesday's game in Oakland Coliseum Arena a decided statistical and psychological underdog, trailing 2-1 in the best-of-seven Pacific Division series.

"The pressure has to be a little greater on the Warriors," said Bucks' coach Larry Costello after Saturday night's 122-94 victory over Golden State in the arena. "Our defense is the key. It is a case of getting to know the team you are playing a little better. And being able to see on films how successful your defense can be."

Milwaukee also operated in the scoring department with machinegun bursts. The Warriors would string together a few points, and then the Bucks would burst for eight to 10. Late in the first quarter for instance, the Warriors had a ballgame going—trailing just 19-17.

Then John Block collected two free throws, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar hit two hooks and Bob Dandridge glided through for a layup. The only Warrior scoring in that time--just under two minutes—was Jim Barnett's free throw.

Warriors coach Al Attles said the big problem was turnovers, which the Bucks converted with disturbing consistancy.

"Turnovers can kill you and it certainly did..." he said. "They're playing a better defense now than they did before, but it is a lot easier to look good on defense when we're throwing the ball away."

Nate Thurmond turned in a 21 point and 21 rebound perform-

First Big League Strike Considered 'Traumatic'

NEW YORK (UPI) —John Gaherin calls it "a traumatic experience." Marvin Miller is playing a pat hand. Ballplayers continue to pack and make a mass exodus from the Florida sunshine.

The baseball strike is on for real.

Miller, executive director of the Players Association, and Gaherin, chief counsel for the club owners, met for 90 minutes Sunday, a meeting Gaherin described as "informal."

"There's been no progress," said Gaherin. "The separation between the two parties hasn't narrowed although we spent today trying to narrow it. The main issues remain the same."

The major league players, who voted by a 47-0 margin Friday to go on strike, are seeking a 17 per cent increase in the pension fund, amounting to $1,072,000. The players insist this amount is necessary to bring the plan up to cost-of-living parity with what it was worth at the time of the last contract three years ago.

The players want the club owners to fork over $817,000 they claim is available through a surplus created by increased rates on interest loans, overfunding and overestimating payments for disabled players. The players contend if the owners free the $817,000, then each club would have to add only $11,000 to the pension plan to raise it to the $1,072,000 level.

Gaherin said that the owners have already made their annual contribution of $5.4 million to the fund and have also offered a $400,000 addition to the health benefit part of the plan.

Certain owners have suggested that to free the $817,000 for the fund would be impractical and would undermine the plan.

The owners want the entire pension plan brought under the scrutiny of a panel of actuaries acceptable to both parties.

"The recommendations of the actuaries will be examined in good faith (by the owners) and then we'll make our recommendations," said Gaherin. "We may approve of some parts of the program and disapprove of others."

Both sides also stood fast on the issue of arbitration. Miller is adamant on the side of a neutral arbitrator. The owners are dead set against it.

"We think this matter should be decided by collective bargaining," maintained Gaherin. "We do not want to transfer the issue to a third party who has no real authority over our business and doesn't know its ins and outs."

The players had previously agreed to halt the strike if the owners would consent to binding arbitration through a third party.

The strike has shut down all spring training operations and forced cancellation of all exhibition games since Saturday. The Houston Astros-Cincinnati Reds season opener, scheduled for Wednesday, now seems highly unlikely.

Gaherin thought it unfortunate that the issue had reached a point where the players felt it necessary to strike.

"The players simply misunderstand the situation," said Gaherin, "and the positions of the clubs have not been clearly stated in reporting.

"The position we're taking is designed to preserve benefits the players now have. Not a single major league player will be deprived of a benefit in 1972 that he had in 1971. Considering the fact that we're willing to subject the whole pension system to a close examination, why should there be a strike? I don't know."

Presidents Joe Cronin of the American League and Chub Feeney of the National were not present at Sunday's talks, but are expected to be at today's formal session, at which miller is expected to be accompanied by counsel and some player representatives.

Giants Arrive Home

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco Giants are back in town but strictly out of uniform.

The Giants returned home Saturday night, thanks to owner Horace Stoneham.

The players requested to be sent home from Arizona as a team following the baseball strike and Stoneham agreed.

More than half the 25-man squad lives in the Bay Area and those with homes here invited out-of-town teammates to bunk in with them until the strike is over.

"We wanted to be close by so that we will be ready to go when the strike is settled," said Willie Mays. "If we scattered all over the country it might take a few days to get us all together again. We owe it to Mr. Stoneham to be ready to play as soon as possible."

Stoneham agreed to pay the way home but stipulated the players would have to pay their way back to wherever the squad is slated to play when the strike ends.

Some players who live outside the area would have found going home costly.

Outfielder Jimmy Rosario, for instance, would have had to pay his way back from Puerto Rico.

The Giants go to Candlestick Park today to claim personal luggage sent from Yuma.

After that, the park is off limits to them and they can't wear the Giants' uniform in impromptu workouts at local parks, on resident lawns or street corners.

Meanwhile, a controversy developed in the Giants' ranks over the method of voting used by players in last Tuesday's clubhouse vote.

Pitcher Sam McDowell said the raised-hand method was "unparliamentarian."

McDowell said the vote to strike was "right" but felt a secret ballot should have been used.

Novato Defeats San Rafael In Lacrosse

Paul Meaney scored seven goals as the Novato Parks and Recreation Department lacrosse team defeated San Rafael Parks and Recreation, 19-4, in a preliminary to the game involving Australia Saturday at City College of San Francisco.

Dennis Davidson scored four goals and an assist for Novato and Alan Little added two goals and two assists. Parker Lee had two goals for San Rafael, while Bruce Bell had a goal and an assist.

The powerful touring Australian national team defeated the Northern California Lacrosse Association All-Stars, 16-3, as Brian Griffin scored five goals.

Suburban Splits Doubleheader With Guanella's

Suburban Auto Repair of San Rafael opened its Golden Gate League softball season by splitting a doubleheader with Guanella's of Santa Rosa Saturday night at Hayward Park in San Francisco.

Suburban won the opener, 4-2, as Bill Baxter hit a solo home run and pitcher Morey Swarm helped his own cause by driving in one run and scoring another. Guanella's came back to take the nightcap, 7-4, despite two runs batted in apiece by Nolan Wilson and Greg Schaefer.

The busy Suburban team will open play in the San Francisco League Thursday night against Connection. Suburban has won the San Francisco league seven straight times.

Bunce Leaning To Canada

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)— Quarterback Don Bunce says there is still a possibility he will sign with a National Football League team, but it is looking more and more as if he will play pro ball in Canada.

The late blooming Stanford quarterback has indicated he may sign a three-year contract with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League later this week.

Bunce, who played in the shadow of Jim Plunkett, finally emerged his senior year and convincingly directed Stanford to its second straight Rose Bowl win, 13-12 over Michigan and a 8-3 record.

He talked last week with Washington Redskin coach George Allen, and was promised an opportunity to make the team, but Bunce's position there could again be that of wall flower for two or three years.

Unless "there was a break or two I could see myself serving a three or four year apprenticeship," Bunce said of the Redskins offer. "In terms of a long range view, there's a definite opportunity. But that's if I really want a pro career."

IN GOLF

Archer Takes Playoff Win

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) —George Archer hardly needed his vaunted putting skills Sunday as a treacherous water hazard knocked off his two main challengers for the Greater Greensboro Open golf title.

Archer already was in the clubhouse with a 12-under-par 272 for 72 holes when Arnold Palmer came upon the par 3, 16th hole at the Sedgefield Country Club course.

Palmer hit his tee shot into a creek and wound up with a triple bogey, finishing a stroke behind Archer and Tommy Aaron, who tied at the end of regulation play.

Archer and Aaron, thrust into a sudden death playoff, passed the first hole at even par and then came up to the 225-yard 16th.

"I hit the green and he hit the water and that's the story," said Archer, a 6-foot-6 former ranch hand from Gilroy.

Archer, winning second tournament of the year and his second Greensboro open, walked away with a $40,000 check that put him second only to Jack Nicklaus in season winnings.

He captured the year's inaugural tour event, the Los Angeles Open, by beating Aaron and Dave Hill in an 18-hole playoff. He won at Greensboro in 1967 with a 267 total.

Archer and Aaron both began the weather-troubled $200,000 event unimpressively, Archer beating par 71 on the 7,032-yard course by only a stroke and Aaron able to do no better than match it. Rain delayed the second round of the 35-year-old tournament by a day, however, and the layoff proved beneficial to both.

Aaron shot a 67 when the second round finally was played Saturday, then proceeded to add two more 67's in Sunday's double round. Archer had a 68 Saturday, but found the 31-degree weather of Easter Sunday morning invigorating, and laid down a five-under 66. In the afternoon round, he had a 68.

Palmer, trailing second round leader Bruce Crampton by three strokes, shot a 68 in the morning round to come within a stroke of Crampton, who had to scramble for a 71.

South African Gary Player, winner of the greater New Orleans open two weeks ago, was bunched with Palmer and Julius Boros at 10-under 203 after the third round.

But Player, with only 34 minutes between rounds for lunch, hurried off the course without signing his scorecard and was disqualified.

"The rule is that once you leave the tent without signing your card, you are disqualified," said Player. "You have a set of rules in life and you must abide by them."

Palmer, his confidence bolstered by contact lenses, moved out front by two strokes in the final round, when Archer and Aaron already were finished, stroking in birdie putts on back-to-back holes.

His lead vanished, though, on the very next hole, the troublesome 16th.

As a national television audience and a gallery estimated at 26,000 watched, Palmer hit his tee shot into the creek, blasted out behind a sand trap, hit into the bunker and ended up two-putting for a triple bogey.

He finished in a four-way tie for third with big J.C. Snead, Puerto Rican Chi Chi Rodriguez and Dave Stockton. All wound up at 11-under 273 for the tournament.

Two strokes behind them were Jacksonville Open winner Tony Jacklin, Boros and Crampton, who ballooned to a 73 on the 18-hole finale.

Lee Trevino, the 1971 player of the year in pro golf, had rounds of 71 and 70 Sunday after teeing off at 6:15 a.m. (EST) in the subfreezing weather, finishing eight strokes back in a group at 280.

"Maybe we can get the Jaycees (who cosponsor the tournament) to find another date for this tournament," he half-jokingly told a shivering gallery.

Marin 'Cats Top Aptos In Baseball

Jim Lowe came out of the bullpen to stave off a seventh-inning rally by Aptos High School of Santa Cruz Saturday and preserve a 3-2 baseball victory for Marin Catholic.

The triumph gave the Marin 'Cats third place in the Soquel Boosters tournament and improved their over-all record to 11-3.

Lowe entered with two runners on base and one out and induced a pop-up and strikeout. The winning pitcher was Mickey Simmons, who singled home what proved to be the winning run in the third inning.

Steve Sherry led off with a double. Paul Riccardi singled him home, and after a walk, Simmons singled home Riccardi.

Sherry made the all-tournament team.

HODGES DEAD

Baseball Mourns Loss

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—"He was among a breed of ballplayers who, I guess, will pass out one by one. They were the ballplayers the public loved. Everybody loved them."

Thus, Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, delivered the perfect eulogy to Gil Hodges, former Dodger star and current manager of the New York Mets who died suddenly Sunday of a heart attack just two days before his 48th birthday.

Hodges, who rose to fame as a slugging first baseman with the Brooklyn Dodgers during the early 1950's and gained world-wide notoriety by managing the Mets to the "miracle" world championship in 1969, collapsed and died following a round of golf with Met coaches Eddie Yost, Joe Pignatano and Rube Walker.

The Mets' manager was rushed to Good Samaritan Hospital where Dr. James Smith, a local obstetrician inserted a tube in his throat and a needle in his heart in an effort to save his life. However, a cardiogram showed a complete arrest of the heart and an examination disclosed that the pupils of his eyes were dilated. He was pronounced dead at 5:45 p.m., 45 minutes after he had fallen.

GIL HODGES
Dead at 47

His body was to be flown back to New York today with funeral services scheduled for Wednesday or Thursday. He is survived by his wife, Joan; three daughters, Irene, Cynthia and Barbara; and a son, Gil Jr., who is a minor league player in the Mets' farm system.

Hodges' tragic death came just one day after the major league players took an angry stand against their owners by going out on strike. The strike had forced all teams to shut down their spring training camps and Hodges had stopped off in West Palm Beach for a round of golf before heading for his home in New York.

Hodges, a big, strong man of 6-feet-2 who during hs playing days weighed 210 pounds, had shaken off a heart attack that hospitalized him four years ago. In September of 1968, Hodges had a heart attack during a game at Atlanta and spent most of the winter in the hospital convalescing. Over the last four years he had been in good physical health.

The entire baseball world expressed great shock over Hodges' death, and his former teammates and managers all agreed that the game had lost one of its nicest people.

"We roomed together for many years and I don't think there was a finer gentleman than Gil," said Pee Wee Reese, a teammate of Hodges' during his Brooklyn days.

"He was an unusually fine

China Ping Pong Team May Stop In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Chinese table tennis team, complete with three-time world champion Chuang Tse-tung, may include San Francisco in its tour of the United States.

The ping pong team, currently on a tour of Canada, calls on the U.S. beginning April 10 in Detroit.

But a spokesman for a welcoming committee made up of 148 local organizations, said further correspondence with the Chinese indicates they will also make a stop in Chinatown for a series of matches with Northern California's finest table tennis players.

Terra Linda Lad Defies Handicap

The next time you hear about a big-league ballplayer missing a game because he's tired or has a minor injury, consider Tracy Caldwell.

Tracy is nine years old. He plays baseball in Terra Linda. He has cerebral palsy.

"We were told at birth he wouldn't be able to walk," said his father, Edwin T. "He has exceeded our wildest imaginations and dreams."

Although still wearing braces on both legs, Tracy pitches and plays centerfield for the Wolves team in the Pee Wee League of the Terra Linda Athletic Association. He is not a star, but he is there, and his father gives a lot of the credit to Tracy's older brother, Michael.

"He has kind of been an inspiration to Tracy," said the elder Caldwell. He plays catch with him all the time and helps him out." Michael, 12, has been playing ball for three years and is now in a junior league in Terra Linda.

A desire to emulate Michael was the reason Tracy decided three months to try out for the team, said the father. "At first we had some doubts," he said. "We didn't want to see Tracy get hurt. But we resolved any doubts we had. We went along with him and now we're happy we did."

A couple of rules changes have been implemented to help Tracy, the most important being a substitute runner who takes off from home plate after Tracy hits the ball. In the field, Tracy is on his own. "The other two outfielders kind of come over and give him an assist," said his father.

Far from resenting Tracy, the team has welcomed him. "The other kids are just fantastic. They are absolutely encouraging to him."

The league has been cooperative, too. "The attitude of Dennis Kim (league commissioner) and Jean La Coste (president of the board of directors of the TLAA) was fantastic," said Caldwell. "They were perfectly willing to make the rules changes. He thought it was great that while some other kids were reluctant to come out, Tracy would make this effort."

Playing baseball is good therapy, Caldwell feels, "since it encourages Tracy to walk and run. He's a little weak yet, and when he's pitching he has a balance problem and can't get his body behind the ball. He throws strictly with his wrist."

Although he never played before, Tracy is a zealous fan. "It's unreal," said his father. "He cherishes baseball cards like prize possessions from outer space. He's a Giants fan, and we take him to at least three or four games a year."

After having overcome a handicap like he has, however, Tracy may start having a few fans of his own.

But a balanced scoring attack fronted by the Bucks spelled the difference. Bob Dandridge had 23 and guard's Lucius Allen and Oscar Robertson netted 21 and 20 respectively to keep the Milwaukee point machine oiled throughout the night.

"I've said all along that holding Jabbar in check isn't all the answer," Attles said. "Neither can we win by leaving the scoring up to Thurmond. The others have to get in their shots too or we can't do it."

Ex-Dodger Great Hodges Dies After Heart Attack

person who had the mark of leadership, sincerity and integrity," said O'Malley. "Everyone who knew him respected him. Baseball has lost one of its finest persons."

Hodges' death also came less than a week after another former Dodger teammate, Roy Campanella, suffered an embolism. Campanella is still in serious condition in a Valhalla, N.Y., hospital with a blood clot on the lung.

During his playing days there was probably no one who was loved by the fans as much as Hodges. A powerful hitter and a gifted fielder, he belted 370 career homers during his 17 big league seasons from 1947-63 and was the all-star first baseman in six of those seasons. He helped the Dodgers to seven pennants and two world championships during his 15 years with them, but the thing that endeared him most to Dodger fans was his easy-going manner and the fact that he made his home in Brooklyn while other members of the team rushed to the suburbs.

When the Dodgers moved to Los Angeles in 1958, Hodges went along and was instrumental in their world hampionship season of 1959. The Dodgers, however, placed the aging slugger in the expansion draft in 1961 and the Mets, looking to spice their roster with a few "names," grabbed him. Hodges spent the last two years of his career with the Mets but was traded to Washington for Jimmy Piersall on May 22, 1963.

The Senators immediately named him manager to replace Mickey Vernon, and in his five seasons with the Senators he gained respect as one of baseball's most astute managers. The Senators improved in each of Hodges' five seasons there, but he saw an opportunity to return to New York after the 1967 season and the Mets asked and received permission from Washington to negotiate with him.

The Mets, who had been a perennial cellar-dweller prior to Hodges' arrival on the scene, finished ninth in 1968 but astrounded the baseball world the following year by winning the world championship. The amazing victory was hailed by Time magazine as "a fable for our time."

Hodges established a National League record of 14 grand slam home runs during his career and he equalled the all-time major league record of four home runs in a game on Aug. 31, 1950.

Cleveland Peddles Ford For 2 Texans

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians today traded outfielder Ted Ford to the Texas Rangers for outfielders Tom McCraw and Roy Foster.

Foster was traded to the Rangers by the Indians just four months ago.

McCraw, 32, broke into the majors in 1963 with the Chicago White Sox and was traded to the Washington Senators on March 29, 1971. The Senators moved to Arlington, Tex. after the 1971 season and have been re-named.

McCraw appeared in 122 games for Washington last year, hitting .213.

Foster, 26, who has been the property of six major league teams, was named rookie of the year by The Sporting News in 1970 when he hit .268 with 23 home runs. Last year he hit .245 with 18 home runs and 45 runs batted in for the Tribe.

Ford, 24, shuttled between Cleveland and the Class AAA Wichita Aeros last season. In 74 games with the Indians he batted .194, but hit .329 for Wichita.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

A 16-pound ball isn't meant for everybody. While it is true that some standout women bowlers use a ball weighing the maximum of 16 pounds, not every male should go to that weight. For one reason or another, a 14- or 15-pound ball might suit you better, and if so, don't hesitate to switch to it. Incidentally, some of the male pros use a ball weighing a pound or more under the legal limit.

Seattle To Seek New Coach

SEATTLE (UPI) —The Seattle SuperSonics today were in the market for a new coach as former player-coach Lenny Wilkens, 34, announced he wants to specialize.

Wilkens said Sunday he has decided to give up the coaching job and continue as a player with the National Basketball Association Sonics.

"I feel that I can continue to make a valuable contribution to the Seattle SuperSonics as a player next season and in the future," he said. "And when the time comes for me to retire as a player, I hope to resume my coaching career."

Sonics president Sam Schulman had mixed emotions regarding Wilkens' decision. But he said he has asked Wilkens to assist him and general manager Bob Houbregs in the search for a new coach.

Wilkens served as player-coach for three years at Seattle. The team had its finest year in the NBA this past season, dropping out of playoff contention only at the end after several key men were lost through injuries.

Lakers Need 9 More Wins

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Los Angeles Lakers, who set a regular season record of 33 straight victories, need only nine more wins before laying claim to the National Basketball Association playoff championship.

Los Angeles was off to a good start in quest of its goal after a 108-101 triumph Sunday over the Chicago Bulls that gave the Lakers a 3-0 lead in the Western Conference semifinal series.

The Lakers received a 31-point effort from Jerry West and a 23-point performance from backcourt mate Gail Goodrich in the nationally televised game.

In other playoff action, Boston took a 2-1 lead over Atlanta with a 136-113 victory and New York squared its series with Baltimore at 1-1 on a 110-88 decision. Idle Milwaukee leads Golden State 2-1 in the other series.

"We're not beaten yet," said Chicago coach Dick Motta. "I'm not ashamed of the way we've played."

Los Angeles coach Bill Sharman was magnanimous in his praise of the Bulls, calling the Chicago game, "a 110 per cent effort."

Chicago rallied to tie the game at 58 in the third period and kept within three points of Los Angeles for most of the fourth period. But each time the Bulls came close again, West would connect on a long jumper to take the pressure off Los Angeles.

Chicago's usually productive forward starters continued to be hampered by leg injuries. Bob Love scored 15 points and Chet Walker, who had the NBA season high of 56 points, netted only four. Norm Van Lier led the Bulls with 22 points.

John Havlicek and Jo Jo White combined for 60 points against Atlanta as the Celtics gained the series lead over the Hawks.

Havlicek sparked a 41-point Boston second period with 13 of his 31 points. White added 29.

Atlanta coach Richie Guerin credited the Boston bench's contribution during the second quarter drive with turning the tide for the Celtics.

"They ran away with (center Dave) Cowens on the bench," Guerin said. Henry Finkel, subbing for the Celtic's starting pivotman, scored four baskets and grabbed six rebounds during the Boston bombardment.

"We got the rebounds and turned them into baskets," Havlicek commented.

Pete Maravich led Atlanta with 37 points and Walt Ballamy added 21. Lou Hudson, who averaged 35 points for the first two games, was held to 19.

New York used the cheering of 19,588 fans for Earl Monroe to its best psychological advantage as the Knicks routed Baltimore. Monroe, an ex-Bullet star, was resoundingly booed in Baltimore Friday night and coach Red Holzman figured he would start "The Pearl" to get a crowd reaction.

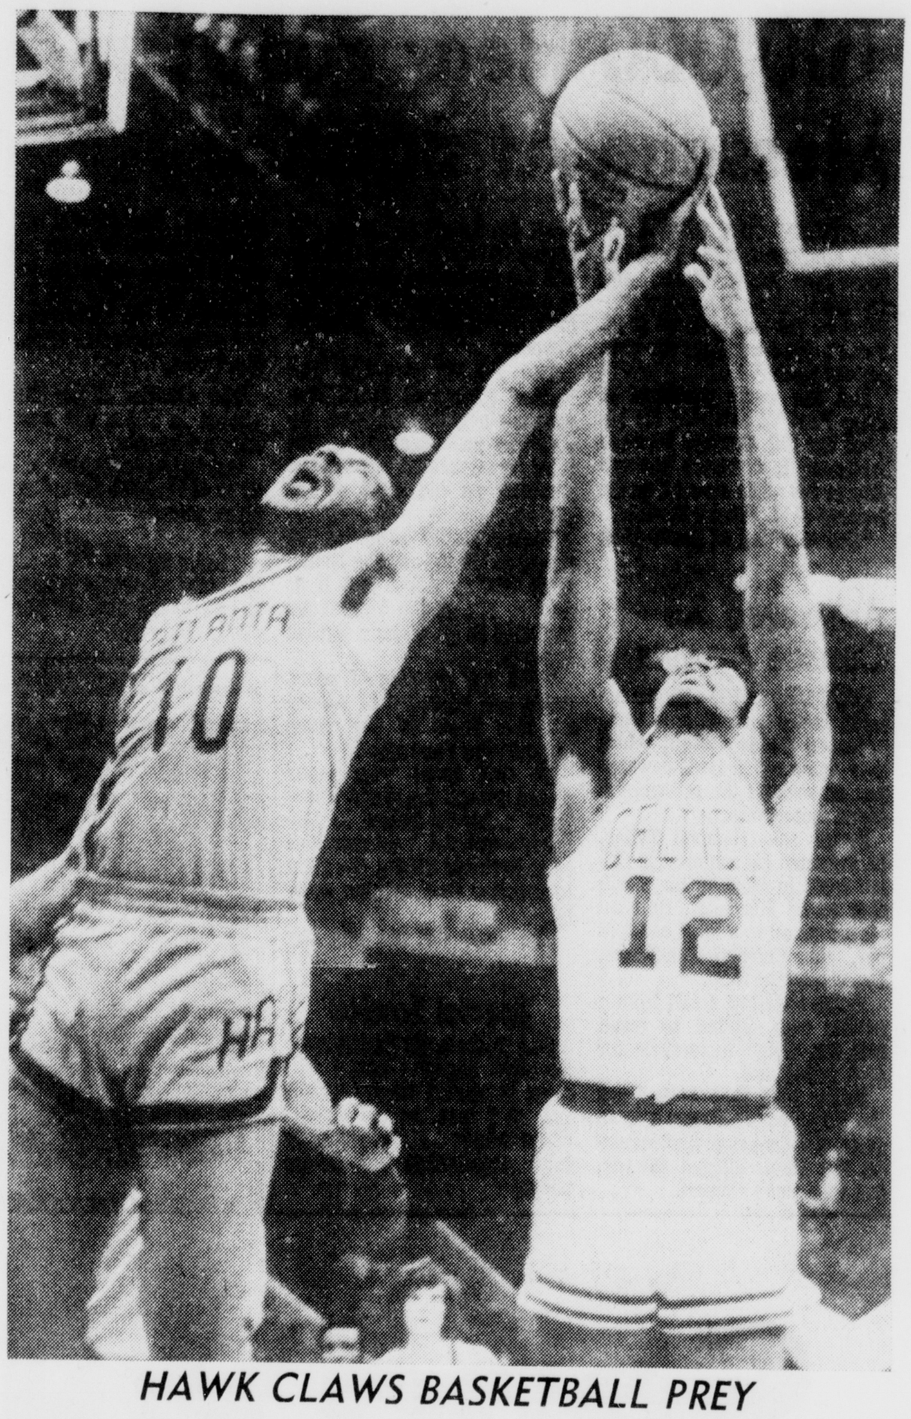
The Knicks responded as Walt Frazier scored 30 points and Dave DeBusschere netted 29. They also combined for 25 rebounds, only 12 less than the entire Baltimore output.

Archie Clark, whose deft penetration of the New York middle lane in the opener led to a 38-point performance, was held to 18 by a steady Knick defense.

"We like to run," explained Baltimore Coach Gene Shue, "but our fast break was nonexistent against a switching defense."

DeBusschere said the Knick board control cut down Baltimore's chances for the long outlet pass.

All series resume Tuesday night, with New York at Baltimore, Boston at Atlanta, Los Angeles at Chicago and Milwaukee at Golden State.



HAWK CLAWS BASKETBALL PREY

Atlanta Hawk performer Don Adams (10) battled Boston Celtic Don Chaney for the basketball last night in first period National Basketball Association playoff action. The host Celtics walloped the Hawks, 136-113.

But Sabich, last year's Lange Cup and top money winner, had already wrapped up top money honors for the current season.

2 Marin Cyclists Win Time Trials

Nets Beat Kentucky; Floridians Thrashed

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

The New York Nets conducted a course in basketball technique Saturday night with the American Basketball Association's best team, the Kentucky Colonels, acting as the reluctant pupil.

The Nets, playing what coach Lou Carnesecca called "their greatest game in history," upset the powerful Colonels, 122-108, to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Division first round playoff series.

In other playoff action Saturday, Virginia defeated the Floridians, 125-100, to take a 2-0 lead in their Eastern Division series at one game apiece; and Utah topped Dallas, 106-96, to take a 1-0 lead in their Western Division series.

Utah and Dallas meet again tonight at Salt Lake City in the only game.

The Colonels, who set an ABA record with 68 victories this season, were outplayed in every facet of the game by a hustling Nets' team, which was playing without star guard Bill Melchionni.

The Nets outrebounded their taller opponents, 50-41; hit on 57.3 per cent of their field goal attempts, connected on 96.6 per cent of their free throws and lost the ball on only nine occasions.

"If a young coach was here this evening this was a clinic," said Carnesecca. "It was the best game by far in the team's five-year history. We got movement, hit the open man and we hit our shots. Everything perfect."

Rick Barry and John Roche were the individual stars for the Nets, who meet the Colonels in game No. 2 Tuesday night at Louisville. Barry scored a club playoff record 50 points while Roche, taking over Melchionni's leadership duties, tallied 31 points and added eight assists.

"Barry sure played differently than in our previous games with the Nets this season," said Colonels' coach Joe Mullaney. "He wasn't really aggressive offensively during our 11-game series. He never seemed to go after the ball. Tonight was a different story."

Adrian Smith, a 10-year veteran of the rival National Basketball Association, was the hero for Virginia in its victory over the Floridians. Smith came off the bench to score 24 points, 15 of them in the first half when the Squires built a 59-44 lead. The two teams meet in game No. 3 at Miami on Tuesday night.

Catlett Named Cage Coach

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Gale Catlett, 31, assistant basket ball coach at the University of Kentucky, will become the head basketball coach at the University of Cincinnati, it was learned today.

Cincinnati Athletic Director George Smith called a news conference this morning to announce the appointment of Catlett, who succeeds Tay Baker.

Catlett, a native of Hedgesville, W. Va., attended West Virginia University and cocaptained the Mountaineer basketball team his senior year in 1963.

He was an assistant coach at Richmond for three years and then at Davidson for one year, after four years as freshman coach at Kansas, Catlett came to Kentucky last year.

He and Joe Hall assisted head Kentucky head coach Adolph Rupp. Hall last week was named to succeed Rupp.

Baker, who held the head coaching job at Cincinnati for seven seasons, announced his resignation last Feb. Baker's teams compiled a 125-60 record. He will remain at the school as a full-time physical education instructor.

Marin 'Cats Win

100,000 Hear Pope's Message At Basilica

VATICAN CITY (UPI)— Before him, shoulder to shoulder, more than 100,000 pilgrims and tourists massed in brilliant sunshine on the cobblestones of St. Peter's Square to hear the message of Easter.

But the warm greetings of Pope Paul VI extended far beyond the 17th Century Baroque landmark from where he stood clad in his white cassock on the balcony of St. Peter's Basilica.

"Our greeting of peace goes even further," he said. "It wishes to reach where there is still the conflict of war, hatred, bloodshed, destruction and ever more numerous and murderous weaponry ..."

The Pope's message and Easter greetings in 17 languages—including Chinese, Vietnamese and Ukrainian—came after he celebrated Mass in the sunshine on the steps of the basilica.

Vatican Radio estimated the crowd at 120,000 and the Italian news agency ANSA put it at 200,000, one of the biggest assemblies in St. Peter's Square in years.

"Will our greeting of peace reach our churches of silence on this feast of the risen Christ?" the Pope asked.

He said there were many places around the world where there exist-"or rather ... languish"—faithful communities or individuals denied the right to practice their religion openly.

The Pope did not cite any locations, but reports at the Vatican indicate persecutions and religious curbs in nations ranging from Zaire and Guinea in Africa to the Lithuanian and Ukrainian Republics of the Soviet Union.

The situation of the Catholic church in China has been unknown for years.

The 74-year-old spiritual leader of 633 million Catholics said some persons might think his Easter wish is unchanging.

"Yes," he said, "it is always the same ...because in us and in the world the need for peace is always the same."

Answered Ad Causes Arrests

CHICAGO (UPI)—Three alleged motorcycle thieves were arrested Sunday night when they answered a local newspaper ad seeking the return of a stolen motorcycle.

Police said Harmon Tyllas, 22, reported his motorcycle stolen from in front of his North Side home March 17. He then placed an ad in a local newspaper, the Chicago Sun-Times, concerning the theft.

Tyllas received a call from a person who offered to resell him the stolen motorcycle for $150, police said.

Police said they staked out the place where Tyllas was to make the exchange and arrested the three alleged thieves, two men and a woman.

Fleeing Robbery Suspect Shot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A suspected robber was shot and killed by a plainclothes police officer when he pulled a gun after allegedly committing a $1.15 holdup. The gun later was found to be unloaded.

Police said the unidentified suspect approached two groups of hitchhikers and demanded money. One hitchhiker thought it was an April Fool's joke until the gunman pushed him against a wall and slapped him on the mouth with the gun, according to police.

Plainclothes officer Ernest Maggio said he ordered the fleeing youth to halt three times, then fired once when the youth turned around holding the gun. Maggio's shot hit the youth in the chest.

The youth was identified, hours after his death, as Otis S. Scarborough, 17, of San Francisco.

Rattlesnakes Are Waking Up Early

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—A 16-year-old boy, the third person in a week in the Los Angeles area to be bitten by rattlesnakes brought out of their holes by unseasonal weather, was in satisfactory condition today.

John Sargent was bitten on the left hand by a three-foot rattler in the garden of his home Saturday. A police helicopter rushed antivenom from a Saugus, Calif., hospital to treat him at Granada Hills Community Hospital, where he was listed at one point as in critical condition.

Berlin Visits: The Guards Are Pleasant

BERLIN (UPI)—East German border guards, usually coldly polite at best, have controlled the flood of West Berliners pouring through nine crossing points in the wall efficiently and at times courteously.

The sight or the photographs of mothers sobbing in the arms of their children, of grandparents greeting their grandchildren for the first time, of brothers and sisters embracing in the shadows of a wall dividing a city have touched nearly all.

Several hundred thousand West Berliners lived Easter Sunday with their friends and relatives in East Berlin for the first time in six years. For those who went beyond—to Dresden, Weimar, Potsdam and other cities inside East Germany—it was their first Easter reunion in 20 years.

"This is what the policy of lessening tension means for Berlin," West Berlin Mayor Klaus Schuetz said. "It is what can be a daily occurrence if the Big Four ambassadors' agreement on Berlin goes into force."

The number of West German visitors to the East for the March 29 to April 5 wall opening was expected to total at least 500,000.

The ambassadors agreement permits West Germans to visit the East for 30 days a year. The Soviet Union, however, has said it will sign the agreement only if the West German nonaggression pacts with Poland and Moscow are ratified by the West German parliament, where they face stiff opposition.

Dr. Guenter Struve, personal aide of Schuetz, a member of the ruling Social Democrats, said, "The fate of Berlin will be decided in Bonn and the decision will be taken only against the bitter opposition of the Christian Democrats."

Ruediger von Wechmar, a spokesman for the Social Democratic-Free Democratic coalition in Bonn, said "The Easter pass agreement is proof of the effectiveness of the East policy of Chancellor Willy Brandt. It shows that the Berlin agreement and its positive effects are not possible without the Eastern treaties."

The East German News service ADN said nuherous West Berliners in the East for Easter visits demanded swift ratification of the nonaggression treaties so they could continue to visit their relations across the wall.

Grant Nelson, 141 Michelle Court, Novato has told San Rafael police that a repair shop failed to return his 1964 Triumph motorcycle.

Nelson said Friday he took the motorcycle to Nor-Kal Cycle Custom Shop, 196 Market Street, San Rafael, in December and was told to return in a few months. He said when he returned that the repair shop was gone along with his motorcycle. Nelson valued the motorcycle at $3,000.

HIGHWAY WORK STARTS AFTER YEARS OF DISPUTE

A felled tree lies atop Reservoir Hill in Novato (left) while a tall Eucalyptus awaits crews to haul it from the path of the Novato bypass of Highway 101. Freeman-Sondgrath Co. of Palo Alto has begaun clearing the route for the 5.2-mile, $14 million project which has been delayed for more than a decade by disputes over the route and last ditch efforts by conservationists to stop the highway pending an impact study. The highway will cut through the hill and cross Olive and Atherton avenues (left photo) to rejoin the existing highway in the distance. From the south (right) the highway bypass will cross the marsh in the distance and Railroad Avenue (behind the buildings at right) before running through the hill.

Dollar Devalued: Gold Is Worth $38 An Ounce

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon signed legislation Monday to provide the first formal devaluation of the dollar since 1934.

In signing a bill increasing the official price of gold from $35 to $38 an ounce, Nixon said the move was "a significant step forward in our overall effort for a stronger and more competitive U.S. economy."

The U.S. action was required under a currency realignment agreement reached by non-Communist nations last Dec. 18 in Washington. It is commonly known as the Smithsonian agreement, having been negotiated at a meeting at the Smithsonian Institution.

Paul A. Volcker, Treasury undersecretary for monetary affairs, told newsmen at the White House the formal gold price increase would produce few new results because international money markets have been operating on the devalued dollar since the Smithsonian accord.

Volcker said he did not anticipate any resumption in the near future of convertibility of the dollar into gold. Nixon suspended convertibility last Aug. 15 as part of his new economic policy.

Nixon's signature on the bill immediately added $828 million to the value of the gold held by the Treasury.

Volcker said the administration would ask Congress to appropriate $1.6 billion to pay for increases in U.S. obligations to the world bank, international monetary fund, and other international lending institutions. But he said the payments were largely bookkeeping transactions and would be spread out over 10 years.

Nixon said in a written statement that dollar devaluation would be coupled with intensified efforts to achieve trade concessions from other nations intended to make U.S. products more competitive in world markets.

"The eventual results of all these efforts will be to restore a healthy trade surplus and a strong financial position for the United States," Nixon said. "This will be not only in our own interest -but in the interest of a prosperous world economy, a stable monetary system and an equitable trading order."

Nixon said dollar devaluation was intended to solve pressing problems but that overall international currency reform was still needed to put the world's money system on a solid basis for the rest of this century.

March Is A Match By IRA

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI — Women supporters of the outlawed Irish Republican Army IRA today turned a propeace meeting in Belfast's Roman Catholic Andersonstown district into a free-for-all shoving match.

It was the first incident of trouble reported during a day of mass, simultaneous demonstrations by both Protestants and Catholics around the northern province, marking the end of the long Easter weekend. Earlier, however, 10 persons were injured when a bomb exploded in a truck outside a provincial postoffice Sunday night.

Waving placards, about 500 women marched from the funeral of Mrs. Martha Crawford, a 39-year-old mother of 10 who was slain in a crossfire Thursday, to a meeting in the volatile district.

Mrs. Brigid Miller, one of the organizations, told the crowd when they had assembled in a Catholic school hall, "We want peace," but the angry women retorted, "You won't get peace at any price. We support the Provos the militant Provisional Wing of the IRA."

When Mrs. Miller tried to protest, she was drowned out by boos and catcalls. Chairs were knocked over and the women jostled and pushed each other. No injuries were reported.

The Protestant apprentice boys organization gathered for a rally today at Carrickfergus, a seaside resort northeast of Belfast, to commemorate the landing in 1690 of King William of Orange.

The king crossed the Irish Sea, landing at Carrickfergus, to conquer Ireland and assert British Protestant domination that in the north still prevails.

In the main Catholic demonstration at Armagh, the spiritual capital of all Ireland, Republican leaders called for a mass march through the cathedral city's Catholic areas.

An army spokesman said 10 persons including six children suffered injuries in the bomb blast at Magherafelt, 30 miles northwest of the northern capital after a 15-minute warning to police by an anonymous caller.

All of the injured were in a building next door, the spgkesman said, and were cut by flying glass.

Kitty Hawk Off Vietnam's Coast

50 Carrier Planes Strike Red Armor

SAIGON (UPI)—The aircraft carrier Kitty Hawk, recalled from shore leave in the Philippines, arrived off Vietnam today and its 50 planes were ordered into action immediately against North Vietnamese armored columns which have speared 15 miles into South Vietnam.

A second carrier, the Constellation, was ordered from leave in Japan with the guided missile cruiser Oklahoma City to join two other carriers on Yankee Station. It would be the greatest concentration of U.S. naval might since end of the bombing halt in 1968.

The Kitty Hawk sped to Yankee Station from Subic Bay after the U.S. command warned Hanoi it would take "precautionary actions" to protect American lives in South Vietnam. Such warnings in the past have preceded heavy bombing offensives against North Vietnam.

The four carriers plus air force fighter-bombers based elsewhere in Vietnam and Thailand would enable the United States to send as many as 500 planes against the Communist forces.

In Paris, the Viet Cong today denied any North Vietnamese troops were fighting in the current Communist offensive in the northern region of South Vietnam and demanded the United States return to the negotiating table to continue the Vietnam peace talks.

Ly Van Sau, spokesman of the Viet Cong delegation at the Paris talks, said instead of negotiating, the United States was threatening to step up the air war in both North and South Vietnam.

"This pretended presence of North Vietnamese troops is the well-known U.S. argument to explain the rout of the puppet South Vietnamese army and to justify their threats to restart the bombing against North Vietnam," Sau said.

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu stripped Saigon, Hue and Da Nang of all but their garrison forces today and flew 10,000 government troops to Quang Tri to try to roll back the Communist invasion.

Hanoi Radio reported that North Vietnamese antiaircraft gunners had shot down a B52 bombing "populated areas" just north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ). The U.S. command in Saigon denied the report.

The Communists now hold the northern half of Quang Tri province just below the DMZ and front dispatches said

State Atom-Plant Controls Haltered By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court barred states today from setting tougher radiation controls on nuclear power plants than regulations used by the federal government.

Without comment, the Court affirmed lower court rulings to that effect handed down in a Minnesota test case. Several other states had joined Minnesota's bid to establish the rights of states to supersede the federal government in the field.

The Court also:

—Struck down by a 5-2 vote an Illinois law which denied unwed fathers the same automatic custody rights to their children allowed mothers and married fathers. Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice Harry A. Blackmun strongly dissented.

—Let stand a decision in a Minnesota case that a state could deny employment to a homosexual who pursues "an activist role in implementing his unconventional ideas." The issue had been appealed by a Minneapolis man who had taken out a wedding license to marry another van.

—Ordered a three-judge special federal panel to conduct hearings on a challenge of an Indiana law which delays payments of assistance to dependent children until their parents have been separated six months.

—Agreed to review an Illinois Supreme Court decision which struck down a voter-approved constitutional amendment eliminating personal property taxes for individuals.

Agreed to decide whether payments into a retirement trust fund set up for a medical partnership are taxable at the time they are made or not until the doctor starts to collect his share.

The Justice Department appealed after two lower courts in California set the later time as the right one.

The Justice Department said 568 tax cases in California and Oregon were being held open pending final disposition of the test case. They involve about

Sausalito Council Vows Own Police 'Quota System' Probe

By PAT ANGLE

The Sausalito City Council will conduct its own investigation of the city's police department while the Marin County Grand Jury probes further into department operations and procedures.

The council, after meeting in closed session for approximately two hours Saturday, appointed Councilmen Earl F. Dunphy and Stephen A. Fraser as a committee to probe not only charges contained in the recent grand jury report on Sausalito police but others reported "in press publications."

Meanwhile the head of the grand jury subcommittee whose report the jury adopted announced that the subcommittee was broadening its investigation "because significant numbers of Sausalito citizens" had complained about failure of the city council and administration to act in connection with police problems.

Last Monday, the jury released a report accusing the department of having the equivalent of a quota system of arrests, criticizing lack of leadership in the department and recommending that Chief James D. Wright and his two top subordinates be fired.

The report — prepared by a jury subcommittee which investigated Sausalito police for eight months — did not comment on other allegations on which the jury foreman said no testimony was heard: allegations of brutality by some officers, illegal activities, dishonesty of operations and special favors to individuals.

City Mgr. Albert St. Cyr said the council asked the grand jury subcommittee which studied the police situation to give it transcripts of the oral testimony heard during the investigation, as well as "any other legal evidence" against the department.

The council also requested a meeting with the jury subcommittee to be held approximately two weeks after the transcripts and evidence have been received.

IRS Seeks More Tax Cheaters Now

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The nation's top tax collector has revealed a crackdown on unscrupulous tax preparation services and predicted a record number of tax cheaters will be caught this year.

Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Johnnie M. Walters said investigations had begun or would soon start of professional preparers of income tax returns who are cheating both their clients and the government.

Walters evaluated the job of the professional income tax preparer, a service now being used by millions of taxpayers:

"Some of them do a good job. Many of them do a lousy job. Some of them are unscrupulous and we presently are engaged in a nationwide effort to do something about this and we are presently prosecuting a good number of unscrupulous tax return preparers.

"No, we're not against all preparers. Those who do a good job serve well both the taxpayer and the service and we're for them. However, the unscrupulous ones who gouge taxpayers and falsely advertise and falsely prepare returns we are against."

Tax returns are prepared by organizations that train employes and advertise for clients and by certified public accountants, who are forbidden by professional codes to advertise.

Walters, in a UPI Washington Window interview Sunday, also predicted that IRS would catch more individual cheaters than any previous year.

Walters said computers were sifting out more returns for special scrutiny than ever before.

The increasing use of computers and "better management of our manpower" was cited by Walters as reasons for better auditing of returns despite added burdens on IRS personnel.

IRS agents are responsible for supervising the wage-price controls of the inflation-control program that began in November and for helping federal authorities catch drug pushers on income tax evasion charges.

Contracts Suspended By HUD

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Housing and Urban Development Department (HUD) has suspended contracts with Dun and Bradstreet Inc. for credit ratings on single family home mortgages.

Dunn and Bradstreet, the nation's largest credit rating organization was indicted last Wednesday in New York City in connection with an alleged credit scheme that would cost the federal treasury $23 million.

HUD said in a statement revealing the suspension Sunday that earlier reports of losses in the hundreds of millions were inaccurate. Notice of the suspension was made in telegrams last Thursday to Dun and Bradstreet and the Federal Housing Administration's (FHA) 87 regional offices.

FHA, the arm of HUD that underwrites home mortgages, had contracts with Dun and Bradstreet for reports on individual credit standings based on commercial and court records.

FHA Commissioner Eugene A. Gulledge notified FHA officials that "maximum reliance" would be placed on complete checks by FHA of bank references, retail credit and other credit references on applications for FHA home mortgage insurance.

"Effective immediately you are prohibited from relying upon individual credit reports (factual data reports on individuals) supplied by Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., for any single family mortgage insurance transaction," Gulledge said.

The suspension of Dun and Bradstreet reports means that real estate agents writing sales contracts and FHA local officials will have to do the credit checking. It could not be immediately determined whether the change would have the effect of lengthening the time needed to complete a real estate transaction.

Dun and Bradstreet was one of nine corporations, five FHA employes and 35 other individuals indicted on 500 counts of providing alleged false information on credit ratings and property values. The indictments by a New York grand jury followed an 11-month investigation.

The investigation involved the FHA office in Hempstead, Long Island, N.Y. The Hempstead office was responsible for insuring 1,800 properties in 1968 and 1969 that went into default in 11 counties of metropolitan New York City including 1,100 in a Brooklyn slum described by HUD as in "advanced neighborhood deterioration."

The amount of the average per property loss in the two-year span from the Hempstead office was nearly twice the national average of $3,681.41, according to HUD.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Freezing Skin

BOSTON (UPI) — The Shriners Burns Institute announced Sunday development of a process to freeze and preserve human skin for six months, then use it to aid burn victims.

Dr. John F. Burke, chief of staff at the institute located at Massachusetts General Hospital, said the process will replace a method that was capable of keeping skin refrigerated for only two weeks.

In an article in the April issue of MGH News, the hospital's monthly publication, the doctors explained the blood-freezing techniques were applied to the freezing of skin and proved successful.

The skin is frozen in plastic envelopes until it reaches 256 degrees Fahrenheit below zero. More critical than the rate of freezing, however, is the rate of thawing.

Smoking Increases

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In a reversal of earlier forecasts, government economists now see a chance that the average American smoker will be lighting up more cigarettes per day by 1980 than he is now.

One year ago, following three straight years of declining per capita cigarette use, experts predicted consumption would drop from the current rate of near 200 packs a year to about 150 packs by 1980 — a 25 per cent decline.

But in 1971, use recovered to 203 packs per capita and that figure now is expected to hold steady in 1972. As a result, an Agriculture Department report said today, new projections hold out the possibility that 1980 per capita consumption "may fall only slightly from the current level, or even increase slightly, depending on the health issue, prices and the makeup of the population."

Appeal Rejection

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A presidential population commission which recently recommended legalized abortions and eventual zero population growth for the United States has been turned down by the three major television networks in its attempts to buy an hour of prime time to present findings and recommendations.

The Commission on Population Growth and the American Future has appealed the rejection to the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) under the fairness doctrine that requires broadcasters to treat public issues fairly by allowing reasonable opportunity for the presentation of conflicting views.

Ben C. Fisher, attorney for the population panel, argued before the FCC Friday: "It is the position of our commission that publicly responsible groups, such as our commission, should have a limited right, on a paid basis, to access to the national networks for the carriage of programs dealing with major public issues."

Makarios Quitting

NICOSIA (UPI) — Archbishop Makarios will resign from the presidency of Cyprus and he and his archenemy, former guerrilla leader Gen. George Grivas, will support a common candidate during elections to be held immediately after his resignation, a diplomatic source said today.

The source said Makarios and Grivas will meet in Nicosia Tuesday. The source said that the two men have agreed, through a third party, on a common policy for Cyprus to settle the dispute there.

Their meeting will finalize and confirm the policy, the source said.

Dealer Discounts Up

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. has allowed dealers to change the dealer discount structure from 21 per cent to 25 per cent to give them more dollars to play with in haggling with customers over the allowance for trade-ins.

The increase in the dealer discount structure applied to the sticker price on Plymouth Furies and Dodge Polaras, raising it by an average of $185 per car.

A Chrysler spokesman said the net result would permit dealers to raise the sticker prices on Furies and Polaras by 4 per cent but said "it doesn't mean the customer will pay more."

The spokesman said Chrysler advised the federal Price Commission of the proposed change in allowable profit margin.

Recognize Country

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon has decided to extend diplomatic recognition to Bangladesh and will do so in the next few days, administration officials said today.

Nixon reached the decision after reviewing the entire South Asian scene, the officials added, and already has put in motion the diplomatic steps that will lead to formal recognition.

More than 50 nations have recognized Bangladesh, a newly independent country formed from East Pakistan after December's Indo-Pakistan war. During the conflict, the administration said it was remaining neutral although there were claims Nixon tilted policy in favor of Pakistan.

New Constitution

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodian President Lon Nol has "provisionally" approved a new constitution and the document has been circulated among his cabinet ministers for final discussion, government sources said today.

They said Lon Nol hoped to submit the constitution to a referendum before the end of the month.

End Albany Strike

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — State workers ended their Easter weekend strike yesterday, when union bargainers accepted a settlement that included a $60 million pay increase.

The 40-hour strike disrupted work at mental hospitals, state schools and prisons. It ended when representatives of the Civil Service Employes Association accepted the contract offer after a 25-hour bargaining session.

The 140,000 members will vote on the one-year contract by mail.

Climber Dies In Yosemite Plunge

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (UPI)—A young mountain climber died of head injuries suffered when he fell 200 feet from the east side of Yosemite Falls and landed in a tree.

Clifford Thompson, 19, of Fresno, was climbing with his brother, Howard, and an unidentified person on the difficult east side of the falls when he fell late Friday afternoon, park officials said Sunday.

Chief Ranger Jack Morehead said the youths had climbed about 300 feet without ropes when the accident occurred. A park rescue team scaled a near-vertical wall to rescue the other climbers after Thompson fell to his death.

The Reagans Are In Agreement

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The wife of Gov. Ronald Reagan says she and her husband have only "minor differences" politically but are in "complete agreement as to the goals we'd like to reach."

"Even those minor differences are so few that they certainly wouldn't come under the category of 'violent'," Nancy Reagan said Sunday.

Writing in her latest question-and-answer column in the Sacramento Union, the state's first lady said, "We may have minor differences on an approach to a problem, but we're in complete agreement as to the goals we'd like to reach."

Pot Grower Freed; Used As Bird Seed

ROSARIO, Argentina (UPI)—Police released Ernesto Nardoni, 55, without charges Friday although he admitted to cultivating nearly 100 acres of marijuana on his farm.

Nardoni produced documents showing that for 25 years he has sold the weed to the Neal Seed and Cereal Co. of Buenos Aires. A Neal company spokesman said they use it in bird seed.

SDS Staging Comeback Try

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), the radical organization which has lost much of its appeal on college campuses in the past two years, will attempt to rejuvenate itself this spring with a campaign against "racist teaching and racist textbooks."

The planning and strategy of this campaign was the focal point of the SDS national convention which attracted some 1,000 young persons to the Harvard University campus from Thursday through Sunday.

At two lengthy meetings Saturday and Sunday, SDS passed dozens of resolutions to "fight racism" in all spheres of American society, but most of the attention and controversy at the convention surrounded SDS's plans to halt the teaching of so-called "racist theories" on college campuses across the country.

Primary SDS targets are the works of Profs. William Shockley of Stanford, Richard Herrnstein of Harvard and Arthur Jensen of the University of California at Berkeley—all of whom have argued that blacks are genetically inferior to whites.

One of the resolutions approved by the convention calls for organized demonstrations to prevent these and several other professors from speaking on college campuses.

This SDS strategy was attacked by a minority faction, the Revolutionary Communist Youth (RCY), about 100 of whose supporters walked out of the convention in protest Saturday night.

"The SDS leadership is not interested in genuinely combatting racial oppression or reaching the black masses," the RCY said. "The leadership has sold out SDS and a genuine fight against racial oppression to further the careers of liberal professors."

The walkout was the latest of many recent splits in SDS, which broke into several factions at the June 1969 convention. The Progressive Labor (PL) party has controlled the 10-year-old organization since then.

Mayersohn minimized the importance of the walkout, saying the RCY faction was "not interested in building a mass movement of students."

But the split left SDS with fewer than 1,500 members, several times less than its strength in the late 1960s.

150 Persons Dead In Dacca Tornado

DACCA (UPI)—At least 150 people were killed and 360 injured when a 150-mile per hour tornado lashed the Phulbaria area in Mymensingh district about 60 miles north of here Saturday, according to reports reaching Dacca today.

The newspaper Bangladesh Observer said the tornado whipped the area for less than 20 minutes and left behind a trail of destruction.

Tokyo Wary On Kissinger Visit

By ELIZABETH POND
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

TOKYO — Just how bad are the American-Japanese relations which U.S. Presidential Adviser Henry Kissinger is coming to Tokyo to mend?

"Very bad," say some.

"Normal adjustment in transition to a new stage," say others.

And will Kissinger succeed in his mending?

On this point, Tokyo is highly skeptical. Among cognoscenti, Kissinger is viewed as being deaf to Japanese sympathizers in the U.S. (such as former Ambassador Edwin Reischauer) and even less inclined to listen to Japanese, whom he is believed to have little respect for.

Furthermore, he is widely regarded as taking Japan for granted and as being little interested in Japan in his global scheme of things. Japanese are just not sure how receptive Kissinger will be to their ideas.

The view of Japanese-American relations varies of course, with the kind of Japanese one talks to.

The strongly American-oriented mainstream of the ruling Liberal-Democratic party (LDP) and the Foreign Ministry tend to be the most sharply hurt by harsh American treatment. On the other hand, these people also tend to "understand" American actions and see extenuating circumstances more than some of their compatriots.

By contrast, suspicion of American actions seems to be quieter but to run deeper among the less-Americanized leaders.

Thus, in casual conversation one junior diplomat talked about the U.S. with considerable bitterness, and even with tears in his eyes. The gist of his insistent question was, "Why has the U.S. betrayed its most loyal friends?

He was especially aggrieved that America had forced Japan to follow Washington's anti-Peking line for so many years and than had switched suddenly with no prior warning, leaving Tokyo holding the bag.

LDP politicians who are not in Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's camp tend to be less vocal about the U.S., but to harbor a stronger mistrust of the U.S. than the mainstream politicians and diplomats. Not uncommonly, remarks by these men assume that the U.S. rebuff of Japan is deliberate and that from now on Tokyo must increasingly defend its own interests against Washington.

Opinions about Japanese-American relations are also mixed among foreign diplomats and governments.

The White House view, as nearly as one can judge in Tokyo, seems to be that the Japanese always react emotionally anyway and therefore should not be taken too seriously in their protestations about "Nixon shocks." These will be forgotten with time and rational analysis.

Jppan has gotten a free ride for many years, this view continues, and now needs to be pushed into assuming responsibility in Asia commensurate with its economic prominence. There will be some jostling and some bruised feelings, but these will be temporary.

Further, Japan, which sends 30 per cent of its exports to the U.S., has no real choice other than alliance with the U.S., this view assumes.

Some diplomats in Tokyo strongly challenge this view. One western diplomat found the term "communications gap" much too mild to describe current American-Japanese differences.

It's really a "confidence gap," he asserted. "It doesn't matter who you talk to today, whether people in government, business, or old friends; they all say the same things 'what's wrong?' You get negative soundings no matter where you look."

The diplomat faulted the U.S. not so much for the substance of its policies as for gross lack of sensitivity in dealing with Japan.

Asked if he thought Washington was intentionally pushing Japan away, the diplomat answered in the negative. His view was more of that of a "continuing accident."

He did feel the situation held dangers, however, in what might be the eventual reaction of an increasingly self-confident Japan which was being "hammered over the head" by the U.S. "There is a difference," the diplomat suggested dryly, "between hammering and nudging."

He and other sources pointed out a deterioration in the working relationship between Japanese and American diplomats over the past eight months. (But they attributed some of this to the weaknesses of Sato's lame duck administration.)

U.N. — In The Waldheim Fashion

By DAVID WINDER
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Behind the Austrian charm and tailored good looks of Kurt Wald-heim is a determination to be innovative and to be his own boss.

This is the kind of profile emerging of the tall new secretary-general of the U.N., initially taken to be a rather colorless diplomatic figure.

The profile comes into sharper focus following the secretary-general's announcement of upper echelon positions in the international service.

The most interesting appointment is that of a mainland Chinese — yet to be named — to the post of undersecretary-general for political affairs and decolonization. This is in keeping with an unstated policy that the Chinese now should occupy a prestigious post.

The top American position in the U.N. hierarchy goes to Mass-achusetts Republican Congressman F. Bradford Morse, who becomes undersecretary-general for political and General Assembly affairs, in essence replacing the late Ralph J. Bunche.

Early impressions of the appointments indicate a combination of continuity and new blood. But as one has worked closely with the secretary-general, and whose initial negative feelings toward his appointment have undergone a positive change, asked pointedly:

"The appointments are not important. It is what he is going to do to them. Is he going to dominate them? U Thant didn't."

Already, however thare are indications that Waldheim is keeping a tighter rein on his subordinates than U Thant did. And he is reportedly using his own personal style of diplomacy and management to get results.

While U Thant worked quietly and assidously in the administrative channels, Waldheim is much more visible, initiating discussions with ambassadors and diplomats.

Waldheim already knows a lot of people in the secretariat and is personally getting to know the second level. The impression is that he himself will select the right man for a particular job rather than let senior administrators delegate duties.

The big question, however, is how he can remain activist, opinionated (as many see him) and still maintain a balance of goodwill among the big powers.

Because big power consensus or approval is essential to his success, a good deal of attention is being centered on the new political appointments as distinct from economic and social appointments.

Previously, for instance, U Thant learned a great deal on U.S. peace-keeping expert Ralph Bunche, or Guatemalan Jose Rolz-Bennett, to implement sensitive political duties.

The feeling now is that Waldheim may spread this job more. This may explain, said a U.N. official, why so many jobs are now being given a political title.

Indeed, there is a confusing forest of political titles.

Under Waldheim's new arrangements, the most significant political posts will be: undersecretary general for Security Council affairs, held by Leonid Kutakov of the Soviet Union; undersecretary general for political affairs and decolonization, to be assumed by a Chinese; undersecretary-general for political and General Assembly affairs, filled by Morse; undersecretary-general for special political affairs, to be held by Roberto E. Guyer of Argentina.

Bunche's old job is in fact being divided between Morse and Guyer. But there is speculation that neither of them will inherit Bunche's peace-keeping role which is thought likely to go to longtime secretariat hand Brian Urquhart of Britain, who is tipped for early appointment to an assistant secretaryship-general with special responsibility in the peace-keeping area.

The spread of political appointments may be not only politically expedient — a fair share for the major powers — but also reflection perhaps of the secretary-general's concern that no single political department become too powerful and threaten his leadership.

The most important political readjustment is the elevation of the Chinese to a post that now embraces all aspects of decolonization, thus absorbing the previous department of trusteeship and non-self-governing territories.

The American and Soviet posts are somewhat diluted in the reshuffle.

The African department, which up to now has come under Kutakov, now seems likely to be delegated to the Chinese. This shift, when finalized, is expected to clinch Chinese acceptance of the assistant secretary-general post.

The top American post will not have the clout that it did under Bunche. It may explain why such candidates as U.S. Ambassador William Buffum, considered by many the best qualified, turned it down.

Morse will, however, give the Americans a presence on the 38th floor, and his position deprives the Greek legal counsel, Constantin A. Stavropoulos, of General Assembly affairs. The American representation remains strong, moreover, with the retention of the traditional post of undersecretary-general for conference services (Robert Ryan) and their holding down the two top posts in the United Nations Development Program. The administrator is Rudolph Peterson.

Other appointments attracting attention are Helvi Sipila of Finland, the first woman assistant secretary-general, who will direct a new social affairs and humanitarian department; and Genichi Akatani who reflects Japan's more powerful global position by taking the important post of head of the department of information.

R. Imlay was unavailable to comment on the council's actions, but Fraser said the council decided to conduct its own probe "because we felt there was a good deal of public interest and concern on the charges which have been lodged against the police department. We thought it was our responsibility to examine these charges and city policies in general regarding the department."

Fraser said he expects the committee's investigative hearings will be conducted in closed session "because we don't want anyone to be scared to testify. We want to assure all witnesses that what they have to tell will be kept in absolute confidence."

Fraser promised the two-man committee would "make a full, fair and objective investigation. If our findings indicate that action needs to be taken, we will take the appropriate action."

Fraser also said the committee was issuing a public call for witnesses. "We want to hear from anyone and everyone who feels they have evidence," he said.

The grand jury subcommittee which investigated the police announced it will immediately begin investigation of charges against the department not dealt with in its original report, according to chairman Joan G. Boessenecker, who declined to state what allegations would be studied.

Mrs. Boessenecker said the group felt additional investigation was necessary because of the council's refusal to accept the jury's recommendations for dismissal of chief Wright, Capt. R. David Malkin and Lt. William Fraass. Last Tuesday, Mayor Imlay called the suggestions unwarranted by the evidence and accused the jury of interfering in city affairs.

"We believe the council has not reacted to the concerns of the citizens of Sausalito," Mrs. Boessenecker said. "We have excellent additional supporting evidence, above and beyond that contained in our report, showing a lack of proper leadership in the Sausalito department and believe our recommendations were justified.

"We are convinced that any police department that does not have topflight leadership and a chief who can command and inspire his men's respect cannot function," she added.

Mrs. Boessenecker went on to say that "significant numbers of Sausalito citizens have told us they have been unable to receive adequate responses to their complaints against the police department from either the department or the city council."

She suggested that anyone with complaints about their treatment by the department or with department policies write a brief summary of their grievances to the grand jury's Administration of Justice Committee at the Marin County Civic Center so they can be available as witnesses if the subcommittee wants to call them.

Today, over the objections of two city councilmen, the council released a brief rebuttal of the allegations contained in the original jury report. Councilmen Fraser and Wyman Hicks disagreed with the release, saying it should not precede the city's own investigation.

Noting the jury report expresses concern about minimum production standards in the police department, the statement said the jury did not make any findings that a system of "arrest quotas" exists.

The council said the department's use of "statistical activity records" used by the department "generally conforms to practices of other police departments."

The council pointed to a letter from Walnut Creek Police Chief Raymond C. Davis, president of the California Police Chiefs Association in which Davis stated that "if a police department did not have performance standards then the police chief would be derelict in his duty."

Man Injured In Head-On Crash

Treasurer Island Seaman Scott C. Cody, 20, formerly of Mill Valley, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco with injuries suffered in a Friday night traffic accident in Strawberry.

Cody suffered fractured ribs and collarbone when his motorcycle and a car collided head-on on Strawberry frontage road near Belvedere drive at 11:55 p.m.

The car was driven by Andrea Lee, 23, of Pleasant Hill, the California Highway Patrol reported. She and a passenger, Roberta J. Gallagher, 26, of 190 Park Street, San Rafael, were treated for facial cuts at Marin General Hospital.

Man Jailed In Sex Perversion

A 52-year-old San Rafael man was arrested Friday on suspicion of sex perversion and contributing to the delinquency of minors, the Marin County Sheriff's Office reported today.

Thomas Edward Umberger of 30 La Brea Way was held in Marin County Jail in lieu of $5,000 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Umberger is suspected of committing several unnatural sex acts with two girls, 7 and 8 years of age, according to the sheriff's reports.

Harrisburg 7 Jury Still Undecided

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPI)— The Harrisburg Seven jury, deadlocked in their fifth day of deliberation on the key issue of conspiracy against the government, asked the judge today for a rereading of his entire charge to them on the law.

Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman called in the nine women and three men and told them he was not inclined to read the entire charge but if they would pick out portions that bothered them he would read those sections and then try to clarify them with oral explanation.

Harold C. Sheets, the jury foreman, agreed that this was feasible and also agreed to the judge's section that the jury might pick out parts of the 14-day testimony of Boyd F. Douglas Jr., the star government witness, to be reread.

One of the obstacles the jury has encountered from the start of deliberations is the murky language of the conspiracy law. Judge Herman instructed the jury it must find one overall conspiracy against the government by two or more conspirators, but also said only one of six crimes charged need be involved in finding a conspiracy existed.

The conspiracy against the government were charges that the seven plotted to kidnap Henry A. Kissinger and bomb Washington heating tunnels.

The jury was called into open court at 10:42 a.m. after having deliberated since 9 a.m. It took the judge only five minutes to agree with them about their request and they retired to deliberations again.

After the jury had left, defense attorneys objected "strenuously" to a marshal being an emissary of the judge to the jury with any kind of notificatiion.

"I want every instruction to the jury to be given by your honor personally," said Defense Attorney Leonard Boudin.

Judge Herman overruled the objection.

Logging Legislation Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Senate Finance Committee today approved industry-backed legislation to clamp short-term restrictions on logging companies operating on private Northern California forest lands.

The measure by Sen. Fred Marler Jr., R-Redding, which would take effect immediately upon signature of Gov. Ronald Reagan, cleared the committee on a voice vote and went to the full Senate.

The Sierra Club, which previously had opposed the interim measure on grounds it would perpetuate "industry self-regulation," did not testify before the Finance Committee.

The bill was spawned by a court decision which last year held unconstitutional industry-dominated state forest practices committees in Northern California. The court ruled the committees, which regulated logging, constituted an illegal extension of legislative power.

As a result, Marler said, there currently is no regulation of logging by the state on private lands. This measure would have the effect of transfering the powers of the committees to the state Board of Forestry.

The board, in turn, would reenact logging regulations previously adopted by the now defunct committees for the current logging season and next year's.

Marler, whose legislation was supported by the logging industry, stressed that his proposal would provide only temporary relief and that a permanent solution must be found later.

"I'd hate to go through a year or two without any legislation at all waiting for horror stories to build up," he told the committee.

The only audible opposition vote was cast by Sen. Alfred E. Alquist, D-San Jose, who said he has legislation pending aimed at imposing stricter permanent controls.

The committee approved on a unanimous voice vote a companion bill increasing the size of the state Board of Forestry by adding two new public members.

Two Motorcyclists Hurt In Petaluma

Quang Tri city, the nearby Quang Tri base and Dong Ha were under heavy attack tonight. Quang Tri is 15 miles south of the DMZ, Dong Ha about 10 miles.

A new threat appeared to be developing to Hue, the ancient, imperial capital of Vietnam, but officials said the situation was under control. Communist attacks were reported at Fire Base Anne, 18 miles west of Hue, and Bastogne, 15 miles to the southwest. Both bases protect against Communist infiltration rotes through the A Shau Valley to Hue, devastated in the 1968 Tet Offensive.

A South Vietnamese spokesman said the reinforcements flown in today would mount a counter-offensive "in a few days." They included Marines and Rangers from Saigon, infantry from Hue and two tank brigades from Da Nang.

They were flown north in a collection of U.S. cargo C130s, Vietnamese air force transports and airliners commandeered from the government airline. The action followed President Thieu's flight to Hue and Da Nang in a commandeered Air Vietnam jet to look over the situation.

Rain clouds have masked the invading North Vietnamese tank columns driving across the DMZ but the weather improved today and U.S. and South Vietnamese fighter-bombers struck back at the Red offensive. B52s dropped bombs through the clouds earlier and three U.S. 7th Fleet destroyers off the coast pounded the enemy troops and tanks.

The Communists threw up intense anti-aircraft fire, and seven American planes and helicopters were reported shot down Sunday and today but American planes flew 128 strikes Sunday and more today. U.S. 7th Fleet warships offshore poured naval gunfire into the North Vietnamese armor.

The Communist offensive overran a 10-mile stretch of South Vietnam's northernmost province of Quang Tri in five days of intensive warfare and military sources said a threat was developing to Thua Thien Province just to the south and its capital of Hue.

There was heavy fighting in the Central Highlands and in Tay Ninh Province 80 miles northwest of Saigon. Allied intelligence sources said the Communists may be staging a dress rehearsal for a fullscale general offensive throughout South Vietnam.

A spokesman for the U.S. High Command in Saigon read a sternly worded message to newsmen in Saigon warning Hanoi that the United States was taking "precautionary actions" to protect American lives, including the 200 military men in Quang Tri Province.

He did not spell out what this action would be but in the past they have been followed by air strikes into North Vietnam. It was considered certain all available American planes from Thailand would be used in battle along the DMZ.

OUT FOR AN EASTER VISIT

A floppy eared beast from the Marin County Humane Society appears to be enjoying the attention at least as much as 7-year-old Chris McCall of Mountain View enjoys the animal. Chris was one of many youngsters who visited the Town and Country Shopping Center in Strawberry last week to see the animal displays by the Junior Humane Society club. (Independent-Journal photo)

McGovern Error Increases Wisconsin Primary Confusion

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)— A perhaps costly mistake by Sen. George S. McGovern added to the confusion and uncertainty today about the outcome of Wisconsin's presidential primary in which McGovern, Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund S. Muskie battled for first place.

In a nationwide telecast Sunday, with the primary two days away, McGovern charged that the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) records showed that International Telephone and Telegraph, Inc. (ITT) deducted a $400,000 contribution to the Republican national convention from its taxable income.

As soon as the program (Face the Nation-CBS) ended, a distraught aide rushed to McGovern to tell him he was wrong and that the 1971 report with the SEC —the year in which the contribution was made —had not been filed.

McGovern then said that his accusation was made on the basis of statements by ITT officials that they considered it a proper business expense. He told reporters that he had made "an honest error."

McGovern, Humphrey and Muskie are considered the three leading candidates in the Wisconsin primary with its rich harvest of 67 delegates to the Democratic National Convention. About 1.5 million voters are expected to turn out Tuesday for the fourth primary of the 1972 election year.

The three major contenders are believed to be bunched so closely that McGovern's invalid accusations could become a factor, even though none of the other candidates jumped in to exploit them.

Campaign strategists for the candidates have shied away from tabbing the finish, citing the uncertainty of the vote for Alabama's Gov. George C. Wallace and the possibility of a mass crossover by Republicans. GOP voters have President Nixon on the ballot along with only Rep. Paul N. McCloskey of California, who has pulled out for lack of funds, and Rep. John M. Ashbrook of Ohio, who has not campaigned in Wisconsin.

Also on the Democrat ballot and campaigning hard are New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington. On the ballot but not campaigning are Reps. Shirley Chisholm of New York, Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Patsy Mink of Hawaii; Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles and Sen. Vance Hartke.

On the campaign trail Sunday:

—His voice cracking from long days on the stump, Humphrey told Milwaukee's Jewish community that President Nixon will be "in excellent position to intercede on behalf of the Soviet Jewry" when he visits Russia next month and charged that a new meat slaughter bill in Congress could skyrocket the price of kosher food. He charged the legislation was "religious discrimination through the back door."

—After taking his wife and three of his children to Easter Sunday mass, Muskie issued a statement calling the North Vietnamese invasion of South Vietnam "alarming but not unexpected," and warned there was a risk of "greater —not lesser —American military involvement." Muskie said it was a "tragedy" that the Nixon Administration has refused to set a date for withdrawal of American forces and has broken off the Paris negotiations.

KING HUSSEIN

Border Dispute May End

WASHINGTON (UPI)—King Hussein of Jordan has indicated that to end the Middle East dispute he may be willing to agree to a realignment of the Israeli-Jordan border provided Jerusalem becomes an open city.

"We are talking of total peace, of a solution that will be accepted not only by us but, more important, by the generations that are to come," Hussein said Sunday.

Hussein discussed his plan for reuniting the Israeli-occupied west bank with Jordan in a television interview on NBC's Meet the Press.

"I do not believe that Arab strength is a match to the Israelis at this time, and beyond that I do not believe that war is a solution to the problem," Hussein said.

One of the keys to the king's plan was to remove Jerusalem from Israeli control to make it serve both Israel and the Arabs under joint control.

Jerusalem is religiously significant to the Jewish and Moslem faiths.

Hussein's remarks on peace followed Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's call for a war to regain territory lost to Israel in the 1967 conflict. "War is inevitable," Sadat said Friday in Cairo.

Diplomatic sources in Washington revealed Saturday that Hussein had won agreement from the United States to purchase as many as two dozen supersonic F5 jet fighters in the next two years.

The exact schedule of delivery, the number of planes, spare parts and ground equipment were subject to further negotiation.

Sailor Dies From 'Seizures'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A crewman suffering "some kind of seizures" died aboard a cargo vessel at sea Sunday while Air Force pararescue men were on the way to give him medical aid.

The victim was identified as Lee Silver, 51.

A Coast Guard spokesman said medical advice was radioed to the SS Hawaiian, a Matson Lines container ship, from the Public Health Hospital in San Francisco.

An Air Force AC130 with two paramedics aboard flew to the ship, which was 550 miles southwest of San Francisco in the Pacific. The men were about to jump into the water with equipment for the stricken crewman when they received word that he had died.

She Won A Car, Then A Ticket

CLINTON, Iowa (UPI)—Mrs. John Ringsdahl claimed a brand new car and a speeding ticket from Clinton police this weekend.

She flipped on her car radio Saturday just in time to hear the Clinton police chief draw the winner of a brand new automobile—herself.

Mrs. Ringsdahl stepped on the gas in her excitement and was arrested by a policeman traveling right behind her. She posted a $15 bond on the speeding charge and then drove to the station, slowly, to collect the grand prize.

3 Dead, 11 Wounded In Nightclub Shooting

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI)—Two women and a man were shot to death and 11 other persons were wounded early today in a crowded nightclub in what authorities said was a drug war between rival Philadelphia gangs.

Mario F. Floriani, public safety director, said the shooting began about 2 a.m. in the Club Harlem where he estimated 600 persons were watching the floor show.

"These shootings were the result of a drug war that has been taking place in Philadelphia," Floriani said. "It started in the latter part of February where one gang member was shot and there was a $240,000 drug robbery.

"Thus the contract was put out by this group to more or less eradicate the ones responsible. They just used Atlantic City to settle their grievances."

He said the shooting began when an unidentified man tapped Tyrone Palmer, 22, of Philadelphia, on the shoulder and told him he wanted to discuss something with him. The unidentified man then shot Palmer two or three times, Floriani said.

"When the first shot rang out all bedlam broke loose," Floriani said. "Tables were flying, chairs were flying, bottles were flying. It was a shambles."

Witnesses told police that four or five men had done the shooting and that between 15 and 20 shots were fired, Floriani said. He said two of the weapons were recovered inside the club.

In addition to Palmer, also killed were Renee Cuff, 24, and Pamela Pollard, 23, both of Philadelphia.

Listed in critical condition with bullet wounds were Ruth Jenkins, 20, of Willingboro, N.J., and Gilbert Satterwhite, 25, of Philadelphia.

Beer-Drinkers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Californians downed three million barrels of beer during the first three months of the year, an increase of 8 per cent over the same period in 1971.

Boston Doctor Says Beer Brings Cheer

BOSTON (UPI)—A sip of beer may just be what the doctor ordered when it comes to treating elderly patients, according to a state health official.

Dr. Milton Greenblatt, Massachusetts commissioner of mental health, said Sunday that beer in moderate quantities, has a "remarkable effect on many elderly men and women in our hospitals.

"It cheers them up, it's nourishing and it opens up their blood vessels so the blood travels through their systems a bit faster," Greenblatt said. "That's especially important for elderly people who often have circulation problems."

The commissioner commended in response to reports that patients at four state hospitals are drinking some 2,000 cans of beer every month on doctors' orders.

"It's a social lubricant," the commissioner said. "It helps shy or withdrawn people start a conversation more easily."

No one gets intoxicated, the commissioner said.

The use of beer therapy has prompted the establishment of "pubs" in several state facilities. Boston State Hospital has its Pink Elephant while the Westboro State Hospital runs the Lantern Room and some patients at Grafton State Hospital can sip a few suds at the Pub.

Egypt and the Nile Valley have gone through 5,000 years of wars, conquests, and migrations.

Demonstration Of Acupuncture

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—The president of the American Medical Association suggests Chinese physicians be brought to the AMA's June conference in San Francisco to demonstrate acupuncture.

Dr. Wesley Hall of Reno says he plans to visit Washington this week to discuss his idea with government officials.

Hall said he doesn't know how needles inserted into patients can cure disease and relieve pain, but "If it works, I want to know about it."

2-Car Crash Kills Ten In Texas

DIMMITT, Tex. (UPI)—Highway Patrolman Bill Scott and his partner were in the process of setting up a roadblock near this Texas Panhandle town on a lonely two-lane stretch of highway when they heard sirens in the distance.

Suddenly a car packed with youngsters whizzed past them so fast it could not stay on its side of the road on a slight curve.

Another car, also filled with young persons, came around the curve going the opposite direction at the exact same moment Saturday night. They collided.

"Things went everywhere," Scott said. "My partner and I witnessed it. They came by us before we could get the roadblock set up."

Each car carried five persons. All 10 were killed. One was 1 year old, but most of them were teen-agers. The wreck was as bad as any in Texas history. Only three times in the past two-car accidents have killed 10 persons.

"All of them were pinned in the cars, and we literally had to pry the cars apart to get them out," Scott said. "The impact pushed both motors back to the front seat."

He said the speeding car, headed eastward, was going faster, because "they traveled 86 feet east of the point of impact."

Two of the victims died en route to a hospital. The others were dead at the scene.

"It was the biggest accident I've ever seen," Scott said.

Castro County officers said the speeding vehicle was the object of a chase because deputies suspected the youngsters had been involved in a knife fight in a nearby community.

The youths in the car coming into town were mostly Dimmitt high school students. They were Johnny Roper, Jeffrey Glenn and Raymond McLain, all 17, Robert Cadell, 18, and Michael Geough 21, of Burnsville, N.C. Geough's body was flown to his hometown Sunday.

The persons in the speeding vehicle were Brigidio Sanchez, Nicholas Arrizola Jr., Tony Guia, Zola Lana Alvarez, 13, and Johnny Alvarez, 1, all of Castro County.

U.S. Food Prices May Be Frozen

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Administration officials say a freeze on food prices may be needed if they continue to increase, but that lower prices seem to be on the way.

Labor Secretary James Hodgson said the administration's pressure on food chains has begun to take effect with retailers "committed now to bringing prices down."

But Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson Jr. said a freeze is "something we have to consider."

Hodgson appeared Sunday on ABC's Issues and Answers with Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz. Grayson was interviewed on a local television program.

Mrs. Chisholm Has California Aide

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—An officer of a militant women's liberation group has been appointed California coordinator of the presidential campaign of Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y.

Mrs. Chisholm announced Sunday that Arlie Scott of the National Organization for Women will be in overall command of her California campaign for the Democratic nomination, and will be the liaison between the state and national campaign efforts.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL, C.P.A.

Gift Tax Returns Are Now Required Quarterly, Not Yearly

Gift Tax Returns are now required quarterly instead of annually.

That's right. If you made gifts within any calendar quarter beginning on or after Jan. 1, 1971, to any one donee of more than $3,000 for the calendar year or a gift of a future interest in property regardless of the value then you must file a tax return on Form 709.

These are individual returns and joint returns are not permitted.

Only individuals are required to file as donors. However, if gifts are made by trusts, estates, partnerships or corporations, the individual beneficiaries, partners or stockholders become donors and may incur a liability under the federal gift tax law.

The return must be filed on or before the 15th day of the second month following the close of the calendar quarter in which the gifts were made. You cannot file a return before the end of the calendar quarter unless it is the return of a deceased donor.

Gifts of present interest of less than $3,000 paid in previous quarters must be disclosed in the first quarterly return filed.

The tax must be paid by the donor on or before the 15th day of the second month. There are penalties for delinquent returns and for delinquent payment of tax unless due to reasonable cause. There are penalties for willful failure to file a return on time and for willful attempt to evade or defeat payment of the tax.

There is a specific exemption of $30,000 for each individual during his lifetime as well as the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee during a calendar year.

However, if a gift is made in excess of the annual exclusion of $3,000 to any one donee, but less than the $30,000 specific exemption, you must file a return anyway even though no tax may be due.

Gift taxes are complicated and you should see your tax advisor if you have made any gifts.

Gift taxes are filed on Form 709 and this form comes complete with the instructions.

If the gift is made anytime between Jan. 1 and March 31, the return is due May 15; between April 1 and June 30, the return is due Aug. 15; between July 1 and Sept. 30, the return is due Nov. 15; between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, the return is due Feb. 15.

If you made such a gift anytime and have not filed a gift tax return, you should do so immediately to avoid further interest and penalties.

Livingston's Thrives At Northgate

Unlike many family-owned stores that are gradually fading from the Bay Area scene, Livingston Bros. clothing store with a branch in Northgate is apparently thriving.

Livingston's, which first opened in San Francisco in 1876, moved into Marin one year ago.

Carl Livingston Jr., president, reported last week that first year sales at the Northgate branch were about 20 per cent over plan. "We should have been over (in Marin) sooner," said Livingston. "I don't know why we waited so long — it's our 96th year. I think the Northgate Shopping Center is one of the most beautiful around, and we are pleased to be in Marin County."

Livingston's has branches in Stonestown (San Francisco), Hillsdale, San Jose, Palo Alto and Marin. It is headquartered in San Francisco.

Recovery At Anaconda Seems Off In Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Now that Anaconda (NYSE) has written off the loss on its foreign holdings do you think it is a good buy? Do you believe it will resume the dividend in the near future? — M.P. & R.A.

A. If nationalization of Anaconda's Chilean properties was the company's sole problem, the stock might be an interesting turnaround candidate. Unfortunately this is not the case. The world copper glut, which built up in response to mounting copper prices in the late Sixties, is not expected to be absorbed before 1974. Until that time, copper prices will continue under pressure. Reduced copper prices and increased labor costs combined with soaring pollution control requirements may result in marginal operations at some mines.

Anaconda's other divisions are not all robust. The aluminum industry, which has been faced with problems of reduced demand and consequent weakened price structure, is currently operating well below capacity. A new mill scheduled to go on stream next year will up Anaconda's capacity by 65 per cent and lift the company from 6th to 4th largest domestic producer. Deficits in brass operations have dictated the closing of four plants; profits at the fabricating division tumbled in 1971.

Recently elected Chairman Place instituted a cost reduction program which initially reduced costs by $25 million annually, almost equal to the 1970 earnings from Chile. While new management should gradually bolster profits, dividend resumption and share recovery appear to be some distance in the future.

Q. Is there a time limit for a broker to sell a stock when it has climbed to a stated price? Or, does he automatically cancel the request if the stock has not climbed to the specified price within a few days? What is the procedure? — J.G.

A. You may place a sell order at a specified price either above or below the current trading level. The order may be a GTC order, good till canceled, a day order or at market order. You apparently are interested in the first, which remains on the book until executed.

PRISONER OF WAR ROLL CALL

Fifty men carrying placards near the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza represented more than 1,600 prisoners of the Vietnam War at a commemorative service Saturday. Each sign indicates the number of prisoners or men missing in action from each state. The sparsely attended ceremony ended a week, declared by President Nixon, as National Week of Concern for prisoners of war and men missing in action.

USIA Movie Director Quits After Film Flap

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The U. S. Information Agency announced today the resignation of Bruce Herschensohn, its motion picture director, who called Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., "very naive and stupid" for questioning USIA operations abroad.

Informed sources contended that the agency's director, Frank Shakespeare, and other high USIA officials attempted unsuccessfully to dissuade Herschensohn from quitting.

A flap that grew out of disclosure last week of Herschensohn's criticism of Fulbright, as part of a controversy over use of a USIA film on a domestic program, caused Herschensohn to conclude that his usefulness had been greatly diminished, the sources said.

He wrote Shakespeare that he felt he would be an embarrassment to the agency if he continued in his post. Shakespeare wrote him in reply that he valued his services and expressed regret over his decision to leave.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, had sought to prevent the showing of a USIA film about Czechoslovakia on a television program of Sen. James L. Buckley, RC-N.Y.

Fulbright had said he did so on grounds that USIA material is intended for use only for foreign consumption.

July 4 Fireworks Issue Before Council

Fireworks and the Fourth of July celebration again will come before the Larkspur City Council at its meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Last month, the council voted to ban the traditional fireworks display from Piper Park because of traffic congestion and told the Larkspur and Corte Madera chambers of commerce to find a better site for the display.

Meat Price Too High? Too Much Tax In It

The loudest current outcry is about the high price of meat. But the most constant, continuing complaints are about high taxes.

The two are not unrelated. There's quite a bit of tax in that roast you just bought — or even that pound of hamburger.

How much is indicated in some figures published last week by the Wall Street Journal, showing the percentage of the gross national product represented b government spending and how it has grown over the years.

GOVERNMENT SPENDING, of course, is spending of tax money — current and future. So every dollar spent by government is one less dollar that can be spent by individuals or companies for consumer goods, real property, industrial expansion or whatever.

In 1929, according to the Journal's tabulation, government spending represented 8.2 per cent of the gross national product. In 1950, it was up to 13.3 per cent; in 1960, to 19.7 per cent, and last year, to 22.2 per cent.

This means that nearly one-fourth of the nation's total production went last year to support governments — federal, state and local. Back in 1929, they required only about one-twelfth.

PARALLELING THIS increase in government's share of the wealth has been an increase in public employment far outstripping that in the private sector. In 1929, reported the Journal, there were 28,274,000 people privately employed in this country, and 3,065,000 employed by governments — a ratio of about seven to one. Last year, there were 57,836,000 in private employment, and 12,853,000 in government employment — a ratio of less than five to one. The increase in private employment since 1929 was 104 per cent; in public employment, 319 per cent.

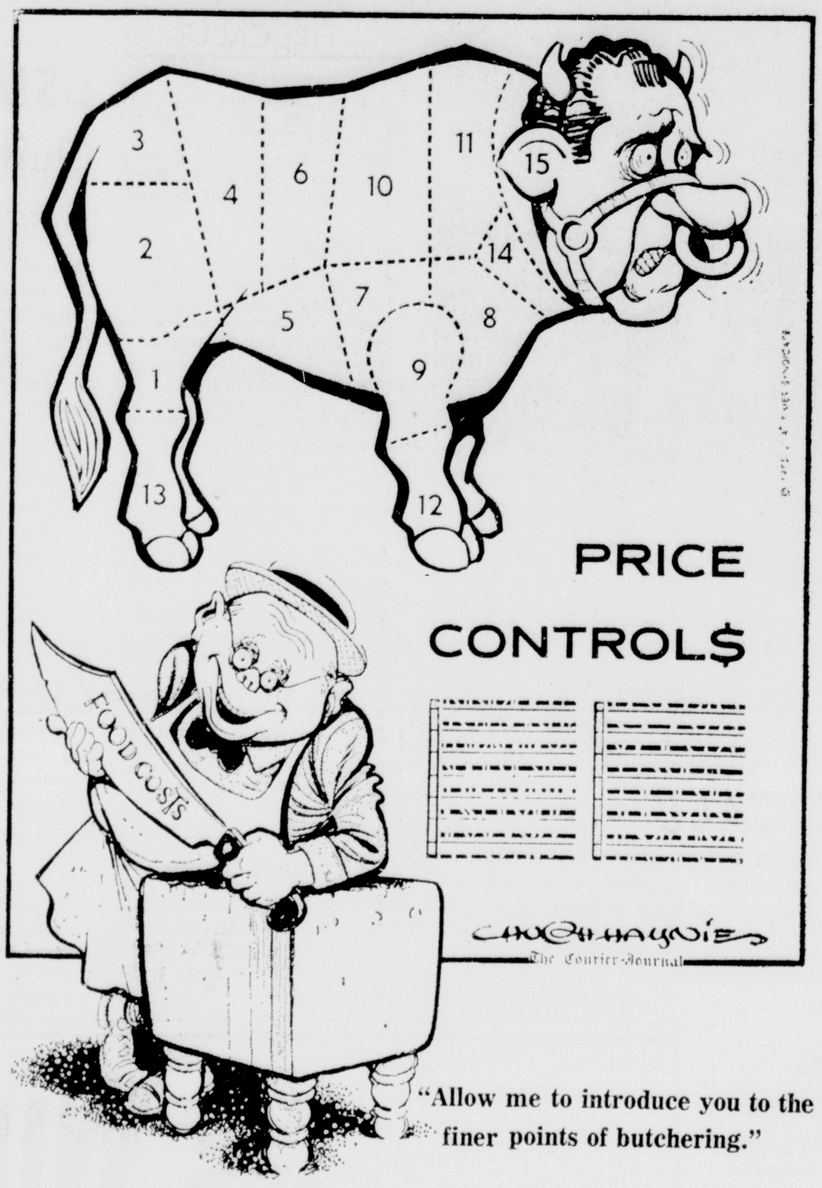
Obviously, the larger the percentage supported by taxes, the heavier the taxes everybody (including these government employees) must pay.

NOT MENTIONED in the Journal's analysis was another principal reason for high taxes — and for the high price of that roast: deficit spending.

Nobody could run his private finances or his business finances the way the government and some states run theirs and get away with it. He would be forced into bankruptcy. But federal, state and some local governments keep borrowing more and more, on the pretext that we really "just owe the money to ourselves." And the interest on this debt adds increasingly to taxes.

As the percentage of the tax dollar going for debt retirement gets bigger and bigger, the amount of government services each tax dollar provides gets smaller and smaller. And so, each job the government undertakes becomes more expensive and less productive. And the answer continues to be to pile on more taxes.

It isn't just the butcher or the meat packer who has hiked the price of that roast. It's Uncle Sam. It's Sacramento. And it's all the other units of government, up and down the line.



"Allow me to introduce you to the finer points of butchering."

Why, That's A Grosbeak!

We heard it singing in the pittosporum tree, half hidden in the leaves. We thought at first it was a robin. Its up and down trilling was very like a robin, and we could catch glimpses of a rusty breast.

We sat entranced for an hour. No robin ever sang so fluently or as rich of voice. The only word that describes that song is "heavenly."

Then the bird moved from its leafy lair. From its stout, sturdy, conical, pale bill and its black head, we knew it was a grosbeak — not too common in our Marin garden.

SMOG BOARD INFIGHTING

Blood Letting More Fun Than Battling Pollution

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

The smell of blood excited some smog officials more than the smell of pollution.

The blood they smell is that of their most effective critic, Stanford University biologist Edward Groth III. Groth first blitzed the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District two years ago with a 380-page critique of its many shortcomings.

District officials were mad as hornets, but attempted a classic solution by appointing Groth to the district's advisory council. This gallant move, however, made no difference — much to the acute regret of some of the same officials who now are considering how to get rid of him.

GROTH NEVER HAS become part of the district's Establishment. Instead, he has continued to fire away with carefully researched documents that always hit their target. His most serious transgression in the eyes of his critics was authorship last month of a 72-page attack documenting allegations that the top administrator, D. J. Callaghan, was an eager tool of industrial polluters.

Groth's ouster, of course, still would leave him his voice, but without the mantle of speaking as a district official. But his ouster would make life much more comfortable for virtually everyone else on the board and council.

Groth, because of his professional training, flexible time schedule and devotion to air pollution control, has a nasty habit of knowing vastly more about the subject than all but perhaps two of the board and council members. He also has the gall to be in his late 20's, which adds to his problems with the many senior citizens on the council.

THE FIRST BREEZE in the wind blowing Groth's way came when several board members recently challenged his right to voice his own opinions instead of parroting those of the council.

A stronger blast, seen as the forerunner of a council censure of Groth, came from a fellow council member, San Francisco architect William B. McCormick. A 17-year veteran of the council, he took hot exception to Groth's attack on Callaghan.

McCormick, in a letter distributed to council and board members, charged Groth with McCarthyism (the Joe type). He suggested that Groth's appointment to the council was rigged by Callaghan's critics "for the purpose of searching out and preparing such an indictment."

McCormick also objectd that Groth's attack "smears the many contributors to the accomplishments of the district in the field of air pollution control, which is insensitive and careless of the harm it does." McCormick called on the council to advise the board of directors "of the considered opinions of the council in this matter as soon as practicable."

CALLAGHAN's SUPPORTERS on the board, now only a narrow majority, could not help but read between the lines to find skids to dump Groth.

Callaghan's loyal crew on the board still has not caught on that continued internal bloodletting, such as the aborted move to fire the district counsel for failing to salute Callaghan, can only speed the day when they are replaced with a directly elected board.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Has Little Regard For Police Forces

Congratulations to the Marin Grand Jury, and especially to the fearless San Rafael police officer, Richard C. Michaelsen, who did a beautiful job of exposing the "crap and corruption" that exists in the Sausalito Police Department. Any native knows it. . .

The Sausalito Police Department in their lust to make a "quick buck" for the "fat city treasury" resorts to any and all "Gestapo methods." I've been "hasseled" down there for no cause at all.

The "goon squad" forgets sometimes they are not always "hassling tourists" and they hit the wrong man like Mr. William Bennett of Kentfield.

Not all that has to come forth is an expose of the filthy machine politics in the Fairfax Police Department and its "hanky panky" police chief and we might be on the road to a halfway honest law enforcement system in this county.

For the last 10 years we have hit an all-time low in this department in this county.

Oh yes, in the Feb. 7 copy of the I-J under the caption, "Police Probe Set By Grand Jury," Mayor Imlay said he "was very pleased at the grand jury's decision to proceed with an investigation of the Sausalito Police Department." What's the matter now, are things getting too warm too close to home?

'Public Be Damned'— With Politicians' Help

George Meany has walked off the Pay Board. And so once again we witness "the public be damned". We saw it quite clearly in the longshoremen's strike and many others encouraged by labor leaders who are giving the rank and file poor advice.

Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Public are getting fed up. They are getting tired of the constant zooming wage settlements, the basic cause of inflation.

If management tried to pull off this economic mayhem it would be crucified.

When, oh when, will we find the politician with enough guts to speak out and not pussyfoot because of a possible loss of votes? Or am I just dreaming!

Supervisors Shirk Responsibility For EOC

Now that the federal government has stepped into tell Marin EOC how to operate, the Marin County Board of Supervisors has yielded a responsibility by default.

The 10 conditions under which EOC is to be reprieved should be studied by Mr. Arrigoni, chairman of the board of supervisors, who is running for re-election from the Second District. It makes one wonder how many other agencies in Marin have 17 bank accounts for $63,000.

Mr. Arrigoni, we wonder what is being done to assure that this type of negligence is not repeated.

Thanks To Chief Orr For Saving Situation

In September 1969, I wrote a letter to Police Chief James R. Orr, commending him upon the way he was able to talk à bunch of toughs into hopping onto their motorcycles and riding off into the dusk. Poooffff! Just like that.

This was a situation — at the end of the day of the Fairfax Festival — where the police were outweighed and outnumbered, the chief had been summoned from his home, in plain clothes, and conceivably Fairfax could have had a riot — or perhaps at the least just have all its windows broken in the downtown area; it was a tinderbox situation.

I kept coming back downtown, three or four times, just to see if the cyclists had left yet, as they had made the area in front of my place of business their unofficial headquarters all day and I was naturally concerned as to the situation of potential mayhem.

Chief Orr was standing there, looking up into the face of this behemoth, talking softly and easily and even smilingly — almost like a friendly conversation between pals. Suddenly, these fellows did hop onto their cycles and ride off into the dusk. Lately there has been testimony at the hearings (the police chief's appeal of his firing) that this "allegedly" happened, or "so he says." But I was there; the chief was talking to them, and suddenly they were gone. "Jim," I asked, "how in the world did you do that?" "Why, I just talked to them, Dell," he said.

It seems to me that Fairfax was fortunate to have a man who could talk Fairfax out of a bad situation; not shoot, or threaten, but "just talk."

It occurs to me that now is the time to thank Chief Orr publicly for this service rendered to me and the other downtown merchants.

Tainted Blood From Paid Donors Causes Many Deaths

Tainted blood is creating a national peril. Doctors and scientists are increasingly worried but very little has come out into the open.

Those who know the facts are beginning to question both the efficiency and safety of blood bank practices.

One revealing piece of evidence: Thousands of people die of hepatitis yearly after being injected with viral-tainted blood.

WHERE DOES SUCH tainted blood come from? It comes primarily from paid donors who are alcoholics, drug addicts and prisoners. Among these categories hepatitis is found to be 10 to 70 times more common than in the population generally.

Surveys show that hepatitis in the blood of paid donors occurs in about 30 cases per thousand as contrasted with three cases per thousand in blood from volunteers.

By the most conservative estimate there are 3,500 hepatitis deaths per year from blood transfusitns, but many doctors are convinced that the real total is closer to 35,000 a year.

WHAT CAN BE DONE about it? In one of the few articles appearing on this subject, Constance Holden writing in Science, official magazine of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, cites three main causes:

Commercialism, lack of co-ordination among agencies, and flimsy state and federal regulations. One possible answer: a total volunteer system of blood donation.

SOCIAL VIOLENCE DECLINING. A new level of calm is evident in every section of the country. In all the preconvention campaigning there is nothing near to the 1968 disorder and disruption.

It is also reflected on campuses. A case in point:

California law now classified 18-to-20-year-olds as adults. Five young men under 21 were recently drawn to serve as potential jurors in the highly charged Angela Davis conspiracy ease. They asked to be excused on the ground it would interfere with their studies.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES becoming more personal. The front-runners are beginning to attack each other and the rear-runners are attacking the front-runners.

Recent example: Muskie is now taking out after Hubert as "promise-a-day Humphrey." McCarthy, who has been criticizing all the Democrats except McGovern, has now got around to dismissing McGovern as "fourth choice" among the liberals.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS — After 49 years of delay. The first state to do so, Hawaii, ratified the amendment guaranteeing equal rights for women in two hours, and the other necessary 37 ratifications will be forthcoming.

A majority of voters today are women, and male politicians do not dare vote against them.

Things won't be the same. Obviously, discrimination in divorce laws, property rights and pensions will be struck down. But there will be much more.

Apart from the Women's Lib extremists, most women want equal pay for equal work, equal job opportunities in industry, politics and government and equal chance for promotion. To the 32 million working women in the United States, this is simple justice — and a necessity.

One example: College-educated men are paid nearly double the rate of college-educated women.

A NOVEL PROPOSAL on busing. If some busing is temporarily necessary to help improve the quality of low-income neighborhood schools, here is a new solution.

Instead of busing the pupils, why not bus the teachers? This would reduce the need for busing by at least 90 per cent.

When Meany Talks Of Prices, He Doesn't Mean At Pierre's

WASHINGTON — George Meany had had a good day. Or maybe it was a bad day. Neither he nor we can be sure until next November.

It was the day he followed up his walkout from the Pay Board by leveling with the members of the companion Price Commission. But leveling, in Meany's case, is an insufficient word. When he is in a leveling mood, he does not precisely level with somebody. It becomes more of a transitive verb. He levels them.

What he said to the Price Commission was that its very composition "is an affront to fairness. There is not a single consumer representative on the commission. Instead, there are so-called public members — all of whom have had a history of corporate connections."

Of course his allegations drew cries of pain from the commission. And Meany's response was to tell the outcriers, there in front of God and the TV cameras and everybody, that he didn't give a damn what they thought about his comments.

LATER, HIS DAY of leveling done, he went to a corner Italian restaurant not far from his home in suburban Bethesda and presided over an inconspicuous dinner for four. He recommended the veal Milanaise and approved the waitress' presentation of a bottle of modest Chianti. And then he told Mrs. Meany and their friends all over again what he had told the Price Commission downtown.

He is as dominant a figure at the dinner table as he is at a Price Commission hearing. He was proud of the fact that his appearance at the National Press Club next week already is a sellout, and when one of his companions said, oh, that's too bad, I'd like to hear you, he assured her he could arrange for her to come. And then when she was unsure where the National Press Building is, they located it by agreeing it is diagonally across from Garfinckel's.

Garfinckel's is one of the less cheap shops in Washington, and their using it as a reference point brought to mind the several contradictions involved in George Meany's eating out without fanfare at a restaurant where the most expensive entree sells for about $4.

He is, whether the President likes it or not — and the President does not — the most powerful spokesman for the working man in America. Mr. Nixon and his staff never miss a chance to note that the AFL-CIO represents only about 17 million of the 85 million wage earners in the country, and to publicly brush aside anything Meany says as merely the complaint of one "special interest group." They also try, every time they respond to something he has said, to paint Meany as a bigwig out of touch with what the real working stiffs of the country are thinking (the implication being that a Wall Sreet lawyer like the President himself is much closer to the People than any ex-plumber from the South Bronx).

And there Meany was, eating at a family-priced spaghetti house, eventually switching the conversation to the fact that George Shultz (director of Mr. Nixon's Office of Management and Budget) was not really such a bad guy at all, as proved by the fact that he is an ex-Marine.

MEANY MAY NOT speak for all the working men of America, but there is some reason to argue that he speaks for more of them than Mr. Nixon does. As an example, we note that the President last week documented his concern over the rise in food prices by quoting John Connally's consternation about the price of eggs. Mr. Nixon said his secretary of the treasury had been told by a Texas chicken rancher that the farm price for eggs was only 30 cents a dozen, and then had gone to breakfast at the Pierre Hotel in New York and paid $5 for two. "That is just too much," the President commented accurately.

By contrast, Meany brought to the Price Commission hearing some containers of cake flour, canned milk and matzo ball soup to show how retailers are inching up the prices on food by shrinking the product inside the package. "Mrs. Adler's Matzo Ball Soup was famous for years and years with four matzo balls in a can," he said. "Now, same can, same price, but only three mtazo balls. This is the sort of thing I mean."

You might assume that the President, with a staff full of ex-advertising men, would have had something about matzo balls on the tip of his tongue, too. But he was speaking sponstaneously, and what came to mind instead was John Connally and that $5 breakfast at the Pierre.

All of which is hardly conclusive, but may help the confused citizens trying to decide who speaks for whom in this election year.

'Joint Use Of Hamilton' Now Needs Another Junket

Remember about a year ago when four county officials jetted back to Washington, D.C., purportedly to make clear the county's position on joint use of Hamilton Air Force Base?

Remember how a reporter was refused admittance to those meetings with federal officials?

Remember the announcement from county supervisors after those private meetings?

You know, the Air Force had agreed to "continue negotiations" on joint military-civilian use of Hamilton.

THAT LITTLE VENTURE cost Marin County taxpayers $2,343. What did it really buy?

We know that negotiations did continue, with the Air Force finally agreeing to joint use of its airstrip but not of its buildings.

And we know that county aviation commission committee, working within those Air Force guidelines, drafted a joint use plan and submitted it to the board of supervisors.

But the supervisors, viewing the $1 million-plus price tag for county facilities at the air base, promptly chucked the plan in a nearby waste-basket.

"Anyone who thinks the county is going to spend $3 million is nuts," stormed Supervisor John F. McInnis, adding tha county wants joint use of the buildings also.

He was joined by none other than Supervisors Louis H. Baar and Arnold M. Baptiste — who along with two members of the aviation commission had made the county's position clear in Washington.

Unfortunately, it would appear, the county's position wasn't too clear between the aviation commission — whose joint use committee drafted the plan — and the supervisors, who scrapped it.

HOW FAR HAS joint use progressed since our four county officials sojourned to Washington to push it?

The answer is that joint use hasn't progressed one measly step.

The "solution" was offered a couple of weeks ago by chairman Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., who casually mentioned that it would be a good idea to travel to Washington to make the iounty's position clear.

About $2,343 clear?

46 Killed By Liquor Poisoning

NEW DELHI (UPI)—The toll from weekend bottled liquor poisoning in the capital rose to 46 persons today with 11 more deaths reported by hospitals.

Police sources said 70 others were being treated in hospitals and that some were in serious condition.

Police Sunday took five persons into custody in connection with the sale of spurious liquor.

Tests revealed the killer drink was mixed with methyl alcohol. More than 100 people died last January in New Delhi after drinking an almost identical illicit brew.

A majority of the victims, both in the January and present tragedies, are slum dwellers. Delhi is partially dry and the cost of bottled liquor is prohibitive to poor persons.

Lockheed Seeks New Contracts

MARIETTA, Ga. (UPI)—Lockheed-Georgia has stepped up its drive to get an Air Force contract to build an advance medium short takeoff and landing transport aircraft, promising the government it would assign some of its top personnel to the project.

Lockheed President L. O. Kitchen said today that Lockheed and its partner in the bidding, North American Rockwell of Los Angeles, would place on the project "the very best military airlft aircraft people in the country."

The Air Force will give contracts to two firms and each will produce two prototype aircraft.

Hungary Learns To Have Fun Under Communism

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The Hungarian standard of living isn't yet up to the East Germans but they have more fun at it and so have become both the model and the go-between for other Warsaw Pact nations seeking to improve their way of life and still get along with the Russians.

Nikita S. Khrushchev once pinned the label "goulash Communism" on the Hungarians.

He meant it as a compliment, but Hungarians prefer the way Hungarian party leader Janos Kadar defined his regime's philosophy.

"Those who are not against us are for us," he said.

HOWEVER IT IS to be described, Hungary has come a long way back from the bloody and fruitless uprising of 1956, which was crushed by Russian tanks and Mongol troops.

Today in Hungary:

—Political cabarets in Budapest regularly poke gentle fun at the regime and no one goes to jail. The only taboo is anything that might offend the Russians.

—The secret police have almost disappeared from view. They continue to be efficient, but the fear among the people is gone.

—Nearly a million of the 10 million Hungarians travel abroad each year. Most of them go to Communist-bloc nations but a substantial number also visit the west. A half million westerners annually visit Hungary.

—Cautious debate is permitted in books, television and newspapers.

—Hungarian voters have a certain amount of choice among candidates for public office. All candidates are pledged to support the Communist program, but alternatives are offered instead of a single slate.

—Hungarian industry is still under centralized control but managers are given greater freedom to make their own decisions and workers are given greater incentives to boost production. In the five years ending in 1974, the Hungarians hope nearly to double their output of consumer goods to a total of $800 million.

PLAYING IMPORTANT roles in the Hungarian success are two elements—the Russians' faith in Kadar and the built-in radar which prevents the Hungarians from going too far, as did Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Kadar has given the new leaders of both countries a pattern to follow.

Kadar also is receiving credit for persuading Romania to tone down its challenge to Russian control.

Realism is a word frequently heard in today's Hungary. So is caution, which means the Hungarians do not like to call too much attention to their successes.

The Hungarians realize they are not entirely the masters of their own fate. Geography makes it impossible for them to ignore the Russians. And they know that a sudden change in world affairs quickly could turn their emphasis from butter to guns.

Road Alternate Asked In Bolinas

Directors of Bolinas Community Inc. have asked the county road department to construct an alternate route in the community to replace Terrace Avenue, which is in bad repair, according to John R. Page, a member of the organization.

He said the issue had been under consideration for a long time, because of the heavy traffic which Terrace Avenue gets from residents of the Bolinas mesa area.

The request will go to the county board of supervisors via the road department, he said.

Issues Ignored As Candidates Meet

An informal gathering of Corte Madera Town Council candidates Saturday brought equally informal chats about crabgrass control and campaign techniques rather than issues.

Candidates Robert P. Simmons, Byhon D. White, Herber C. Leney, Robert J. Flahive and I. Thomas Zaragaza all agreed that the casual gathering at the Corte Madera Branch of the Marin County Library was a pleasant way to campaign, although few uncommitted voters dropped in.

The candidates chatted amiably about the weather and other non-controversial issues and agreed they had gotten to know each other pretty well during the campaign and were getting to be good friends rather than political enemies.

A few library patrons — curious about the gathering of men in business suits — dropped in to chat and were laden down with campaign literature, bumper strips and balloons. The predominant question put to the candidates concerned housing.

The candidates agreed that the poor turnout of residents indicated a general lack of excitement about the April 11 election for two council seats. Since fire protection has been dropped as a major issue, the candidates agreed that none other had come forth to put spark into the campaign.

Many said they preferred the casual gatherings to the more formal candidates nights because speeches need not be prepared and they can have better give-and-take sessions with residents.

Mailliard To See Marin Students

Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District, will speak at two Marin County schools this week.

He is scheduled to meet with government classes at Terra Linda High School tomorrow morning and at Tamalpais High School on Wednesday.

Driver Nabbed On Two Counts

Donald Anthony Madden, 37, of 31 Reed Boulevard, Mill Valley, was arrested Saturday by the California Highway Patrol on suspicion of possession of marijuana and drunken driving.

Madden was stopped at 12:05 a.m. while Northbound on Highway 101, north of the Richardson Bay Bridge.

Reports said he was stopped on suspicion of drunken driving and that three hand-rolled cigarettes were found in his possession. Madden was booked into the Marin County jail on $860 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

AAUW Women Will Tour Six Novato Family Homes

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Six Novato homes will be on tour Friday, and they largely reflect modern living styles, although some feature antique funishings.

Homes to be featured are those of Messrs. and Mmes. J. Dietrich Stroeh and George Barnwell, and four homes in the Marin Country Club Estates — those of the Donald Stutsmans, Edward Mitchells, George Mercys and Edward Schulmans. Hostesses will be Mmes. James Davis, Richard Watts, Dennis Crinnion, Hollis Moore, David Price Jones and Gerhard Wutske, all of the sponsoring Novato Branch, American Association of University Women.

Mr. and Mrs. Stutzman designed their home for their hillside lot, and the house is only six months old. The redwood home has an expanse of windows overlooking the Marin Country Club golf course. The formal living room has floor to ceiling windows on two sides. A huge rattan swing hanging from the ceiling faces a sunken fireplace in the family room. The area in front of the fireplace is covered with four-inch rubber padding and is sometimes used for houseguests to sleep in front of the fireplace. The master bedroom is on the same level as the family room and the swimming pool.

THE EDWARD Mitchell home is a two-story Roman style house with formal gardens and a gazebo at the entrance. The living room is furnished in French Provincial furniture with a combination of velvet and satin. The dining room, next to the kitchen, is paneled and curtained so it can be completely closed off from the kitchen. A long curving stairway leads to the bedrooms.

The George Barnwell home has been renovated since a fire nearly destroyed it in 1970. Its master bedroom is in a loft overlooking the family room. The rebuilt section has beamed ceilings and redwood walls. The entryway and the floor in the master bath are in rough aggregate. Many antiques and conversation pieces decorate the home. The living room has an old spinning wheel and a shoe shine box made into an end table. Also in the living room is the trunk in which Mrs. Barnwell slept as a baby in Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich Stroeh designed their home on land that had been an apple orchard. Mr. Stroeh did some of the building and all of the interior work and Mrs. Stroeh did all of the decorating.

BRIGHT COLORS tie the rooms of the house together. The modern kitchen has an old-fashioned print wallpaper. The dining and living rooms are carpeted in red. One wall of the dining room is stone, which is the back side of the living room fireplace.

The Stroehs have three daughters, and the two youngest share a bedroom papered in bold orange, yellow, pink and green print. Rattan headboards on the beds are green and the spreads and other accessories orange. Accents are pink and white gingham in the oldest girl's room.

The Edward Schulman home is a three story Spanish-style house built around a tree. The heavy wooden front doors are from a convent in Guadalajara. The wing for their three sons is on the first floor, along with the family room, kitchen, dining room, powder room and servant quarters. The second level features the living room with its bar, gaming table large stone fireplace. The master bedroom is also on the second level. The third floor is a guest room with bath with a spectacular view.

The George Mercy home gives one a great feeling of space with the den, kitchen, dining room and living room all open. There are four bedrooms off the main entrance but the master bedroom is in a separate building beyond the pool, offering privacy. Mrs. James Studley will provide a table setting at the Mercy home for the tour.

Tour hours are 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Luncheon will be served at the Novato Community House from noon to 2 p.m.

THE FAMILY room in the Donald Stutzman home in Novato is the place for casual conversation, with its rattan swing and padded flooring in front of the fireplace. Mrs. Stutzman sits in the swing in the new home which the Stutzmans designed, explaining to Mrs. David Price Jones (right) features of the house. Mrs. Jones will be a hostess at the home for the upcoming tour. Plants in the room help to carry the outdoor feeling inside the home.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Warning For Those Expecting Computer Matchup Mates

DEAR HELEN:

A warning to people who expect to get mates via computer dating: check thoroughly first.

For $500 I was thoroughly "tested," and told I would receive as many as 10 referrals every month for five full years. These "dates" would be from my area and were guaranteed compatible to me.

In two years, I have been able to contact only three referrals, all of whom turned out to be duds. The others lived up to 300 miles away from me. I never received over two names a month and most weren't from my home state. No one has ever contacted me.

I called the dating service and found the phone had been disconnected. I tried the New York office — same results. They continue to send me names I can't contact, from an office I can't locate. I can't prove fraud, because they are providing names, but most definitely, I was "took."

There's probably no way I can get my $500 back, but maybe I can keep other suckers from losing their money. — COMPUTER LOSER.

DEAR C.L.:

It's my opinion that if you risk more than $25 on mechanical matchmaking, you're being "took." Those who spend $500 on a five-year service can't expect very much of the computer — or themselves — else why would it take five years to do the job?

True, "mating by machine" works about one-third of the time (if you find an honest company), but you could do almost as well on blind dates.

Your advice to other hopefuls, "C.L.," is so right: check first and don't expect miracles. I'll add: don't sign any long-range expensive contracts, for you might find the perfect mate in the first batch of names (but don't count on it). — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When people come to visit me, I expect to turn off TV and visit, or else let them share a really good program with me, if they wish.

But this boring dame drops in about three times a week, criticizes what I'm watching, tells me about a "great" program on another channel — and then when I turn to it, I find she's dropped off to sleep on the sofa before it's half over. But if I switch stations, she's awake like a flash, complaining.

She doesn't have a color set. I do — and I'd like to watch my favorites for a change. Without hurting her feelings, how can I? — PEEVED OVER T.V.

DEAR PEEVED OVER T.V.:

It's your house, your TV set and your sofa. If the dame doesn't like your programs, tell her she can sleep on someone else's couch. Which may hurt her feelings, but will relieve yours. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

This guy divorced his first wife to marry me. They have a baby. Now he has left me and is going steady with his first wife. I am pregnant. Do you suppose he doesn't like pregnant women, since his "ex" was six months along when he left her? Should I give him a divorce or hope he'll change when the baby comes? — T.W.

DEAR T.:

If you really thought of him as your husband would you call him "this guy"? Sometimes choice of words gives a good indication of the feelings behind them. You might be better off without a fickle fellow you never considered permanent, yes? — H.

Two-toned shoes are the big news for men of all tastes. Brown/white; black/white, and navy/white are fashion duos for the classic minded, while combinations as bright navy-bright green; red/blue; wine/black, are for those males with more derring-do. SMART SHOPPER

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — Skyrocketing prices for beef, America's favorite meat, are stirring unprecedented interest in alternative sources of essential protein.

Two large supermarket chains made history here last week by advertising that shoppers buy something other than beef while prices are rising so rapidly. Both firms, Giant Food and Safeway Stores, suggested that consumers consider buying poultry, eggs, fish and other protein products.

Smart shoppers have always known about these and other substitutes for beef. But it is rare when a retail organization lends its weight to the advice that home economists have been giving for many years.

It wasn't long before representatives of the beef industry were accusing the stores of urging a boycott. The last public furor that could be associated with a boycott was in 1966 when housewives in many places marched on supermarkets in protest over food prices in general.

TO BEEF lovers, Giant Food ads advised, "Buy something else."

Several "good protein alternatives to red meat are in plentiful supply now," said the ads, "and they are reasonably priced."

Among the items suggested were chickens, turkeys, "many kinds of fish," eggs and cheeses. In addition, said the ads, "dried beans, lentils, cereal grain products, macaroni and spaghetti and peanut butter, too, when combined with animal proteins and other foods, such as dairy products, make a meal of high quality protein.'

Safeway ads listed a number of "inflation fighters" so shoppers can "help fight inflation and eat well, too."

On the list were eggs, cottage cheese, fryers, bologna and several vegetables. They included sliced pickled beets, asparagus, lettuce, tomatoes, potatoes and oranges.

Almost any protein substitute is cheaper than beef as a source of protein. Sirloin and rib roasts are ordinarily the most expensive ways of getting protein.

A STUDY done a year ago by the New York State Extension Service showed that the cheapest sources of protein are dried beans and peanut butter, though the type of protein is not as complete as that in beef.

According to a survey of supermarkets at that time, the cost of 20 grams, approximately one-third of the daily recommended amount, of protein was only 4 cents for beans, 10 cents for peanut butter and 12 cents for canned pork and beans.

On the other end of the scale, the cost of 20 grams of protein was 62 cents for sirloin, 45 cents for rib roast and 42 for bacon. Other costs for 20 grams of protein were listed as follows:

Beef liver, 14 cents; whole-chicken ready to cook, 14 cents; large grade A eggs, 15 cents; cottage cheese, 15 cents; American processed cheese, 17 cents; tuna fish, 17 cents; hamburger, 19 cents; milk, 20 cents; frozen ocean perch fillets, 20 cents; Maine sardines, 22 cents; frozen fish sticks, 22 cents.

Also, canned chili with beans, 24 cents; cooked whole ham, 27 cents; all meat frankfurters, 31 cents; round steak, 37 cents; frozen pizza, 38 cents, and all meat bologna, 39 cents.

Many nutrition experts add that the average American's diet contains too much protein anyway, especially when the accompanying fat is considered.

If you belong in this average, protein substitutes may aid your health as well as your pocketbook.

Fabrics And Suedes

An important media spotlight falls on fabrics. Fabrics as denim and linen are exciting styled in dress shoes as well as in casual shoes and boots. Further newness is added with combinations of fabrics with suedes and patents to update important traditional shoe styling. And, too, don't overlook the importance of suede as a spring-summer media in men's footwear as well as in women's, in both casual and dress shoes.

Over 30 Years Experience In Nutrition

HERE'S HEALTH!

by JUNE EMBURY

Let us talk a little more about wheat and milling. It has been estimated that modern milling methods do away with more than 90% of the B vitamins present in the old storeground flour.

This is a serious loss, but perhaps even more important is the loss of vitamin E, which is present in the oils of the wheatgerm. Vitamin E has many important functions in the human body. If you want to enrich your diet with extra vitamin B and E use wheatgerm often! Sprinkle it on cereals, add it to all of your baking. But don't forget to store it in the refrigerator so it won't spoil and lose its vitamin E content.

An other excellent source of vitamin E is raw, inrefined wheatgerm oil. Viobin wheatgerm oil has been tested extensively on athletes and middle aged people. It has been found to improve endurance and stamina and reduce heartstress.

We have a booklet that tells more about these interesting studies, come and ask for your copy.

CAROL BOGARD
To sing Sunday

Soprano To Return To Marin

Soprano Carol Bogard will return to Marin to perform in a special Candlelight Concert with the Bach-to-Mozart group at 8 p.m. Sunday at the Outdoor Art Club in Mill Valley.

The singer, former soloist in Mill Valley's Bach-to-Mozart Candlelight Concerts, left five years ago.

She has gone on to national acclaim in appearances with the American National Opera, the Boston Opera and Symphony, New York's summer Mozart Festivals, Pittsburh Symphony, Cincinnati Summer Opera, and most recently in the National Educational Television production of "The Trial of Mary Lincoln."

She has also traveled to Europe for concerts, radio engagements and recordings, including leading roles in two Handel operas. Her first major recording in the Bay Area led to her engagement in the 1971 Amsterdam Opera production of Monteverdi's "Coronation of Poppae."

Upcoming performances include a concert at the Smithsonian Institution, another "Poppae" in the Caramoor Festival in New York and concert appearances in Berlin, Copenhagen and Rome.

In the Mill Valley concert, sponsored by the Homestead Valley Community Association, Miss Bogard will sing arias from Handel's "Amadige" and "Samson" and the J. S. Bach "Wedding Cantata." Also included in the program will be the Quartet for Clarinet and Strings by Karl Stamitz and the Mozart Quartet for Strings, No. 14 in E Flat, K. 428.

Bach-to-Mozart musicians performing will be Raymond Duste, oboe; Edward Haug, trumpet; Frealon Bibbins, clarinet; George Nagata and Donna Salarpi, violins; Asbjorn Finess, viola; Teresa Adams, cello, and Erika Matthes, harpsichord.

Ticket information may be obtained from Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt of Mill Valley.

Church Talk By Armed Separatists

BILBAO, Spain (UPI)—Six left-wing Basque separatists, all armed with submachine-guns, invaded a small church near Bilbao and delivered a speech from the altar about their movement, the official Spanish news agency CIFRA reported today.

The incident happened Sunday morning and climaxed a weekend of violence in the Basque provinces of northwestern Spain.

The separatists, assumed to be members of the outlawed "Basque Homeland and Liberty" (ETA) movement which seeks independence for the area, entered the church in the small town of Galdacano during mass.

While five men covered the congregation with their weapons, the sixth went to the altar and gave a short talk about ETA. Then the six fled.

Also Sunday, two policemen were wounded while trying to stop an attack on the transmitter of the "Voice of Spain" radio and television transmitter on Mount Ulia near San Sebastian.

Lindbergh Rescued In Caveman Forest

MANILA (UPI)—Charles A. Lindbergh was rescued from a remote rain forest in the southern Philippines Sunday where he joined an expedition to observe the world's only living cavemen. He returned to Manila today.

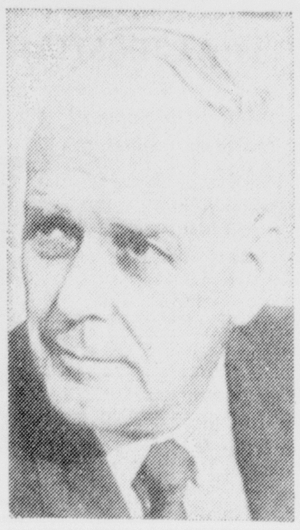
Lindbergh, the aviator, was with a party of 46, including two American newsmen, rescued by a U.S. Air Force helicopter in Cotabato Province, 580 miles southeast of Manila, it is home for the cave-dwelling Tasaday "lost tribe."

The expedition had been in the area since March 23, observing the life-style of the cave dwellers, when its helicopter broke down Friday and its supplies started to run low.

The leader of the expedition, Filipino millionaire-philantrophist Manuel Elizalde Jr., radioed for assistance and the U.S. Embassy in Manila alerted the Air Force.

Lindbergh flew into the U.S. Clark air base, 50 miles north of Manila, Sunday night and then left for Manila. A spokesman for the Panamin Foundation, a government-supported group which looks after Philippine cultural minorities and which sponsored the expedition, said Lindbergh was expected to fly back this week to the United States to attend to "important commitments."

The publicity-shy Lindbergh, the first man to solo the Atlantic Ocean, was not immediately available for a statement. He has been a frequent visitor to the Philippines the past three years in the course of his work as a conservationist and has accepted the position of director in the Panamin Foundation.



CHARLES A. LINDBERGH
Tasaday expedition

The Panamin expedition first encountered the 24 surviving members of the tribe on the edge of a forest clearing in June. Anthropologists said before they were discovered that the Tasadays had been isolated from civilization for 1,500 to 2,000 years.

It was only March 23, however, that the expedition actually discovered the cave dwellings of the Tasadays 4,000 feet high on a mountainside deep in the Cotabato rain forest. The Rev. Frank Lynch, a Jesuit priest from New York City who joined the expedition as an anthropologist for three days, said it was the first discovery of living cave dwellers in modern times.

ITT Investigation Delayed By Illness

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dita D. Beard, the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp. lobbyist whose heart condition reportedly will prevent her from testifying before a Senate committee for six months, slipped out of her hospital room for a 90-minute television interview, it was disclosed Sunday.

Mrs. Beard, against the advice of her doctors, signed herself out of the Mountain Valley Osteopathic Hospital Saturday for the interview with CBS correspondent Mike Wallace for the "Sixty Minutes" show aired Sunday.

When she left the hospital, Mrs. Beard wore a sweater and skirt. She donned a floor-length, gray hospital gown with a high neck and long sleeves for the interview.

"I feel fine," she told Wallace. "That was a pretty strong pill the doctor gave me before we left ...As soon as I get back to bed I'll be all right." Mrs. Beard is due to be released from the hospital Tuesday.

When members of the Senate Judiciary Committee came to the hospital March 26 to question Mrs. Beard about the memo she allegedly wrote which linked the settlment of an anti-trust suit against ITT with the company's pledge to give $400,000 to help underwrite the Republican convention, she had a relapse of heart problems. The interview was cut short.

Her doctors said she would not be able to testify before the committee for another six months.

CBS said the interview was filmed at the place where Mrs. Beard will convalesce after her release from the hospital. The location was not revealed.

During the interview, which ran as an 11-minute segment on the show, Mrs. Beard again denied writing the memo and repeated her earlier statements that former Attorney General John Mitchell had rebuffed her attempts to discuss the anti-trust case.

Fool's Story Will Be Told

The Commedia Della Vita, an improvisational group of the Renaissance Center, will present "The Fool—His Story From Pre-History to the Twentieth Century" at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the girls gymnasium at Novato High School.

There will be no admission charge for junior and senior high school students enrolled in English classes or accompanying parents.

The center said the performance was made possible by a grant given to Novato schools in honor of the city's 12th birthday.

Coins Taken

Thieves ransacked the offices of the Neil Cummins School at 58 Mohawk Drive, Corte Madera, last week, stealing $26 in coins, police reported today. They said the robbery was discovered last Wednesday morning, and took place Tuesday night or early Wednesday.

Aspin Asks For My Lai Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., today asked a federal court to order the Pentagon to turn over to him its confidential investigative report on the My Lai massacre.

Aspin, a former analyst in the Defense Department, invoked the Freedom of Information Act in his suit. The law requires access by the public to government documents except those exempted for security reasons.

Aspin demanded release of the "Peers Commission Report" on the layings of Vietnamese civilians by U.S. troops at My Lai, and asked the court to order Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird and Army Secretary Robert F. Froehlke to comply. He claimed the report was not protected by exemptions in the Freedom of Information law.

In a letter to Laird Feb. 18, Aspin said the Army's claim that the report might affect pending prosecution of individuals named in the report no longer was valid since all trials were completed and only an appeal —that of Lt. William L. Caliey —was pending.

A spokesman for Aspin said that "obviously on an appeal, new evidence cannot be introduced but only questions of law and procedure can be raised" so that the Pentagon excuse no longer was valid.

An Army counsel, in response to Aspin's letter, claimed exemption under the information act on grounds that release would violate personal privacy, that the report is an intraagency memorandum and that it is still "a crucial part of the pending administrative actions."

"The paramount interest at this time is to maintain an atmosphere in which military justice can be dispensed without prejudice to the rights of those individuals involved," Robert W. Berry, general counsel for the Army, wrote to Aspin.

"The Pentagon's adamant refusal to release the report only raises new doubts about the extent of the brutal massacre and the subsequent coverup by senior American officers," said Aspin.

Photographer Tells Of Shoot-Out

By MARY LEYDECKER

SAN JOSE — Independent-Journal photographer Jim Kean today took the stand in the Angela Davis Case to give a personal account of the events of Aug. 7, 1970, to accompany the pictures he had taken of the Civic Center shoot-out.

Kean, like an earlier witness, said he had heard the kidnappers demand that the Soledad Brothers to freed.

The prosecution contends that Miss Davis is guilty of murder, kidnap and conspiracy stemming from an aborted plot that was aimed at the rescue of Soledad Brother George Jackson, a plot that ended in the death of Judge Harold J. Haley and three other persons.

Kean related today how he almost became one of four hostages taken at gunpoint from the Hall of Justice to a rental van which ultimately was involved in a bloody shoot-out.

"Come on — you're going, too," Kean said he was told by San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee as the convicts herded the hostages toward an elevator in the hall of justice.

Kean said he "fell into line" between the judge and the other hostages, three women jurors, and Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas.

At that point, Kean said, young Jonathan Jackson came up from behind and told Magee "we don't want this xxxxxxxxxxx, we've got enough."

Then just before the group entered the elevator, Kean said, San Quentin convict James D. McClain told him "Tell them we want the Soledad Brothers freed by 12 o'clock."

The photographer said he asked McClain to repeat what he had said and after McClain did so, Kean asked him, "Do you mean 12 o'clock today or midnight?"

After McClain said he meant 12 o'clock today, Kean said he took out a little notebook he had in his shirt pocket and wrote "Soledad Brothers" in it. He went on to say that he later could not find the notebook, but it was his custom to throw such tablets away when they were filled.

As the convicts and their frightened hostages got into the elevator, Kean said young Jackson told him with a smile "You can come along if you want, but you may get killed."

Earlier Kean testified how when he arrived at the Hall of Justice after hearing the report of the emergency on the police radio, he saw men come around a corner of the hall with something strapped to the neck of Judge Haley. Then he saw the hostages, and one of the convicts, William Christmas, told him to "take all the photographs you want — we are the revolutionaries."

He even was instructed by convict McClain "be sure and get a good picture of the judge," Kean said. Also, Kean said, he was a "close personal acquaintance of Judge Haley." Kean said he did not follow the judge and McClain when they walked down a hall at one point. He said he was "too busy" taking pictures of other events at that moment.

After the desperate men and their hostages left the building, Kean went out onto a balcony where he took a series of pictures showing the group moving toward and finally entering the rented van.

By the time he ran down a flight of stairs, hearing several shots, Kean saw the van stopped on the other side of the building in the street.

Several men rushed up and opened the doors of the van, Kean said, and he saw two of the jurors being helped to the ground.

Kean was the fourth witness during the trial which began last week and is expected to last several months.

Novato Police Suspect Driver

Kevin John Gingher, 19, of 1005 Greenwood Drive, was to appear in Marin Municipal Court today on suspicion of hit-run driving and injuring another driver.

Novato police said a car driven by Gingher collided with the rear of a car driven by Ilse F. Duffy, 40, of 17 Grande Vista, at Virginia Avenue and Simmons Lane at 3 p.m., and Mrs. Duffy complained of pain.

Mrs. Duffy told police Gingher refused to identify himself and police said he failed to fill out a report of the accident. He posted $1,200 bail.

Two Novato Youths Hurt After Chase

Two Novato youths were treated for injuries Saturday at Novato General Hospital following a high speed auto chase and accident.

Wade James Blakesley, 16, of 1180 Rosalia Drive and his brother, Paul Warren Blakesley, 15, were injured when their car ran off the north side of School Road near Atherton Avenue, went through 20 feet of wooden fence, left the ground, and rolled over on impact, according to Novato police and the California Highway Patrol. The car came to rest in a field.

Novato police said the accident at 12:05 a.m. capped a five-and-a-half-mile pursuit that reached 100 miles per hour. They said the chase started near a drive-in restaurant on Ignacio Boulevard, which Blakesley left at a high speed. Police said when a patrol car attempted to stop the pair they sped away.

Police said Blakesley would be cited for reckless driving.

Policy Against Development To Be Discussed

The Novato City Council is scheduled to discuss a proposed ordinance regulating development in the Novato Creek Flood Plain at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the community house.

Charles E. Murphy, Marin County Flood Control engineer, has been invited to explain the proposed ordinance.

The council also is scheduled to have a hearing on construction of traffic islands as part of the Vallejo Street improvement project.

The council approved the project Tuesday, but left the issue of traffic islands open after adjacent property owners objected.

San Quentin Trial Costs $300,000

San Quentin Trial costs — excluding the Ruchell Magee murder trial — are expected to run about $300,000 next fiscal year, county auditor-controller Michael Mitchell said today.

Mitchell said about $200,000 is being budgeted for the trial of six San Quentin inmates suspected of murdering guards and other inmates during an escape attempt last August.

About $150,000 of that amount will go toward attorneys' fees since each prisoner will be represented by a separate attorney, he said.

Normally, about $100,000 is budgeted each year to handle routine court matters stemming from San Quentin.

Mitchell said the total amount next year is expected to be covered by the state.

Magee trial costs are covered by special legislation and are still subject to some negotiation with state officials.

All-Year Schools Report Tonight

The Fairfax School District board will hear a report on year-round schools at its meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in White Hill School.

The board will also hear a report on staff needs for the 1972-73 school year.

Carmichael Man Dies In Crash

A 75-year-old man from Carmichael, Sacramento County, became Marin's 10th traffic fatality this year when his car collided with another, then struck a pole at the north end of the Golden Gate Bridge Saturday, according to the California Highway Patrol.

William B. Shaw was pronounced dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital about 5:10 p.m., according to hospital authorities. A passenger in his car, Dolores M. Hale of Sacramento was reported in satisfactory condition today at the hospital with back injuries.

Driver of the other car, Mary Etta McCoy, 1151 Ransome Drive, Novato was uninjured, according to officers.

Council Election Turns Into Race

The election of members of the Marin City Council tomorrow has turned into a race with the registration of six candidates for the five seats available, it was reported today by Hazel Curry, secretary of the council election committee.

According to Mrs. Curry, these persons signed up before the deadline Friday: Jackie Harris of 341 Drake Avenue, Ernest Small of 74 Cole Drive, James Bullock of 723 Drake, Royce McLemore of 975 Drake, Roosevelt Van Dyke of Cole Drive and Levella Bland of Cole Drive.

The polls will be open from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. tomorrow at the former fire house near Manzanita Center.

Enrollment For Kindergarten Set

Registration for children who will attend kindergarten in San Anselmo schools next year will be held April 12 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Brookside, Isabel Cook, Wade Thomas, Sleepy Hollow and Yolansdale schools.

Children should register at the school nearest their home, and must be at least 4 years, 9 months of age on Sept. 2, 1972. They must have a birth certificate or other legal verification of age and an immunization record against measles, polio and diphtheria, pertussin and tetanus.

Coins Taken

Thieves ransacked the offices of the Neil Cummins School at 58 Mohawk Drive, Corte Madera, last week, stealing $26 in coins, police reported today. They said the robbery was discovered last Wednesday morning, and took place Tuesday night or early Wednesday.

Special College Tax Rate May Drop 7

The special tax rate for 1972-73 construction in the Marin Community College District will probably fall about seven cents below the ceiling of 32 cents per $100 assessed valuation set in November.

Dale A. Fleming, director of planning for the district, today predicted a tax rate of about 25 cents based on the assumption the district will have to raise about $1.60 million to match $1.15 million in state funds for 1972-73.

Fleming said the district "erred on the high side intentionally" in setting the 32-cent rate in case construction costs rose faster than anticipated by the state.

He said his predictions are only rough estimates. More precise information will be prepared within two weeks for use by the district's board during budget hearings.

Most of the 1972-73 building money will be used to equip the library, remodel the art building and construct outdoor athletic facilities at the College of Marin and to finance working drawings and site preparation of the planned Novato campus, Indian Valley Colleges.

Failure of a a16.8 million local bond issue in November led the district to finance the work with an annual tax and spread what had been 10 years of construction over 20 years.

Boxer Vote Drive Fund Is Reported At $1,830

Contributions totaling $1,830 toward her supervisorial campaign were reported today by Barbara Boxer of Greenbrae.

Mrs. Boxer has challenged the other two candidates in the Second Supervisorial District also to release lists of contributors, but they have not done so. The other two are incumbent Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Dr. William J. Filante.

The State Election Code requires identification of contributors and the amounts each gave only when the amount is $500 or more.

Mrs. Boxer, in a press release, reported 75 contributions, including 49 up to $50. This list included a contribution from Michae R. Peevey of San Rafael, a candidate for supervisor in the Fourth District.

Eleven contributions from $50 to $100 were listed by name, as were five between $100 and $125 from Michael Tobriner, Howard Jewell, Peter Elkind, Suzanne Irwin and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Beeson.

Her voluntary disclosure covered contributions through Friday. She has vowed to release monthly lists.

Accident Victim Slightly Improved

A 9-year-old Fairfax girl was reported slightly improved though in serious condition today at Marin General Hospital with injuries suffered in a traffic accident on March 19. She had been in critical condition for the past two weeks.

Regina A. Brown of 35 Berry Trail suffered a severe head injury in the accident when, according to police, she and her sister ran onto a San Anselmo street into the path of a car.

Her 2-year-old sister, Ziva, was treated for minor injuries.

Injury To Larkspur Man In Collision

Roy B. Berg, 25, of 9 Branch Avenue, Larkspur, has been treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries received when his motorcycle collided with a car.

According to the California Highway Patrol, Berg was entering Highway 101 northbound from Blithedale Avenue, near Strawberry Town and Country Village, when he collided with a car driven by Mary C. Limont, 16, of 445 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley, on Friday night.

Volunteer Firemen Ask New Station

Mill Valley volunteer firemen have sent out 6,000 appeals to residents asking for $275,000 in bonds to build a second fire station east of Camino Alto near Enchanted Knolls on city-owned land.

The request, for a yes vote on Measuer A in the April 11 election, is a necessary one, according to the association.

"The eastward growth of Mill Valley has placed many areas too far away, and separated by too much city traffic, to be adequately protected," according to the association.

It would not be necessary to buy more fire equipment because present equipment could be divided between two stations, the statement said.

A taxpayer with a $40,000 home would be assessed $4.80 per year decreasing annually in proportion to an increase in assessed valuation, according to association members.

Belvedere Trash Fees Going Up

Belvedere City Councilmen will consider the application of the Mill Valley refuse service for an immediate 15 per cent increase in fees for trash collection at a regular council meeting tonight at 8 p.m.

The rate increase was first proposed last summer, but withdrawn during phase one of the price freeze. It is now being resubmitted, and city staff has recommended that the increase be approved.

The increase would be 15 per cent effective immediately, an additional five per cent on April 1 of next year and five per cent more the following year.

The council will also hear a proposal from Viacom International Inc., for installation of a cable television system within the city, and will consider signing lighting and road improvements on Tiburon Boulevard at San Rafael Avenue.

Town Council Will Meet Tonight

The Corte Madera Town Council will consider setting up an assessment district for widening San Clemente Drive, and a resolution governing use of town tennis courts at its regular meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. today.

Also to be discussed are a request from the chamber of commerce for $1,000 toward the July 4 celebration and two traffic intersection problems.

Shoulder Bruised In One-Car Crash

Elizabeth N. Haislip, 21, of San Carlos, was treated at Hillcrest Hospital for right shoulder bruises suffered in a one-car accident Saturday at 5 a.m. on Perry Road, Petaluma.

Police said her car struck a chain link fence as she misjudged a turn onto Highway 101.

EAST'S SITUATION

You are East. Your partner opens the king of diamonds, and dummy wins with the ace.

Declarer cashes the ace of hearts, leads a club to the king and then draws three more rounds of trumps, discarding low diamonds from the dummy.

South next leads a low spade and finesses with dummy's queen. Since you are a very fine player, you nonchalantly drop the nine of spades on this trick.

The idea is to persuade South that his finesse has succeeded. Perhaps he will be foolish enough to get back on his hand with the ace of clubs and finesse with the jack of spades. Then you will pounce on the trick with your king of spades, and South will be down! He will lose a spade, two diamonds and a club.

WATCH OUT FOR PARTNER

In a hand like this you must watch out for your partner. When declarer finesses with dummy's queen of spades, your partner may reach for the trick-showing that he expects you to win with the king.

This is a dead giveaway. Declarer will not take a second spade finesse, and your plot will fail. (An expert declarer would not take a second finesse anyway, but that's another story.)

HOW TO PREVENT

How do you prevent your partner from reaching across the table?

That's what the ruler is for. One sharp rap over the knuckles will remind your partner not to reach for a trick the next time. (Incidentally, don't have more than one ruler in the house or your partner may have one on the other side of the table.)

Snakes Appear Due To Warmer Weather

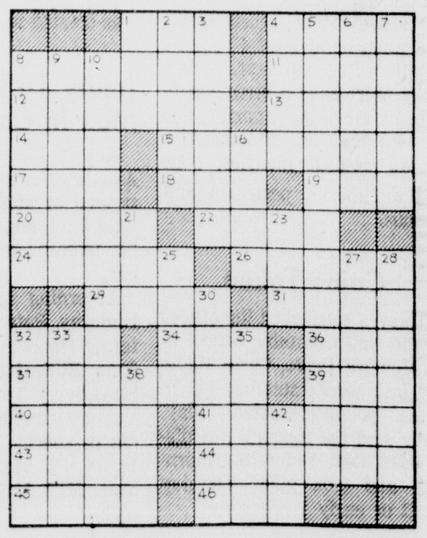
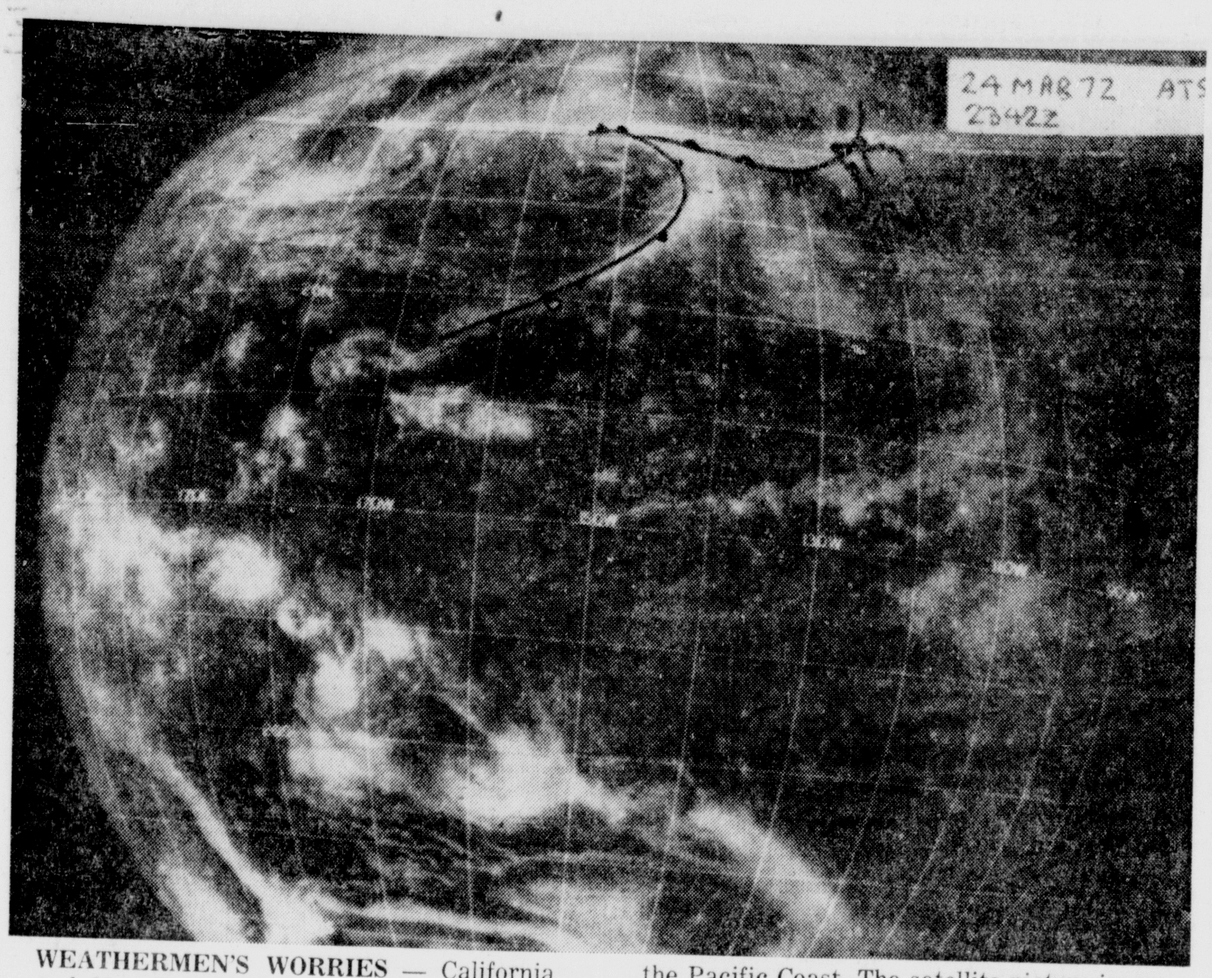
Saturday's Answer





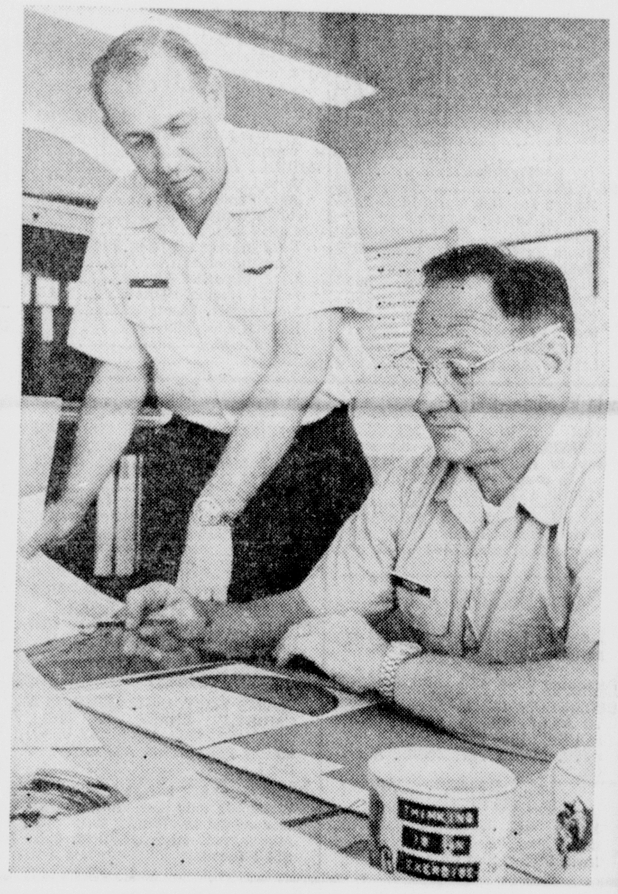
WEATHERMEN'S WORRIES — California and Nevada are the outlined areas in the upper right corner to the weather detachment at Hamilton Air Force Base which spends its hours tracking the swirls of clouds and warm and cold fronts bearing down on the Pacific Coast. The satellite picture is one of several tools the 25 persons assigned to Detachment 5 of the 4th Weather Wing employ daily to warn flyers what weather to expect.

PLOTTING WEATHER — M/Sgt Harold Storey, duty forecaster, relays information from a surface weather map while SM/Sgt. William Osburn, first sergeant of the squadron, refers to a wall chart on which the wind at 4,000 feet has been plotted. In addition to forecasting, the detachment gives mandatory air crew briefings and makes climate studies.

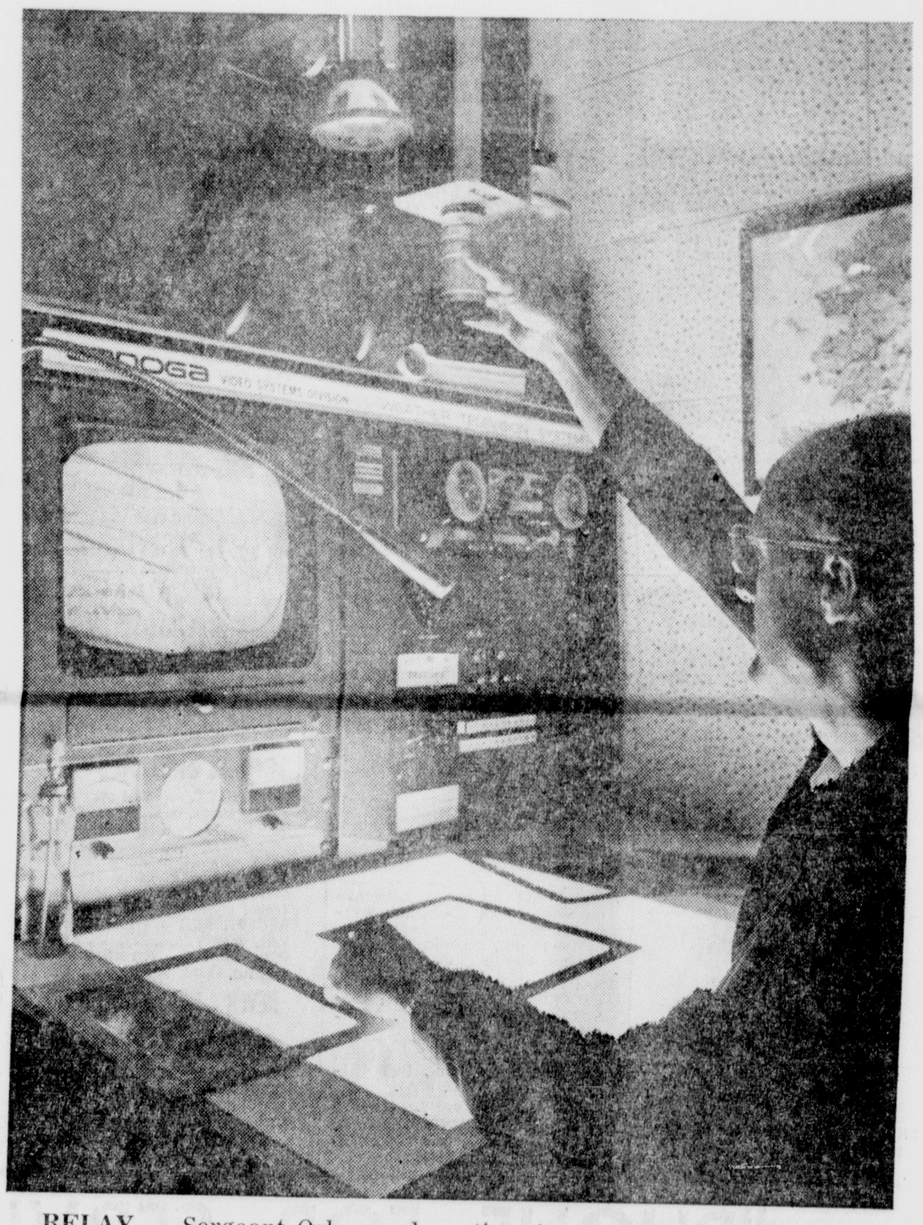
(Independent-Journal photos by Bob Hax)

Hamilton Crew Has Eye On Sky

MANDATORY BRIEFING — First lieutenants Terry L. Bock and Stephen E. Jaros consult a weather map during a mandatory preflight briefing by Sergeant Storey.

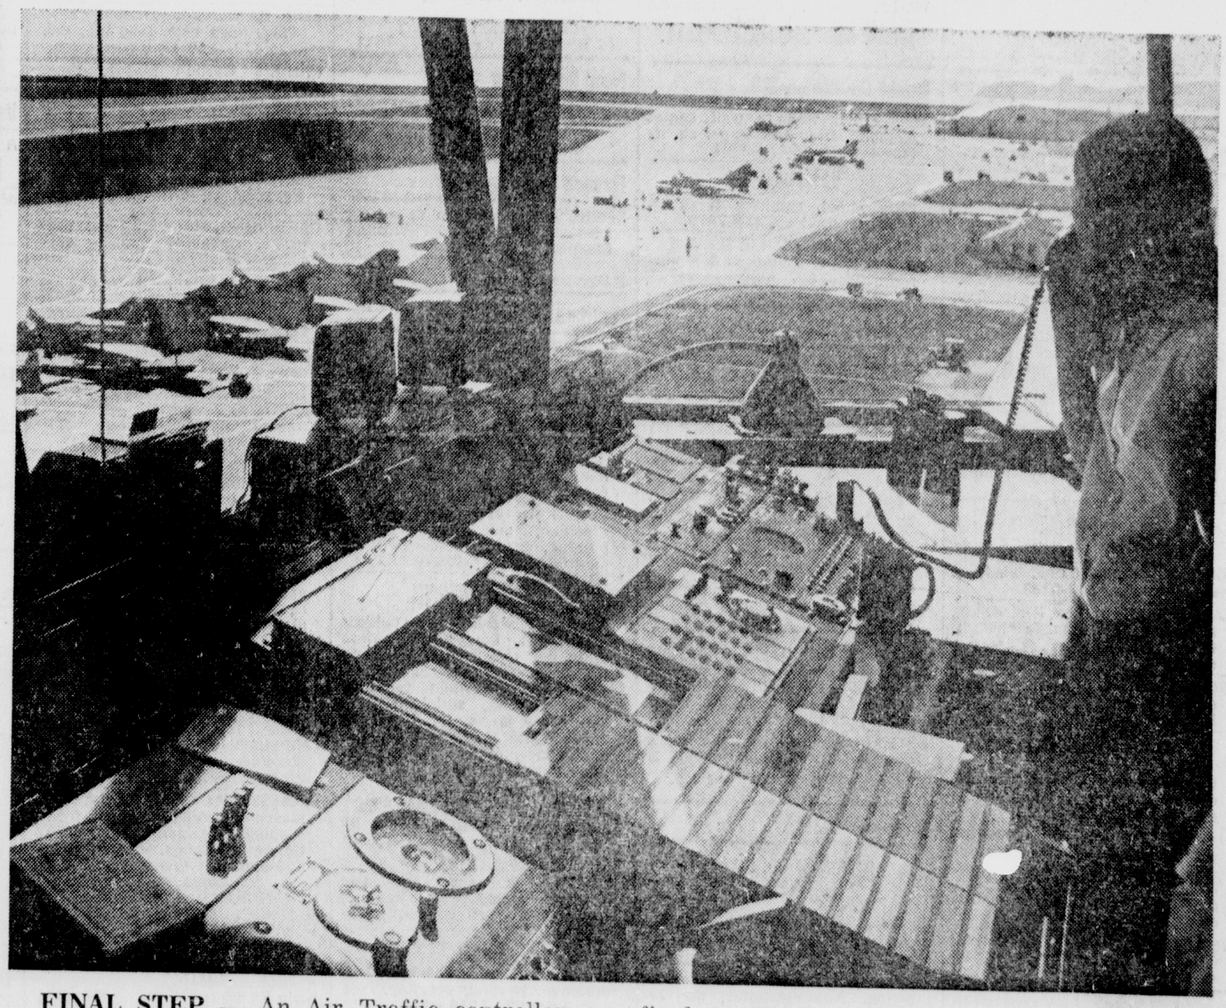


EVALUATION — CWO Thomas Yasger, chief forecaster, reviews reports which compare and grade each forecast for technical effectiveness and accuracy while Maj. Clarence Duff stands by.



RELAY — Sergeant Osburn adjusts the television camera which relays weather information from the station at the base operations center to flight squadrons at the base. The information is also fed to Offutt Air Force Base, Neb., where it is compiled for broadcast on request to any Air Force installation in the world.

FLIGHT PLAN — Two pilots file flight plans with Sgt. Jacque Montgomery at base operations after their weather briefing. The flight plan requires a weather breifing for a flight of any distance.



FINAL STEP — An Air Traffic controller clears a pilot for takeoff while other planes line the runway. The control tower gives final approval after clearance through the weather and base operations sections.

★A GOOD INVESTMENT

Here's one worth considering. It has a very nice 3 bedroom, hardwood floor home on a 50x150 lot. It even has a 2-car garage. In addition, there is another lot 170x175 where it is possible to rezone to take an 18 or 19 unit apartment house. Close to shopping and transportation. It's real hard to equal . . . because, where can you buy an excellent 3 bedroom home plus a separate lot for apartments all for $62,500?

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Surgery On Larynx New Way To Substitute The Voice Box

When a cancerous voice box is removed (laryngectomy), the individual must use other means to talk. At present, esophageal speech is the most useful method. However, it is difficult to master. Mechanical and electronic devices also are available. Surgical reconstruction of the larynx is a newer method. A group of Canadian surgeons recently perfected a one-stage procedure for constructing a substitute voice-producing organ. Speech is restored within three to four weeks after the operation.

Hoarseness means there is a disturbance of the vocal cords. The cause of the symptom is obvious when it is associated with a cold or follows too much cheering at a sports event. The situation is different when hoarseness develops gradually and persists for more than three weeks.

GROWTHS ON the vocal cords may be responsible. If the condition does not improve within three weeks, consult a physician with the tools and ability to make a first-hand inspection of the voice box.

Public speakers, actors, singers, hucksters, and others who abuse the voice may develop innnocent nodes on the vocal cords. These nodules cause hoarseness and many disappear after resting the voice. They can also be removed with an electric current. But the main reason for taking a peek into the larynx is to rule out cancer. And the sooner a diagnosis is made, the better the results, if surgery is necessary. It may be possible to save enough of the cord to preserve the voice. Waiting too long may prove fatal.

THERE ARE three main ways of treating a carcinoma of the larynx: Radiation, surgery or both. The choice depends upon the size and extent of the cancer and its location. In extensive growths, the area is radiated initially and then the entire vocal cord is removed (laryngectomy). This leaves the individual with an opening just below the Adam's apple through which he breathes.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

VAGOTOMY

E. R. T. writes: Why is vagotomy done?

REPLY

To divorce the stomach from the brain. The vagus nerve controls the churning movements and secretions of the stomach. When the fibers of this nerve are cut, the gastric pouch quiets down and the acid content is reduced. This is a good therapy for the highpowered, tense, nervous ulcer patient, but the operation may not be needed because we have drugs that depress the action of the vagus nerve.

NITROGLYCERIN TABLETS

E. W. S. writes: What would happen if a person without heart trouble took a few nitroglycerin tablets?

REPLY

Very little, unless several tablets were held under the tongue. In these circumstances, the individual would feel flush and might develop a headache or feel lightheaded.

Sentences For 3 Drunk Drivers

Three persons were sentenced Thursday in Marin Municipal Court by Judge Peter Allen Smith for drunken driving.

Sentenced were:

Stanley Allen Jacobs, 23, of 881 Fourth Street, San Rafael, arrested March 22 on Highway 101, placed on probation for two years and fined $150 or must work 40 hours for Marin County Parks and Recreation Department.

Charles Burns Antonelli, 33, of Gate 5, Sausalito, arrested March 25 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $275.

Henry Anselm Sutton, 50, of San Francisco, arrested March 14 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $250.

Youth Hurt In 3-Car Collision

Tony Luchessi, 19, of 265 Cardinal Road, Tamalpais Valley, has been treated at Marin General Hospital for injuries received in a three-car accident on Highway 101.

The California Highway Patrol said Luchessi changed lanes in front of another vehicle and hit the hgihway's center divider twice Friday, coming to rest at 10:40 p.m. south of The Lucky Drive onramp.

A third car, driven by Sandra C. Marrujo of San Francisco, stopped behind Luchessi's auto. According to highway patrol reports, a fourth car struck the Marrujo vehicle, driving it into Luchessi's car.

The patrol said the fourth car was driven by Eugene C. Reed, 27, of Glen Ellen.

School District Seeks Principal

Trustees of the San Anselmo School District will consider the appointment of an interim principal for Red Hill School at a special meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the library of Red Hill School.

The school has been without a full-time principal since the death of Principal Donald Shaw. Acting principal has been Ivan Cappell.

The trustees will also consider a preliminary budget for the district, and will hear a report on a request for a legal hearing by a number of district teachers notified they may not be rehired next year.

The board will also review the district's 1972-73 calendar.

Supervisors Will Study Financing An Honor Farm

The Marin county board of supervisors, meeting tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. at the Civic Center, again will consider financing an honor farm for some jail inmates.

The proposal, submitted by the county administrator's office, requests permission for the county to sign a lease for the abandoned Nike missile site in Santa Venetia and begin renovating its structures.

Last month, the board was told that its application for $200,000 in federal funds to start the project had been rejected.

However, the county administrator's office maintains that the honor farm — even at total county expense — is the best means to alleviate overcrowding at the county jail.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors agenda also includes:

TRANSIT — A meeting of the county transit district board beginning at 8:30 a.m. at the Civic Center.

NIGHT MEETINGS — An evaluation of monthly night meetings held by supervisors. Last week, the board staged its sixth and final "trial" night meeting, pending the review.

REZONING — A proposal to rezone about 1,000 acres west of Fairfax to allow less development than permitted under present zoning. The rezoning has been approved by the county planning commission.

INDIAN VALLEY — A proposal to rezone 620 acres in the Indian Valley area near Novato to a minimum of one acre per homesite in the flat areas and larger on the hillsides. The rezoning is supported by residents who want to protect the "rural atmosphere" of the valley.

Priorities On Gas Taxes To Be Discussed

The Marin County Transit District board, meeting tomorrow at 8:30 a.m. at the Civic Center, will consider setting priorities for use of gas tax revenues allocated to public transit.

While it is still in doubt whether the transit district will receive the funds, the district's staff has proposed five possible uses.

These include acquisition of Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way property, acquisition of buses for intracounty use, to help pay the operating deficit of existing bus operations, demonstration projects and support facilities for intracounty buses.

Still in question is whether the thousands of dollars expected from the new tax will be given to the county or to the Golden Gate Bridge District.

May Fill School Vacancy

The San Rafael City Council is expected to appoint a new member to the city's board of education tonight, replacing Paul L. Jones.

The council must choose a replacement within 60 days of Jones' resignation, which was submitted Feb. 18.

Ten residents have expressed a desire to fill the seat: Paul McMullen, Dr. Charles B. Peek, Donald J. Urquhart, Alice Mary Vipiana, Donald R. Wellington, two-term board member Carl J. Brown, James Looney, Dr. Melvin B. Fox, Irwin Taranto and Marie J. Sessi.

Jones, of 735 Las Colindas Road, Terra Linda, has said he and his wife are moving back to San Diego, where they lived from 1928 to 1952.

The city council is also expected to invite bids on bonds for work in the East San Rafael Drainage Assessment District No. 1.

It will also hear a request from senior citizens for more parking and future housing for the senior citizens recreational program and hear reports on community redevelopment, sphere of influence for annexations and removal of billboards along Highway 101.

SPORT NOTES

Warriors Can Not Match Buck Might

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The hand-made sign at the end of the court spelled out in bright letters for the color television cameras, "The Warriors Are Worth a Million Bucks." But 11 Bucks were enough.

It was in the Oakland Coliseum Arena Saturday night and the Milwaukee Bucks were manhandling the resident Warriors from the Golden State in the third game of their National Basketball Association playoff series.

With six minutes and 12 seconds remaining in the game, Warriors coach Al Attles called time out, his team trailing, 100-78. As if on cue, a mass exodus began to the parking lot. They had seen enough. When it was all over, the Bucks had whipped the Warriors, 122-94, taking a 2-1 lead in the best of seven series. The teams will meet again tomorrow night in Oakland before moving on to Milwaukee.

It was a very vocal crowd Saturday night — at least during the first part of the game. Things got quieter when it was evident the better team was going to win. I like rooting for the home team as well as the next fan, but when two teams are obviously the best of the bunch, it's only fitting they meet for the western conference championship. I am, of course, talking about the Bucks and Los Angeles Lakers. As the Lakers have won their first three9from the Chicago Bulls, it looks as if this will come to be.

IN THE MAIL this morning was my press ticket to the Giants' games in Candlestick Park and information about the opening day game against the San Diego Padres Thursday. I plan to get there bright and early, even if I'm the only person at the ball park.

If the strike continues through opening day, will the ballplayers carry picket signs? In other strikes, management has been known to take over the chores of the laborers. Will the front office people — men like Horace Stoneham, Jerry Donovan and John Taddeucci — wear the flannels and perform on the field? It's a thought.

WITH THE trade of southpaw pitcher Sparky Lyle by Boston to the New York Yankees for the first baseman-outfielder Danny Cater, a big responsibility has fallen upon the shoulders of Terra Linda product Bill Lee. With Lyle gone, Lee is the No. 1 southpaw reliever for the Red Sox. He is coming off a fine season in which he won nine games and lost two.

Bucks, Warriors Tomorrow

OAKLAND (UPI) — Milwaukee's scoring bursts and its heavy defense patterns weigh the minds of Golden State Warriors strategists today as they plan game four of the National Basketball Association semifinal playoffs.

Golden State enters Tuesday's game in Oakland Coliseum Arena a decided statistical and psychological underdog, trailing 2-1 in the best-of-seven Pacific Division series.

"The pressure has to be a little greater on the Warriors," said Bucks' coach Larry Costello after Saturday night's 122-94 victory over Golden State in the arena. "Our defense is the key. It is a case of getting to know the team you are playing a little better. And being able to see on films how successful your defense can be."

Milwaukee also operated in the scoring department with machinegun bursts. The Warriors would string together a few points, and then the Bucks would burst for eight to 10. Late in the first quarter for instance, the Warriors had a ballgame going—trailing just 19-17.

Then John Block collected two free throws, Kareem Abdul-Jabbar hit two hooks and Bob Dandridge glided through for a layup. The only Warrior scoring in that time--just under two minutes—was Jim Barnett's free throw.

Warriors coach Al Attles said the big problem was turnovers, which the Bucks converted with disturbing consistancy.

"Turnovers can kill you and it certainly did..." he said. "They're playing a better defense now than they did before, but it is a lot easier to look good on defense when we're throwing the ball away."

First Big League Strike Considered 'Traumatic'

NEW YORK (UPI) —John Gaherin calls it "a traumatic experience." Marvin Miller is playing a pat hand. Ballplayers continue to pack and make a mass exodus from the Florida sunshine.

The baseball strike is on for real.

Miller, executive director of the Players Association, and Gaherin, chief counsel for the club owners, met for 90 minutes Sunday, a meeting Gaherin described as "informal."

"There's been no progress," said Gaherin. "The separation between the two parties hasn't narrowed although we spent today trying to narrow it. The main issues remain the same."

The major league players, who voted by a 47-0 margin Friday to go on strike, are seeking a 17 per cent increase in the pension fund, amounting to $1,072,000. The players insist this amount is necessary to bring the plan up to cost-of-living parity with what it was worth at the time of the last contract three years ago.

The players want the club owners to fork over $817,000 they claim is available through a surplus created by increased rates on interest loans, overfunding and overestimating payments for disabled players. The players contend if the owners free the $817,000, then each club would have to add only $11,000 to the pension plan to raise it to the $1,072,000 level.

Gaherin said that the owners have already made their annual contribution of $5.4 million to the fund and have also offered a $400,000 addition to the health benefit part of the plan.

Certain owners have suggested that to free the $817,000 for the fund would be impractical and would undermine the plan.

The owners want the entire pension plan brought under the scrutiny of a panel of actuaries acceptable to both parties.

"The recommendations of the actuaries will be examined in good faith (by the owners) and then we'll make our recommendations," said Gaherin. "We may approve of some parts of the program and disapprove of others."

Both sides also stood fast on the issue of arbitration. Miller is adamant on the side of a neutral arbitrator. The owners are dead set against it.

"We think this matter should be decided by collective bargaining," maintained Gaherin. "We do not want to transfer the issue to a third party who has no real authority over our business and doesn't know its ins and outs."

The players had previously agreed to halt the strike if the owners would consent to binding arbitration through a third party.

The strike has shut down all spring training operations and forced cancellation of all exhibition games since Saturday. The Houston Astros-Cincinnati Reds season opener, scheduled for Wednesday, now seems highly unlikely.

Gaherin thought it unfortunate that the issue had reached a point where the players felt it necessary to strike.

"The players simply misunderstand the situation," said Gaherin, "and the positions of the clubs have not been clearly stated in reporting.

"The position we're taking is designed to preserve benefits the players now have. Not a single major league player will be deprived of a benefit in 1972 that he had in 1971. Considering the fact that we're willing to subject the whole pension system to a close examination, why should there be a strike? I don't know."

Presidents Joe Cronin of the American League and Chub Feeney of the National were not present at Sunday's talks, but are expected to be at today's formal session, at which miller is expected to be accompanied by counsel and some player representatives.

Giants Arrive Home

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco Giants are back in town but strictly out of uniform.

The Giants returned home Saturday night, thanks to owner Horace Stoneham.

The players requested to be sent home from Arizona as a team following the baseball strike and Stoneham agreed.

More than half the 25-man squad lives in the Bay Area and those with homes here invited out-of-town teammates to bunk in with them until the strike is over.

"We wanted to be close by so that we will be ready to go when the strike is settled," said Willie Mays. "If we scattered all over the country it might take a few days to get us all together again. We owe it to Mr. Stoneham to be ready to play as soon as possible."

Stoneham agreed to pay the way home but stipulated the players would have to pay their way back to wherever the squad is slated to play when the strike ends.

Some players who live outside the area would have found going home costly.

Outfielder Jimmy Rosario, for instance, would have had to pay his way back from Puerto Rico.

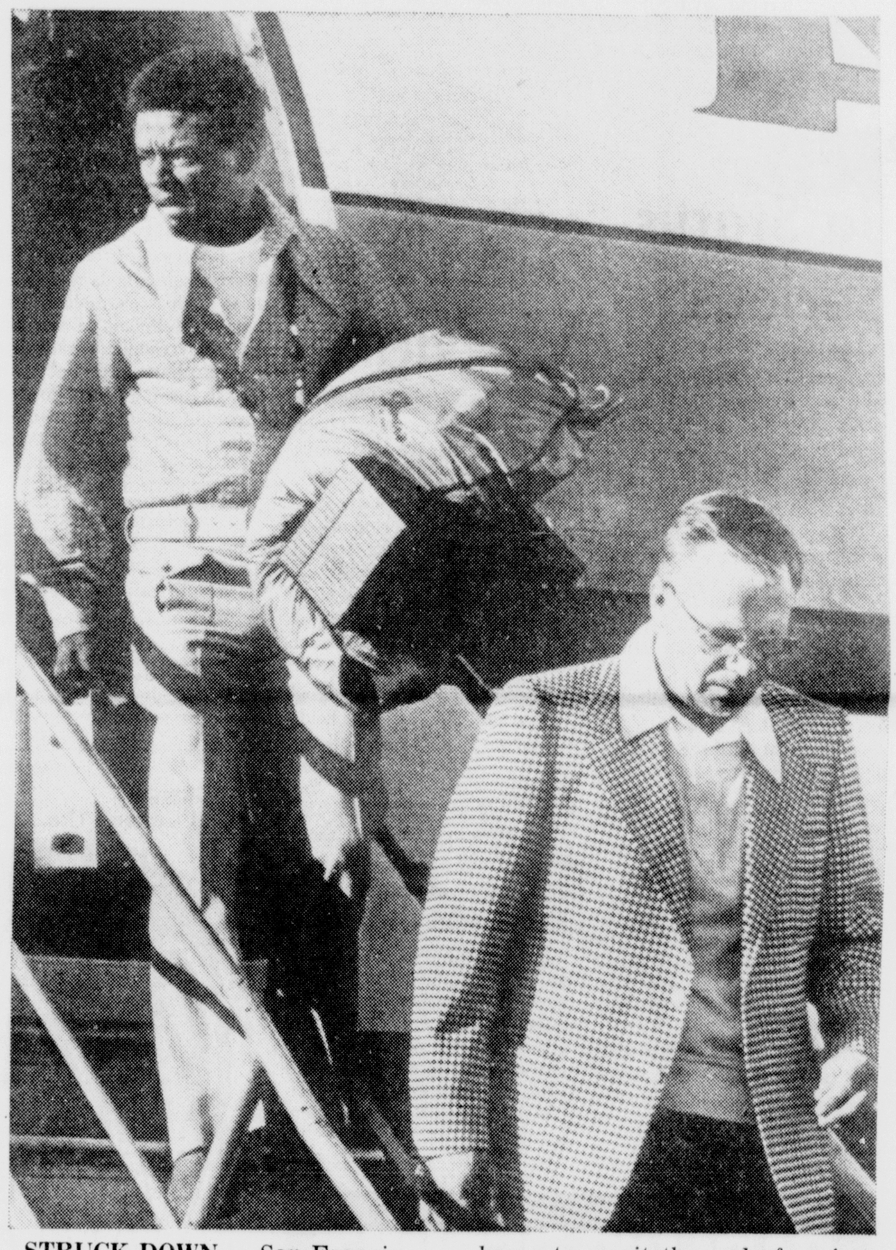
The Giants go to Candlestick Park today to claim personal luggage sent from Yuma.

After that, the park is off limits to them and they can't wear the Giants' uniform in impromptu workouts at local parks, on resident lawns or street corners.

Meanwhile, a controversy developed in the Giants' ranks over the method of voting used by players in last Tuesday's clubhouse vote.

Pitcher Sam McDowell said the raised-hand method was "unparliamentarian."

McDowell said the vote to strike was "right" but felt a secret ballot should have been used.



STRUCK DOWN — San Francisco Giant manager Charlie Fox (right) and infielder Tito Fuentes left the plane Saturday after arriving at San Francisco International Airport on their way home to await the end of major league baseball's first player strike. The team was lodging in the Bay Area homes of Giant players.

Paul Meaney scored seven goals as the Novato Parks and Recreation Department lacrosse team defeated San Rafael Parks and Recreation, 19-4, in a preliminary to the game involving Australia Saturday at City College of San Francisco.

Dennis Davidson scored four goals and an assist for Novato and Alan Little added two goals and two assists. Parker Lee had two goals for San Rafael, while Bruce Bell had a goal and an assist.

The powerful touring Australian national team defeated the Northern California Lacrosse Association All-Stars, 16-3, as Brian Griffin scored five goals.

Suburban Splits Doubleheader With Guanella's

Suburban Auto Repair of San Rafael opened its Golden Gate League softball season by splitting a doubleheader with Guanella's of Santa Rosa Saturday night at Hayward Park in San Francisco.

Suburban won the opener, 4-2, as Bill Baxter hit a solo home run and pitcher Morey Swarm helped his own cause by driving in one run and scoring another. Guanella's came back to take the nightcap, 7-4, despite two runs batted in apiece by Nolan Wilson and Greg Schaefer.

The busy Suburban team will open play in the San Francisco League Thursday night against Connection. Suburban has won the San Francisco league seven straight times.

IN GOLF

Archer Takes Playoff Win

GREENSBORO, N. C. (UPI) —George Archer hardly needed his vaunted putting skills Sunday as a treacherous water hazard knocked off his two main challengers for the Greater Greensboro Open golf title.

Archer already was in the clubhouse with a 12-under-par 272 for 72 holes when Arnold Palmer came upon the par 3, 16th hole at the Sedgefield Country Club course.

Palmer hit his tee shot into a creek and wound up with a triple bogey, finishing a stroke behind Archer and Tommy Aaron, who tied at the end of regulation play.

Archer and Aaron, thrust into a sudden death playoff, passed the first hole at even par and then came up to the 225-yard 16th.

"I hit the green and he hit the water and that's the story," said Archer, a 6-foot-6 former ranch hand from Gilroy.

Archer, winning second tournament of the year and his second Greensboro open, walked away with a $40,000 check that put him second only to Jack Nicklaus in season winnings.

He captured the year's inaugural tour event, the Los Angeles Open, by beating Aaron and Dave Hill in an 18-hole playoff. He won at Greensboro in 1967 with a 267 total.

Archer and Aaron both began the weather-troubled $200,000 event unimpressively, Archer beating par 71 on the 7,032-yard course by only a stroke and Aaron able to do no better than match it. Rain delayed the second round of the 35-year-old tournament by a day, however, and the layoff proved beneficial to both.

Aaron shot a 67 when the second round finally was played Saturday, then proceeded to add two more 67's in Sunday's double round. Archer had a 68 Saturday, but found the 31-degree weather of Easter Sunday morning invigorating, and laid down a five-under 66. In the afternoon round, he had a 58.

Palmer, trailing second round leader Bruce Crampton by three strokes, shot a 68 in the morning round to come within a stroke of Crampton, who had to scramble for a 71.

South African Gary Player, winner of the greater New Orleans open two weeks ago, was bunched with Palmer and Julius Boros at 10-under 203 after the third round.

But Player, with only 34 minutes between rounds for lunch, hurried off the course without signing his scorecard and was disqualified.

"The rule is that once you leave the tent without signing your card, you are disqualified," said Player. "You have a set of rules in life and you must abide by them."

Palmer, his confidence bolstered by contact lenses, moved out front by two strokes in the final round, when Archer and Aaron already were finished, stroking in birdie putts on back-to-back holes.

His lead vanished, though, on the very next hole, the troublesome 16th.

As a national television audience and a gallery estimated at 26,000 watched, Palmer hit his tee shot into the creek, blasted out behind a sand trap, hit into the bunker and ended up two-putting for a triple bogey.

He finished in a four-way tie for third with big J.C. Snead, Puerto Rican Chi Chi Rodriguez and Dave Stockton. All wound up at 11-under 273 for the tournament.

Two strokes behind them were Jacksonville Open winner Tony Jacklin, Boros and Crampton, who ballooned to a 73 on the 18-hole finale.

Lee Trevino, the 1971 player of the year in pro golf, had rounds of 71 and 70 Sunday after teeing off at 6:15 a.m. (EST) in the subfreezing weather, finishing eight strokes back in a group at 280.

"Maybe we can get the Jaycees (who cosponsor the tournament) to find another date for this tournament," he half-jokingly told a shivering gallery.

Bunce Leaning To Canada

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)— Quarterback Don Bunce says there is still a possibility he will sign with a National Football League team, but it is looking more and more as if he will play pro ball in Canada.

The late blooming Stanford quarterback has indicated he may sign a three-year contract with the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League later this week.

Bunce, who played in the shadow of Jim Plunkett, finally emerged his senior year and convincingly directed Stanford to its second straight Rose Bowl win, 13-12 over Michigan and a 8-3 record.

He talked last week with Washington Redskin coach George Allen, and was promised an opportunity to make the team, but Bunce's position there could again be that of wall flower for two or three years.

Unless "there was a break or two I could see myself serving a three or four year apprenticeship," Bunce said of the Redskins offer. "In terms of a long range view, there's a definite opportunity. But that's if I really want a pro career."

Marin 'Cats Top Aptos In Baseball

Jim Lowe came out of the bullpen to stave off a seventh-inning rally by Aptos High School of Santa Cruz Saturday and preserve a 3-2 baseball victory for Marin Catholic.

The triumph gave the Marin 'Cats third place in the Soquel Boosters tournament and improved their over-all record to 11-3.

Lowe entered with two runners on base and one out and induced a pop-up and strikeout. The winning pitcher was Mickey Simmons, who singled home what proved to be the winning run in the third inning.

Steve Sherry led off with a double. Paul Riccardi singled him home, and after a walk, Simmons singled home Riccardi.

Sherry made the all-tournament team.

HODGES DEAD

Baseball Mourns Loss

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—"He was among a breed of ballplayers who, I guess, will pass out one by one. They were the ballplayers the public loved. Everybody loved them."

Thus, Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers, delivered the perfect eulogy to Gil Hodges, former Dodger star and current manager of the New York Mets who died suddenly Sunday of a heart attack just two days before his 48th birthday.

Hodges, who rose to fame as a slugging first baseman with the Brooklyn Dodgers during the early 1950's and gained world-wide notoriety by managing the Mets to the "miracle" world championship in 1969, collapsed and died following a round of golf with Met coaches Eddie Yost, Joe Pignatano and Rube Walker.

The Mets' manager was rushed to Good Samaritan Hospital where Dr. James Smith, a local obstetrician inserted a tube in his throat and a needle in his heart in an effort to save his life. However, a cardiogram showed a complete arrest of the heart and an examination disclosed that the pupils of his eyes were dilated. He was pronounced dead at 5:45 p.m., 45 minutes after he had fallen.

GIL HODGES
Dead at 47

His body was to be flown back to New York today with funeral services scheduled for Wednesday or Thursday. He is survived by his wife, Joan; three daughters, Irene, Cynthia and Barbara; and a son, Gil Jr., who is a minor league player in the Mets' farm system.

Hodges' tragic death came just one day after the major league players took an angry stand against their owners by going out on strike. The strike had forced all teams to shut down their spring training camps and Hodges had stopped off in West Palm Beach for a round of golf before heading for his home in New York.

Hodges, a big, strong man of 6-feet-2 who during hs playing days weighed 210 pounds, had shaken off a heart attack that hospitalized him four years ago. In September of 1968, Hodges had a heart attack during a game at Atlanta and spent most of the winter in the hospital convalescing. Over the last four years he had been in good physical health.

The entire baseball world expressed great shock over Hodges' death, and his former teammates and managers all agreed that the game had lost one of its nicest people.

"We roomed together for many years and I don't think there was a finer gentleman than Gil," said Pee Wee Reese, a teammate of Hodges' during his Brooklyn days.

"He was an unusually fine

China Ping Pong Team May Stop In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Chinese table tennis team, complete with three-time world champion Chuang Tse-tung, may include San Francisco in its tour of the United States.

The ping pong team, currently on a tour of Canada, calls on the U.S. beginning April 10 in Detroit.

But a spokesman for a welcoming committee made up of 148 local organizations, said further correspondence with the Chinese indicates they will also make a stop in Chinatown for a series of matches with Northern California's finest table tennis players.

Terra Linda Lad Defies Handicap

The next time you hear about a big-league ballplayer missing a game because he's tired or has a minor injury, consider Tracy Caldwell.

Tracy is nine years old. He plays baseball in Terra Linda. He has cerebral palsy.

"We were told at birth he wouldn't be able to walk," said his father, Edwin T. "He has exceeded our wildest imaginations and dreams."

Although still wearing braces on both legs, Tracy pitches and plays centerfield for the Wolves team in the Pee Wee League of the Terra Linda Athletic Association. He is not a star, but he is there, and his father gives a lot of the credit to Tracy's older brother, Michael.

"He has kind of been an inspiration to Tracy," said the elder Caldwell. He plays catch with him all the time and helps him out." Michael, 12, has been playing ball for three years and is now in a junior league in Terra Linda.

A desire to emulate Michael was the reason Tracy decided three months to try out for the team, said the father. "At first we had some doubts," he said. "We didn't want to see Tracy get hurt. But we resolved any doubts we had. We went along with him and now we're happy we did."

A couple of rules changes have been implemented to help Tracy, the most important being a substitute runner who takes off from home plate after Tracy hits the ball. In the field, Tracy is on his own. "The other two outfielders kind of come over and give him an assist," said his father.

Far from resenting Tracy, the team has welcomed him. "The other kids are just fantastic. They are absolutely encouraging to him."

The league has been cooperative, too. "The attitude of Dennis Kim (league commissioner) and Jean La Coste (president of the board of directors of the TLAA) was fantastic," said Caldwell. "They were perfectly willing to make the rules changes. He thought it was great that while some other kids were reluctant to come out, Tracy would make this effort."

Playing baseball is good therapy, Caldwell feels, "since it encourages Tracy to walk and run. He's a little weak yet, and when he's pitching he has a balance problem and can't get his body behind the ball. He throws strictly with his wrist."

Although he never played before, Tracy is a zealous fan. "It's unreal," said his father. "He cherishes baseball cards like prize possessions from outer space. He's a Giants fan, and we take him to at least three or four games a year."

After having overcome a handicap like he has, however, Tracy may start having a few fans of his own.

ance for the losers, while holding Jabbar, the NBA's leading scorer, to 23—11 below his average.

But a balanced scoring attack fronted by the Bucks spelled the difference. Bob Dandridge had 23 and guard's Lucius Allen and Oscar Robertson netted 21 and 20 respectively to keep the Milwaukee point machine oiled throughout the night.

"I've said all along that holding Jabbar in check isn't all the answer," Attles said. "Neither can we win by leaving the scoring up to Thurmond. The others have to get in their shots too or we can't do it."

Ex-Dodger Great Hodges Dies After Heart Attack

person who had the mark of leadership, sincerity and integrity," said O'Malley. "Everyone who knew him respected him. Baseball has lost one of its finest persons."

Hodges' death also came less than a week after another former Dodger teammate, Roy Campanella, suffered an embolism. Campanella is still in serious condition in a Valhalla, N.Y., hospital with a blood clot on the lung.

During his playing days there was probably no one who was loved by the fans as much as Hodges. A powerful hitter and a gifted fielder, he belted 370 career homers during his 17 big league seasons from 1947-63 and was the all-star first baseman in six of those seasons. He helped the Dodgers to seven pennants and two world championships during his 15 years with them, but the thing that endeared him most to Dodger fans was his easy-going manner and the fact that he made his home in Brooklyn while other members of the team rushed to the suburbs.

When the Dodgers moved to Los Angeles in 1958, Hodges went along and was instrumental in their world hampionship season of 1959. The Dodgers, however, placed the aging slugger in the expansion draft in 1961 and the Mets, looking to spice their roster with a few "names," grabbed him. Hodges spent the last two years of his career with the Mets but was traded to Washington for Jimmy Piersall on May 22, 1963.

The Senators immediately named him manager to replace Mickey Vernon, and in his five seasons with the Senators he gained respect as one of baseball's most astute managers. The Senators improved in each of Hodges' five seasons there, but he saw an opportunity to return to New York after the 1967 season and the Mets asked and received permission from Washington to negotiate with him.

The Mets, who had been a perennial cellar-dweller prior to Hodges' arrival on the scene, finished ninth in 1968 but astrounded the baseball world the following year by winning the world championship. The amazing victory was hailed by Time magazine as "a fable for our time."

Hodges established a National League record of 14 grand slam home runs during his career and he equalled the all-time major league record of four home runs in a game on Aug. 31, 1950.

Cleveland Peddles Ford For 2 Texans

CLEVELAND (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians today traded outfielder Ted Ford to the Texas Rangers for outfielders Tom McCraw and Roy Foster.

Foster was traded to the Rangers by the Indians just four months ago.

McCraw, 32, broke into the majors in 1963 with the Chicago White Sox and was traded to the Washington Senators on March 29, 1971. The Senators moved to Arlington, Tex. after the 1971 season and have been re-named.

McCraw appeared in 122 games for Washington last year, hitting .213.

Foster, 26, who has been the property of six major league teams, was named rookie of the year by The Sporting News in 1970 when he hit .268 with 23 home runs. Last year he hit .245 with 18 home runs and 45 runs batted in for the Tribe.

Ford, 24, shuttled between Cleveland and the Class AAA Wichita Aeros last season. In 74 games with the Indians he batted .194, but hit .329 for Wichita.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

A 16-pound ball isn't meant for everybody. While it is true that some standout women bowlers use a ball weighing the maximum of 16 pounds, not every male should go to that weight. For one reason or another, a 14- or 15-pound ball might suit you better, and if so, don't hesitate to switch to it. Incidentally, some of the male pros use a ball weighing a pound or more under the legal limit.

Pat McNulty, 16, of San Rafael, won the 30-lap main event Saturday night in the Baylands Quarter Midget Racing Association auto race in Sunnyvale.

Seattle To Seek New Coach

SEATTLE (UPI) —The Seattle SuperSonics today were in the market for a new coach as former player-coach Lenny Wilkens, 34, announced he wants to specialize.

Wilkens said Sunday he has decided to give up the coaching job and continue as a player with the National Basketball Association Sonics.

"I feel that I can continue to make a valuable contribution to the Seattle SuperSonics as a player next season and in the future," he said. "And when the time comes for me to retire as a player, I hope to resume my coaching career."

Sonics president Sam Schulman had mixed emotions regarding Wilkens' decision. But he said he has asked Wilkens to assist him and general manager Bob Houbregs in the search for a new coach.

Wilkens served as player-coach for three years at Seattle. The team had its finest year in the NBA this past season, dropping out of playoff contention only at the end after several key men were lost through injuries.

Offaly scored one goal and 15 points in the final game to defeat the All-Stars who scored one goal and 11 points. In the hurling match, the All-Stars defeated Tipperary 32-22.

Lakers Need 9 More Wins

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Los Angeles Lakers, who set a regular season record of 33 straight victories, need only nine more wins before laying claim to the National Basketball Association playoff championship.

Los Angeles was off to a good start in quest of its goal after a 108-101 triumph Sunday over the Chicago Bulls that gave the Lakers a 3-0 lead in the Western Conference semifinal series.

The Lakers received a 31-point effort from Jerry West and a 23-point performance from backcourt mate Gail Goodrich in the nationally televised game.

In other playoff action, Boston took a 2-1 lead over Atlanta with a 136-113 victory and New York squared its series with Baltimore at 1-1 on a 110-88 decision. Idle Milwaukee leads Golden State 2-1 in the other series.

"We're not beaten yet," said Chicago coach Dick Motta. "I'm not ashamed of the way we've played."

Los Angeles coach Bill Sharman was magnanimous in his praise of the Bulls, calling the Chicago game, "a 110 per cent effort."

Chicago rallied to tie the game at 58 in the third period and kept within three points of Los Angeles for most of the fourth period. But each time the Bulls came close again, West would connect on a long jumper to take the pressure off Los Angeles.

Chicago's usually productive forward starters continued to be hampered by leg injuries. Bob Love scored 15 points and Chet Walker, who had the NBA season high of 56 points, netted only four. Norm Van Lier led the Bulls with 22 points.

John Havlicek and Jo Jo White combined for 60 points against Atlanta as the Celtics gained the series lead over the Hawks.

Havlicek sparked a 41-point Boston second period with 13 of his 31 points. White added 29.

Atlanta coach Richie Guerin credited the Boston bench's contribution during the second quarter drive with turning the tide for the Celtics.

"They ran away with (center Dave) Cowens on the bench," Guerin said. Henry Finkel, subbing for the Celtic's starting pivotman, scored four baskets and grabbed six rebounds during the Boston bombardment.

"We got the rebounds and turned them into baskets," Havlicek commented.

Pete Maravich led Atlanta with 37 points and Walt Ballamy added 21. Lou Hudson, who averaged 35 points for the first two games, was held to 19.

New York used the cheering of 19,588 fans for Earl Monroe to its best psychological advantage as the Knicks routed Baltimore. Monroe, an ex-Bullet star, was resoundingly booed in Baltimore Friday night and coach Red Holzman figured he would start "The Pearl" to get a crowd reaction.

The Knicks responded as Walt Frazier scored 30 points and Dave DeBusschere netted 29. They also combined for 25 rebounds, only 12 less than the entire Baltimore output.

Archie Clark, whose deft penetration of the New York middle lane in the opener led to a 38-point performance, was held to 18 by a steady Knick defense.

"We like to run," explained Baltimore Coach Gene Shue, "but our fast break was nonexistent against a switching defense."

DeBusschere said the Knick board control cut down Baltimore's chances for the long outlet pass.

All series resume Tuesday night, with New York at Baltimore, Boston at Atlanta, Los Angeles at Chicago and Milwaukee at Golden State.

Sabich Wins Ski Race In Colorado

VAIL, Colo. (UPI)—Spider Sabich, Kyburz, Calif., closed out the final weekend of pro racing with $50,650 to become the top money winner on the 1971-72 Benson ahd Hedges 100 Grand Prix racing tour.

The 27-year-old skier ended on a downhill note, however, jisqualifying in the giant slalom and slalom. Lasse Hamre of Norway won both the slalom and the Lange Cup Sunday to end the 1971-72 pro ski season.

But Sabich, last year's Lange Cup and top money winner, had already wrapped up top money honors for the current season.

2 Marin Cyclists Win Time Trials

In the 30-mile senior two-man team trials, Marin's Frank Powell and Fritz Liedel finished second.

Nets Beat Kentucky; Floridians Thrashed

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

The New York Nets conducted a course in basketball technique Saturday night with the American Basketball Association's best team, the Kentucky Colonels, acting as the reluctant pupil.

The Nets, playing what coach Lou Carnesecca called "their greatest game in history," upset the powerful Colonels, 122-108, to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-seven Eastern Division first round playoff series.

In other playoff action Saturday, Virginia defeated the Floridians, 125-100, to take a 2-0 lead in their Eastern Division series at one game apiece; and Utah topped Dallas, 106-96, to take a 1-0 lead in their Western Division series.

Utah and Dallas meet again tonight at Salt Lake City in the only game.

The Colonels, who set an ABA record with 68 victories this season, were outplayed in every facet of the game by a hustling Nets' team, which was playing without star guard Bill Melchionni.

The Nets outrebounded their taller opponents, 50-41; hit on 57.3 per cent of their field goal attempts, connected on 96.6 per cent of their free throws and lost the ball on only nine occasions.

"If a young coach was here this evening this was a clinic," said Carnesecca. "It was the best game by far in the team's five-year history. We got movement, hit the open man and we hit our shots. Everything perfect."

Rick Barry and John Roche were the individual stars for the Nets, who meet the Colonels in game No. 2 Tuesday night at Louisville. Barry scored a club playoff record 50 points while Roche, taking over Melchionni's leadership duties, tallied 31 points and added eight assists.

"Barry sure played differently than in our previous games with the Nets this season," said Colonels' coach Joe Mullaney. "He wasn't really aggressive offensively during our 11-game series. He never seemed to go after the ball. Tonight was a different story."

Adrian Smith, a 10-year veteran of the rival National Basketball Association, was the hero for Virginia in its victory over the Floridians. Smith came off the bench to score 24 points, 15 of them in the first half when the Squires built a 59-44 lead. The two teams meet in game No. 3 at Miami on Tuesday night.

San Jose Net Upset: Bleckinger Over Reed

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Dan Bleckinger upset third-seeded Whitney Reed to highlight Sunday action at the San Jose State All-Comers Tennis Tournament.

Bleckinger defeated Reed in the fifth round, 7-6, 1-6, 6-3. Bleckinger, although not seeded, is the tourney's defending champion. He returned recently from a European tour. Winner of the tournament will be established Sunday.

Central Scores 58

MOUNT PLEASANT, Mich. (UPI) — Central Michigan University's highest point output in the 1970 football season was 58 points against Eastern Illinois in a game which Central won 58-34 — the most points ever scored by two teams in a CMU football game.

Catlett Named Cage Coach

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Gale Catlett, 31, assistant basket ball coach at the University of Kentucky, will become the head basketball coach at the University of Cincinnati, it was learned today.

Cincinnati Athletic Director George Smith called a news conference this morning to announce the appointment of Catlett, who succeeds Tay Baker.

Catlett, a native of Hedgesville, W. Va., attended West Virginia University and cocaptained the Mountaineer basketball team his senior year in 1963.

He was an assistant coach at Richmond for three years and then at Davidson for one year, after four years as freshman coach at Kansas, Catlett came to Kentucky last year.

He and Joe Hall assisted head Kentucky head coach Adolph Rupp. Hall last week was named to succeed Rupp.

Baker, who held the head coaching job at Cincinnati for seven seasons, announced his resignation last Feb. Baker's teams compiled a 125-60 record. He will remain at the school as a full-time physical education instructor.

Marin 'Cats Win

Bob Yetter drove in the winning run Saturday as the Marin Catholic High School freshman baseball team rallied in the seventh inning to defeat Capuchino of San Bruno, 6-5, and win the Westborough Park Invitational baseball tournament in South San Francisco.

NOT THE PLACE TO PLAY

Six-year-old Michell Campbell of Wichita, Kan., found out the hard way that the family's chimney is no place to play hide-and-seek. She walked out on the roof Saturday away from her brothers, then tumbled 22 feet before lodging between floors. Rescue squad firemen pulled her to safety — crying, but unhurt.

100,000 Hear Pope's Message At Basilica

VATICAN CITY (UPI)— Before him, shoulder to shoulder, more than 100,000 pilgrims and tourists massed in brilliant sunshine on the cobblestones of St. Peter's Square to hear the message of Easter.

But the warm greetings of Pope Paul VI extended far beyond the 17th Century Baroque landmark from where he stood clad in his white cassock on the balcony of St. Peter's Basilica.

"Our greeting of peace goes even further," he said. "It wishes to reach where there is still the conflict of war, hatred, bloodshed, destruction and ever more numerous and murderous weaponry ..."

The Pope's message and Easter greetings in 17 languages—including Chinese, Vietnamese and Ukrainian—came after he celebrated Mass in the sunshine on the steps of the basilica.

Vatican Radio estimated the crowd at 120,000 and the Italian news agency ANSA put it at 200,000, one of the biggest assemblies in St. Peter's Square in years.

"Will our greeting of peace reach our churches of silence on this feast of the risen Christ?" the Pope asked.

He said there were many places around the world where there exist-"or rather ... languish"—faithful communities or individuals denied the right to practice their religion openly.

The Pope did not cite any locations, but reports at the Vatican indicate persecutions and religious curbs in nations ranging from Zaire and Guinea in Africa to the Lithuanian and Ukrainian Republics of the Soviet Union.

The situation of the Catholic church in China has been unknown for years.

The 74-year-old spiritual leader of 633 million Catholics said some persons might think his Easter wish is unchanging.

"Yes," he said, "it is always the same ...because in us and in the world the need for peace is always the same."

Answered Ad Causes Arrests

CHICAGO (UPI)—Three alleged motorcycle thieves were arrested Sunday night when they answered a local newspaper ad seeking the return of a stolen motorcycle.

Police said Harmon Tyllas, 22, reported his motorcycle stolen from in front of his North Side home March 17. He then placed an ad in a local newspaper, the Chicago Sun-Times, concerning the theft.

Tyllas received a call from a person who offered to resell him the stolen motorcycle for $150, police said.

Police said they staked out the place where Tyllas was to make the exchange and arrested the three alleged thieves, two men and a woman.

Special Session

The Tamalpais Community Services District board will meet in special session tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the district office to hear a status report on land acquisition for future parks.

Fleeing Robbery Suspect Shot

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A suspected robber was shot and killed by a plainclothes police officer when he pulled a gun after allegedly committing a $1.15 holdup. The gun later was found to be unloaded.

Police said the unidentified suspect approached two groups of hitchhikers and demanded money. One hitchhiker thought it was an April Fool's joke until the gunman pushed him against a wall and slapped him on the mouth with the gun, according to police.

Plainclothes officer Ernest Maggio said he ordered the fleeing youth to halt three times, then fired once when the youth turned around holding the gun. Maggio's shot hit the youth in the chest.

The youth was identified, hours after his death, as Otis S. Scarborough, 17, of San Francisco.

Rattlesnakes Are Waking Up Early

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—A 16-year-old boy, the third person in a week in the Los Angeles area to be bitten by rattlesnakes brought out of their holes by unseasonal weather, was in satisfactory condition today.

John Sargent was bitten on the left hand by a three-foot rattler in the garden of his home Saturday. A police helicopter rushed antivenom from a Saugus, Calif., hospital to treat him at Granada Hills Community Hospital, where he was listed at one point as in critical condition.

Berlin Visits: The Guards Are Pleasant

BERLIN (UPI)—East German border guards, usually coldly polite at best, have controlled the flood of West Berliners pouring through nine crossing points in the wall efficiently and at times courteously.

The sight or the photographs of mothers sobbing in the arms of their children, of grandparents greeting their grandchildren for the first time, of brothers and sisters embracing in the shadows of a wall dividing a city have touched nearly all.

Several hundred thousand West Berliners lived Easter Sunday with their friends and relatives in East Berlin for the first time in six years. For those who went beyond—to Dresden, Weimar, Potsdam and other cities inside East Germany—it was their first Easter reunion in 20 years.

"This is what the policy of lessening tension means for Berlin," West Berlin Mayor Klaus Schuetz said. "It is what can be a daily occurrence if the Big Four ambassadors' agreement on Berlin goes into force."

The number of West German visitors to the East for the March 29 to April 5 wall opening was expected to total at least 500,000.

The ambassadors agreement permits West Germans to visit the East for 30 days a year. The Soviet Union, however, has said it will sign the agreement only if the West German nonaggression pacts with Poland and Moscow are ratified by the West German parliament, where they face stiff opposition.

Dr. Guenter Struve, personal aide of Schuetz, a member of the ruling Social Democrats, said, "The fate of Berlin will be decided in Bonn and the decision will be taken only against the bitter opposition of the Christian Democrats."

Ruediger von Wechmar, a spokesman for the Social Democratic-Free Democratic coalition in Bonn, said "The Easter pass agreement is proof of the effectiveness of the East policy of Chancellor Willy Brandt. It shows that the Berlin agreement and its positive effects are not possible without the Eastern treaties."

The East German News service ADN said nuherous West Berliners in the East for Easter visits demanded swift ratification of the nonaggression treaties so they could continue to visit their relations across the wall.
